Tour Altered to Go to Dern Burial.

The story of the death of Secretary of War Dern appears on page 6.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—At the end of a two and one-half hour motor trip on dusty roads through drouth areas in this vicinity, President Roosevelt this evening made a rear platform speech in which he told a crowd of farmers that the Democratic administration pledged the entire resources of the nation to help the farmers "win out" in their struggle against nature.

Earlier in the day the President announced that he would interrupt his tour to speed to Salt Lake City and attend the burial services there next Tuesday afternoon of Secretary of War George H. Dern, who died this morning in Washington, D. C.

Changes Route Sunday.

Mr. Roosevelt will proceed with his present schedule until Sunday, when he will arrive at Rapid City, S. D. He will leave that city late Sunday and arrive in Utah Tuesday morning. An effort will be made to time the arrival of the presidential special so that it will follow into Salt Lake City the train bearing Secretary Dern's body.

After attending the funeral services in the afternoon, the President will entrain again eastward, and tentative plans call for his arrival in Iowa Thursday morning, Sept. 3. The main conference of the trip, that with Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas and four other governors, at Des Moines, probably will be held Thursday night, two days later than originally scheduled.

Other parts of the President's tour may be curtailed. He wishes to be back in Washington by Sept. 7 or 8. He has a speaking engagement in Charlotte, N. C., on Sept. 10.

Chats as Cameras Click.

His first glimpse of the seared fields afforded Mr. Roosevelt an opportunity to stop informally along the roadside on several occasions to chat with overalled farmers now working on WPA projects.

He also left the main road on two occasions to lead the long parade of automobiles down narrow dirt roads to farmhouses where he queried the inhabitants about conditions while the photographers took pictures.

"Don't worry; we're not going to abandon this country," shouted the President to a little group which gathered on one of these occasions.

In his speech at the end of this expedition the President promised immediate cash relief through loans and jobs to the farmers and assured them that they would be "carried through" the winter and assisted in the planting of new crops in the spring.

Visions Drouth Program.

But in addition, the President declared, federal, state and local agencies must continue to reduce the possibility of future drouths by a long range program of "coöperating with nature instead of bucking it."

"There are reports back east that you people are showing despondency, lack of hope and experiencing a general feeling of gloom," the President said. "I had a hunch and I was right—that you people still had your chins out.

"You and your children expect to remain on your land. Neither you nor I want to see this part of the country depopulated. We want to see it attain greater prosperity. I have gotten a picture here which reassures me. I'm quite sure you're not licked."

Drouth Report Submitted.

Members of the great plains drouth committee, which has just completed a 2,000 mile survey of drouth areas, presented to Mr. Roosevelt a report on long range planning to restore the parched lands to usefulness. Chairman Morris L. Cooke said that a permanent cure would take 25 years, but the report in general was optimistic in tone.

With Rexford Guy Tugwell, head of the resettlement administration, helping to draft much of the report, the committee recommended the establishment of a board, "representative of pertinent federal and state

GRIEF OVER WAR IN SPAIN BLAMED FOR CONDITION

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. was so weakened tonight from worry over Spanish bloodshed that prelates feared he soon might be unable to walk.

Illness of the holy father, who was 79 years old May 31, was disclosed after preparations were made for an expiatory service in St. Peter's for the death of priests and nuns and the destruction of churches in Spain.

It was planned for the pope to attend the services assisted by all the cardinals now resident in Rome.

Planned to Receive Refugees.

Plans also were made for the pope to receive Spanish churchmen who fled to Italy for safety. At that time he was to protest against the sacrileges of civil war.

Prelates and physicians have sought to persuade him to conserve his strength, but yesterday a three-hour conversation with Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, at Castel Gondolfo concerning the Spanish situation left the pontiff little strength to continue other duties.

The pope's ailment was said by a high prelate to be endocarditis, an inflammation of the heart lining. A medical examination in June, it was said, reached "satisfactory conclusions" concerning his condition.

Sought to Gather Strength.

The pope rested at his summer home, however, and sought to gather strength for the expiatory service, which will be similar to one about three years ago protesting against a Russian anti-religious wave. It will be broadcast over the Vatican radio station, and Catholics of all the world have been asked to join the ceremony.

Prelates of the holy see said the pope had spent himself unsparingly in his fight against communism and the horrors of the Spanish civil war seemed to sap his strength even more. His optimism of a few months ago, they said, is shading into pessimism as he contemplates what he fears is a discouraging situation in Europe.

The pontiff's condition was not regarded as immediately alarming. Well informed sources said that, although enfeebled, he might be able to head the church for years. It was likely, they believed nevertheless, he soon would be unable to walk about and would have to be carried from place to place.

Pope Works Many Hours.

Prelates said he has become accustomed to working many hours—sometimes until long past midnight.

He rises regularly at 6 a. m., however, and dedicates himself to his audiences, studies, reports and correspondence. Because of these demands he has acquired the habit of napping during his daily automobile ride and sometimes sleeps two hours.

Vatican authorities said the pope seems refreshed on some days and on others can speak only with difficulty.

Pope Pius, famed for his economic, moral and political announcements of recent years, has been called the "pope of the conciliation" because he signed the Lateran accord with Premier Benito Mussolini making the "prisoner of the Vatican" free for the first time since the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 when Italian troops entered Rome, considered the capital of Christianity, and proclaimed it the capital of Italy. Under the Lateran treaty, signed in 1929, the present pope became sovereign of the new state, Vatican City.

COUPLE SEIZED IN STABBING OF HOLDUP VICTIM

Miss Elaine Fryc, alias Cortez, 22 years old, 803 North La Salle street, and Jerry Burisina, 23, a Filipino with whom she lives, were held by the police yesterday after the woman admitted that she lured a robbery victim into ambush. The victim, Olaf Welesby, 45 years old, 816 North Dearborn street, a house painter, was reported in serious condition in the county hospital with 17 stab wounds from an ice pick.

The Fryc woman told the Chicago avenue police that she met Welesby in a tavern and had several drinks with him. Two strangers, she said, offered her money for a new dress if she would lead her companion to a place where he could be robbed. She said that she induced Welesby to enter an alley at 813 North La Salle street, near the police station, where the men stabbed Welesby, took $82 from him, and fled. Miss Fryc reported the stabbing to the police. Burisina was seized later but denied knowledge of the conspiracy.

HERB IS OUT $100 AND MABEL HAS HIS GUN BESIDES

Mrs. Mabel Reynolds, 21 years old, 431 Sullivan street, drew a revolver from her purse yesterday as she stood before Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Chicago avenue court. "And that," she declared, "is what my husband said he was going to use to get a divorce."

Assistant State's Attorney John M. Long seized the pistol and found it was not loaded. Mrs. Reynolds went on to say her father took the pistol from her husband after he had threatened her, and that now she is living with her parents. Judge McCarthy then fined the husband, Herbert, 21 years old, 1348 Cleveland avenue, $100 for disorderly conduct.

12,000 ETHIOPIANS ROUTED IN FIGHT FOR ADDIS ABABA

ROME, Aug. 28 [Friday].—An official announcement early today said 12,000 Ethiopians attacked Addis Ababa yesterday, but were repulsed with losses on both sides. The Ethiopian dead, the statement said, numbered 200, while 15 Italian native soldiers were killed and 40 were wounded.

The Ethiopians—termed "bandits" in the report from the Addis Ababa Italian administration—were said to have advanced on the city to the south of the airfield.

Italian troops, both native and white, met them with the support of artillery and forced back the attackers, the announcement asserted.

Court Martial Naval Aviator on Lost Papers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Lieut. William A. Moffett Jr., 26, naval aviator and son of the late Rear Admiral William Moffett, was court martialed and convicted at a secret hearing last May, it was disclosed today when the decision was approved by Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary of the navy.

Moffett was found guilty of carelessness in the loss of a confidential service publication. Although he was restored to duty he was sentenced to a loss of fifty numbers, which means, naval officers said, that he was demoted to a rank below fifty officers formerly his junior.

On Duty at Air Station.

The court martialed officer, whose father was chief of the bureau of aeronautics when he went to his death April 4, 1933, in the crash of the dirigible Akron, is on duty at the naval air station here.

Admiral Standley's announcement did not specify what publication had been lost and Moffett previously had declined to make a statement on the ground that the whole matter was confidential.

It was learned from other sources, however, that the officer drew a document from navy files to aid him in preparing for examinations for promotion. Navy officers said it was customary for officers to be given permission to use confidential files when studying for examinations.

Missing from Car.

It was said the documents Moffett obtained included confidential publications used in signal work. The missing papers were said to have been placed in Moffett's automobile, from which they disappeared in some manner not known either to authorities or to Moffett.

The court martial held here last spring was conducted with great secrecy. It is customary for several months to elapse before conclusion of the hearing and publication of the board's findings.

Father Freed from Jail to Give Blood to Son

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Delmar Stillman of Decatur, who was sent to jail when he admitted he became a burglar to buy food for his six children, today was released from his sentence so he could be with and give blood to his three months old son to save the baby's life. The boy, Paul, is in serious condition in a hospital here.

HITLER PICTURE CUT FROM FILM; NAZIS ANGERED

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—Viennese Nazis were greatly disappointed last night when Austria cut the film of the Berlin Olympic games in half by eliminating the parts showing Reichsfuehrer Hitler and other Nazi notables. The reason given was that these parts evoked noisy Nazi demonstrations at previous showings.

To compensate the audiences for deletion of pictures of Hitler, the theaters showed a film of German cathedrals. This so angered the Nazis that they demonstrated and demanded their money back. The police had to intervene.

Young members of the Austrian patriotic front in the meantime filled the movie theaters. The money was not returned to the Nazis, who were invited to view a film praising the merits of the Roman Catholics in Austria. They declined and left, demonstrating against the government and the Catholic church.

LEGION TOSSES WHITE FEATHER MAN FROM HALL

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A whooping uninvited guest, clad in shorts, red paint, and an Indian headdress, turned the state American Legion convention banquet into a bedlam here tonight, after he had scattered nearly two bushels of fresh chicken feathers over a score or more of the diners.

Stunned Legionnaires took it in good fun at first, thinking it a practical joke. Then they noted that most of the feathers were white. A flying squadron, formed hastily, knocked the invader down with a chair, and carried him bodily from the banquet hall.

At the central police station he gave his name as Woody Hockaday, of Wichita, Kas., and said he was a peace propagandist. Hockaday told officers he was the "feather man" who startled Washington recently with a similar performance in the war department offices.

CHURCH VOTES TO OUST USERS OF PROFANITY

Leaksville, N. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Members of the King Memorial Baptist church here, adopting a "New Testament standard of church membership" prepared by the pastor, the Rev. Erskine X. Heatherly, have voted to expel any member who:

Uses profanity.
Drinks intoxicants.
Swims in mixed company.
Gambles.
Stays away from church for six months without a reasonably good excuse.

O'Brien Poses as a Financial Nudist in Court

BY MARCIA WINN.

Lawrence C. O'Brien, whose many former titles and alliances have won him the title of Ex-O'Brien, called up all his talent yesterday to prove himself a pauper. The Ex-O'Brien is, among other things, ex-state representative, ex-czar of Democratic politics on the near north side, ex-inmate of Leavenworth penitentiary. Had his story been as pathetic as he intended it to be, even hardened court attachés would have burst into tears ere he finished.

Mr. O'Brien is a belligerent defendant in the separate maintenance suit of his wife, Mrs. Irene Loftus O'Brien, and as such spent an uncomfortable two hours in the chambers of Master in Chancery Henry L. Burman. Master Burman is taking testimony in the case for Judge Rudolph F. Desort of Superior court.

When O'Brien strode out at 1 p. m. he was figuratively a nudist, having stripped himself verbally of every possession and even thrown himself $25,050 into debt to avoid payment of the $500 a month sought by his wife.

The Ex O'Brien did not appear the poverty stricken figure he testified he is. Immaculately dressed in a pale gray suit which was fitted snugly to his corpulent figure, with a pale blue shirt and figured blue tie, he was a picture of splendor. His ruddy jowls were plump and well shaven, and his coxcomb of silver hair was well burnished.

Mrs. O'Brien, smartly dressed in a brown and white print, listened intently while her husband, whom she left a month ago, spoke movingly of his "pitiful state," but shook her head violently when he told of his present weekly "salary" of $40.

"He's lying like a trooper, your honor," she told Master Burman as the hearing came to an indecisive end.

The Editorial "We."

O'Brien, however, had no eyes for her. He kept his head turned away from the table as, folding and unfolding his flabby hands, he testified in short, snarling monosyllables and the editorial "we." Occasionally he cast an uneasy glance toward three agents from the federal bureau of internal revenue as they, too, listened intently to his tale of sorrow.

The Hon. O'Brien's last experience with revenue agents was decidedly unpleasant. He spent 18 months in Leavenworth for a $268,000 evasion of income taxes as a result of their efforts.

Mrs. O'Brien has testified that O'Brien owned six taverns, a trucking company, and a beer company. Questioned by his attorney, Robert M. Woodward, O'Brien said the taverns—the Kentucky club, Heine Kabibbler's, the Glad House, Shanghai, Sherry's, and Murphy's—all were owned by the Gold Coast

CROWDS IN TEN ILLINOIS CITIES CHEER LANDON

Economy and a Free Congress Theme.

BULLETIN.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 28 (Friday).—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon returned to Topeka at 12:50 a. m. (central standard time) today from his first eastern campaign trip as the Republican presidential nominee.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Pictures on Back Page.)

On Board Landon Special Train, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon brought his campaign for economy and solvency in government finances, and for a congress that will not abdicate its function of debate, into ten Illinois cities today.

Large crowds met the Republican nominee wherever he appeared in Illinois, despite the rain of the early morning. It is estimated that he greeted 50,000 persons on his route from Chicago to St. Louis.

From St. Louis the Landon special traveled through Missouri. Crowds increased as the governor neared home. At Warrensburg, Mo., 10,000 persons were at the station, and at Kansas City the great concourse of the Union station was filled with a cheering crowd. Even the balconies were filled.

"Welcome home, neighbor," said the banners of welcome.

The streets around the station were jammed for two blocks. Gov. Landon got on top of the information desk to wave at the people and thank them for coming to see him at 11 o'clock at night.

Springfield High Point.

Springfield was the high point in the Illinois tour. Here the governor was received by thousands at the Alton station, and more thousands saw and cheered him on his way to and from the Lincoln tomb, where he placed a wreath at the grave of the Prairie state lawyer who became the Great Emancipator and a symbol of democratic hope throughout the world. Wayland Brooks, candidate for governor, preceded him on the platform here.

"I came here today," said Mr. Landon at Springfield, "to give homage of a humble heart and to receive the inspiration that comes to every pilgrim to Springfield.

"Of the Father of His Country the savior of the Union said these words:

"'To add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of Washington is impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe pronounce his name, and in its naked deathless splendor I leave it shining on.'

Same Applied to Lincoln.

"In solemn awe let us pronounce the name of Lincoln, and 'in its naked deathless splendor leave it shining on.'"

Landon entered alone into the tomb, after it had been cleared of the visitors who happened to be there upon his arrival shortly after noon. He remained for several minutes, in the silence of that marble hall where the furled battle flags of all the states are ranged around the tomb. The inscription on his wreath was:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

The governor rode in an open car to Oakridge cemetery with Major John W. Kapp and was cheered by thousands who lined the streets near the cemetery and the downtown district. At the station he was hidden in the crowd that pressed around the train to see him.

Reiterates Buffalo Principles.

South of Springfield the governor was met by crowds at Virden, Carlinville, Alton and Granite City. He arrived at St. Louis at 4:05. In Missouri a delegation of state political leaders traveled with him during the early part of the evening. He made a brief appearance at Washington, Jefferson City, Sedalia and Warrensburg.

Party Parleys All Day.

The Landon train during the day was the scene of many political conferences. From Chicago all the way to East St. Louis there were a hundred or more state and county leaders and candidates for office on the train. They changed in personnel with each stop and congressional district, but in the aggregate Gov. Landon and his assistants were put in contact with all the key workers of the northern and central sections during the day.

Among those who boarded the train at Chicago and points south were Hanford MacNider of Iowa, Arthur Ballantine of the national committee, George F. Harding, national committeeman; Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman; Percy B. McCullough, state chairman; Mrs. Mary Silvis, state vice chairman; Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman; Robert C. Rohn, Cook county secretary; former Senator Otis F. Glenn, State Senator Earl Searcy of Springfield, Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds of Cambridge City, Ind., director of women's activity for the western division; Mrs. Ernest B. Griffin, assistant director; Thomas J. Downs, state director of the Young Republicans; Senator Simon Lantz, Parks Livingston, and Harry Halfpenny, leaders of the Young Republicans; Edward Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion; W. H. Weber, Daniel J. Schuyler, Oscar De Priest, Justus Johnson, Eugene Funk, Col. Frank Smith, Leslie Small, and congressional candidates including William H. Wheat of Rantoul, Henry C. Montgomery of Winchester, Hugh M. Luckey of Potomac, J. Lester Buford of Johnson City, L. C. Arends of Melvin, Jesse R. Brown of Edwardsville, and Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin.

VOLUNTEERS Aboard.

A number of workers for THE VOLUNTEERS were on board the train en route for Alton, Ill., where they were to organize their campaign work. These were big white banners with the words "The Landon Volunteers." Mrs. John K. Russell of Oak Park, Miss Helen McMackin of Salem, Mrs. Eleanor Banan, and Mrs. Reynolds were in this group. They were to meet Mrs. Edith Brenholt Jones at Alton for the work of organizing Madison county.

It was raining hard when the train left Chicago and at Joliet the crowd appeared under umbrellas and clad in raincoats. Despite the rain between 3,000 and 4,000 were at the station to see the candidate.

Landon appeared on the platform and shook hands with all he could reach. He said here:

"I must say the citizens of Joliet are genuine enthusiasts to come out in a rain like this. For a man from Kansas you don't know how good this rain looks.

Four Fundamentals.

"There are four great fundamentals of government which we must keep constantly in mind if we are to meet the bitter needs of these challenging times. I want to reemphasize these four principles in their broadest terms.

"The government must guard and preserve its source of income.

"You know from the record that Otis Glenn made in the legislature of Illinois and later in the United States senate, and from the record that Frank Reed made in congress, that they have supported these four great fundamental principles of government. We want a congress that will not abdicate its most important function under the constitution—that of consideration and debate—and a congress that will uphold these fundamental principles of government. The best guarantee is to elect a Republican congress in November.

"Thank you very, very much for this cordial reception in Joliet. I appreciate the fact that your interest in good government has prompted you to come out in such weather."

Two Thousand Out at Dwight.

At Dwight it was still raining, but there was a crowd of about 2,000. The stop was made opposite the United States veterans' hospital, where the doorways and windows were crowded. Others stood on the station, but the majority were in the rain. The governor paid tribute first to "those American heroes who are in the United States veterans' hospital here," and then enunciated his four principles of good government. His last principle—"prepare for a rainy day" brought a big laugh here and elsewhere.

Gov. Landon advocated here as at other stops the election of a Republican congress in November.

At Pontiac the crowd gathered to meet him was still larger. There were between 3,000 and 4,000 at this place. The rain had almost stopped. Landon was introduced here by Senator Simon Lantz, veteran leader of the agricultural group at Springfield.

Ask Support for Three.

"I am indeed happy to have had an introduction from one of the outstanding farm leaders of Illinois and in this country, Senator Lantz, member of the Illinois senate," the governor said. "Now, as always, the enduring prosperity and the base of our national life is in the soil. Unless the farmer prospers the nation will not prosper." He asked the voters to support Glenn, Representative Leslie C. Arends, and Lantz.

By the time the train reached Bloomington the weather was clear. The people were crowded here on both sides of the track. It looked like a crowd of 10,000. They cheered in most friendly fashion when the candidate appeared. The governor in his opening remarks here mentioned the "grand old ex-governor, Private Joe Fifer," and wished him good health and many more years of life. He spoke of the two fine educational institutions in the city and the work for agriculture being done by the Bloomington Pantagraph. He said it was good to see the corn in the good black land of Illinois. Out in Kansas, he said, they know of the work of McLean county in corn and hogs and its high standards for agriculture.

Again he emphasized his four principles and added:

"These principles, in brief, are the four principles which an ordinary foresighted head of a family follows in the handling of his family finances, and these are the four principles which an ordinary prudent foresighted government must follow in preparing to meet its obligations.

"But the first thing this present administration plowed under was its platform. It plowed under its solemn promise to reduce the cost of government 25 per cent.

"If we want to make sure of these principles of government being followed; if we want to make sure of a congress which will not abdicate one of its most important functions under the constitution—that of consideration and debate of major legislation—we must elect a Republican congress in November."

At Alton Gov. Landon said: "Alton is one of the famous landmarks in this country in the battle for the freedom of the press. We must always remember that freedom of the press, political freedom, religious freedom, and freedom of opportunity are all bound up together."

It was at Alton, before the civil war, that the newspaper plant of Owen Lovejoy, abolitionist leader, was destroyed and he was killed by a mob.

Gov. Landon, on being asked today by a correspondent for a statement on his attitude with respect to prohibition, said: "I made plain my position on that subject in a public statement last May, and I would refer you to that statement."

What Statement Was.

The statement referred to was made in connection with a radio interview on May 7, 1936, and is as follows:

Question: Governor, a lot of people in the so-called wet states, knowing that you come from dry Kansas, are anxious about the way you stand on prohibition. Just what is your attitude?

Answer: I'm glad you asked that question. I don't believe my position is misunderstood here in Kansas, and I don't want it to be misunderstood in others. We in this country had a long national debate over the wet and dry question. The people gave an overwhelming verdict that the question should be returned to the various states for such decisions as their citizenry wished. I accept that verdict, and I believe that it is up to each state to determine its own policy on liquor, subject, of course, to Section 2 of the Twenty-first amendment, under which shipment into dry states is properly forbidden.

Welcomed by Missouri.

Missouri welcomed Landon wherever the train stopped with good sized crowds. More than a hundred Missouri political workers and candidates joined the trip across the state. Among these were Jesse W. Barrett, Republican candidate for governor; Arthur M. Hyde, former secretary of agriculture; Henry S. Caulfield, former governor, and Marvel H. Davis, candidate for lieutenant governor.

"I told Gov. Landon he would carry Missouri by a sizable majority," said Barrett.

YOUTH SLAIN BY POLICEMAN.

William Harmon, 19 years old, colored, 741 East 43d street, was shot and killed late last night by Policeman Charles E. McGuire, colored, of the Wabash avenue police when the latter tried to arrest him for tampering with an automobile in front of 4733 Forrestville avenue.

GOV. LANDON GREETS BOYHOOD FRIEND OF 34 YEARS AGO HERE

One of the visitors to the car of Gov. Landon during his brief stay here yesterday was Herman S. Buck, a steel broker, of 6850 Ridgeland avenue, a boyhood friend whom he had not seen in thirty-four years. He remained about five minutes.

HERMAN S. BUCK. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

"I got in because of my size, I guess," Buck said later. "I didn't tell any one anything until I saw Alf. He recognized me immediately and said, 'Hello, Herman.' He asked me what I thought of his Buffalo speech. I told him I thought he hit the mark, and it seemed to please him."

Landon asked him what had become of various old friends of theirs and told him he had seen one old friend recently at West Middlesex, Pa., who had experienced some misfortune. Landon urged Buck to write to him to cheer him up.

The steel broker said he knew the presidential candidate in Greenville, Pa., which is near Landon's birthplace at West Middlesex.

"Alf was known for his honesty," said Buck. "He was very determined and what he set out to do he usually did. His word was final. I can't see that he's changed much."

ICKES DIPS INTO MUD TO ATTACK G. O. P. NOMINEE

Assails Hearst, Who Put Roosevelt in Office.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes tonight hurled the first mud in the presidential campaign. In an address to which he gave the title, "Hearst Over Topeka," Ickes assailed Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee for President, as a tool of W. R. Hearst, newspaper publisher.

In making the speech Mr. Ickes was the first of the official family of President Roosevelt to step into the political mud pit. Lesser administration figures previously had assailed the Republican candidate for the support he is receiving from a figure who made possible Roosevelt's nomination and election by the deal at the Chicago convention which gave John N. Garner, then Hearst's candidate for the Democratic nomination, the vice presidency in return for the votes of California and Texas which nominated Roosevelt.

Makes Farley's Word Good.

In his attack Ickes made good the frequent statement of Democratic Chairman James A. [Tammany] Farley, that "this is going to be a dirty campaign." Farley, however, always carefully added that the first dirt would fly from Republican tongues. Ickes tonight anticipated "the dirty campaign."

Ickes carried his assault not only against Gov. Landon but also against Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and Republican nominee for the vice presidency who was once an employé of Hearst, Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for the governorship of Illinois, and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The assault was based on alleged records of a case in the Superior court of Cook county in which George F. Harding, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, is the defendant.

All Practical Men.

It appears, Ickes said, Harding, "an old time Republican politician of Chicago," wanted to do "a good deed for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S candidate for governor of his state, Mr. 'Curly' Brooks." Harding, former associate of a former Republican mayor of Chicago, Ickes said, is a practical man" and wished to go to "the highest source of power and authority in the Republican party."

Harding was not sure of an entrée so he went to Knox, Ickes said, and secured an interview. He cites a telegram granting the interview from Hearst as, "Telegram received. Delighted to see you both any day between the 25th and 29th, am leaving 29th for east. Hope you can give me more than an hour." [All of these dates are in June of this year.]

Accordingly, Ickes continued, Harding and Brooks went by plane to San Simeon, Hearst's California estate, not stopping at Topeka to see Landon because he wanted to get "to the man at the top."

"There isn't a responsible person in the United States," Ickes concluded, "unless it be William Randolph Hearst, who, at this moment, would underwrite what Gov. Landon, if elected President, would do in any given set of circumstances. Realizing how he is trying to edge his way into the White House without ever taking the people into his confidence with respect to his policies, it isn't any wonder that out of Gov. Landon's subconsciousness there should escape the apt autobiographical phrase, "pig in a poke."

SUIT INVOLVES ESTATE.

The suit involving George F. Harding, mentioned in Secretary Ickes' radio speech, is believed to be an action filed in the Cook county Superior court on June 27, 1935, by Miss Addie Clark Harding, Harding's grandniece, who asked for an accounting of the estate of her grandfather, Abner Clark Harding, brother of George F. Harding.

Miss Harding asked that Mr. Harding be removed as executor of the estate, and that he be enjoined from disposing of its assets. The suit was filed by Attorney P. A. Neuffer, who appeared before Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court last May 29 and asked that Harding be cited to show cause why he should not obey an order to give testimony in the suit before a notary public.

Subsequently, it was said yesterday at Attorney Neuffer's office, Harding appeared before the notary public and asked for a delay in the hearing, explaining as a reason that he had arranged to go to San Simeon to see W. R. Hearst on the date set for hearing his testimony.

"Only Way to Hit Landon."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

George F. Harding, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, said, "Don't make me laugh—my lip is cracked," when informed tonight of charges by Secretary Ickes that Gov. Alf M. Landon had been cautioned against "talking too much" in the presidential campaign.

"I just came from hearing Gov. Landon make ten speeches," Harding said. With other Republican leaders of the state, he was with the presidential nominee as his special train crossed Illinois.

Harding said he did not at once recall the conversation with Hearst or the court proceedings from which Ickes said he got his information.

"However, I do not care to dignify the charges with an answer," he said. "It seems that this is the only way they can attack Gov. Landon."

Ickes Reminded of Hearst Aid to Roosevelt and Son

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—William Hard, radio commentator for the Republican national committee, tonight replied to the efforts of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes to infer the existence of a sinister relationship between Gov. Alfred M. Landon and W. R. Hearst. Hard reminded Ickes that it was Hearst who made it possible for Roosevelt to be nominated for the presidency in 1932 and that Roosevelt's son, Elliott, since has been quite successful in the Hearst service.

"The efforts of New Deal spokesmen such as Secretary Ickes and Gov. Martin of Oregon to blacken the character of Mr. Hearst should be brought earnestly to the attention of Charles Michelson and of the President's son, Elliott," said Hard.

Hearst Trained "Ghost."

"Mr. Michelson had 20 years of training on Hearst newspapers to fit him for the task of writing New Deal speeches, which he does admirably, and to the great gratification of the Democratic party. He is one of the most valuable of Hearst New Deal assets.

"As for the President's son, Elliott, he is exercising his legal and moral right to be in the Hearst service at this very time. He serves Mr. Hearst as vice president of the Hearst radio broadcasting stations in Texas and Oklahoma. He also serves him as his representative in negotiations with the federal communications commission in Washington.

"He does it with conspicuous success. He has been able this year to present the commission with arguments which have persuaded it to add four stations to the Hearst outfit of radio broadcasting properties, now numbering ten. It is odd that Mr. Ickes should not know of the Hearst activities of the son of the gentleman whom he is supporting for the presidency.

"It is also odd that Mr. Ickes cannot remember that President Roosevelt was nominated for the presidency at Chicago in 1932 with the direct help of Hearst delegates from Hearst's home state of California. If Mr. Ickes could remember that interesting historical fact, he would be able to understand the vast difference between 'helping' a candidate and 'telling him what to do.'

"The foolishness of opposing anybody in politics because he is supported by somebody else is again demonstrated by the outbreak of the disagreement between Gov. Landon and Mr. Hearst on the subject of 'loyalty oaths' for school teachers. Mr. Hearst is a man of strong convictions, and in his newspapers this morning he disagrees heartily on the subject of 'loyalty oaths' with Gov. Landon, whom he is supporting for the presidency.

Good Picker of Winners.

"Mr. Roosevelt, upon becoming President, with Mr. Hearst's help, vigorously advocated the entrance of the United States into the world court. This shocked Mr. Hearst but did not deter him from continuing to exercise his American privilege of supporting a candidate for the presidency every four years. He had similar disagreements with Herbert Hoover, whom he supported in 1928.

"The sum of the matter," concluded Mr. Hard, "would seem to be that Mr. Hearst is one of our best pickers of presidential winners and one of our least assertive controlers of Presidents. The New Dealers know this from their experience; and their efforts thereupon to picture Mr. Hearst as a presidential boss cannot be regarded as any contribution to campaign sincerity."

Townsendites Poll 36 Pct. of Votes in California

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A recapitulation of figures showed tonight Townsend-indorsed congressional candidates polled about 36 per cent or 388,277 of the 1,070,858 of the tabulated votes in Tuesday's primary election which gave nominations to 11 out of the 20 backed by the pension planners. The leading non-Townsendite Republican and Democratic candidates rolled up 682,581.

SEEK SYNDICATE SELLING 'SWEEP' TICKETS; 1 HELD

Postoffice inspectors are searching for a syndicate believed to be distributing Irish Hospital sweepstake tickets in Chicago, Walter Johnson, chief postoffice inspector here, said yesterday as agents took Carrol O'Carrol, 32 years old, 56 Bellevue place, before United States Commissioner Walker on a charge of receiving such tickets.

O'Carrol, who said he was born in Ireland, was placed under $2,500 bond and a hearing was continued to Sept. 10. Johnson said that 1,300 tickets to be sold for $2.50 each were found in O'Carrol's possession. He had hired unemployed men to sell them, promising them a 10 per cent commission.

"We are now investigating 12 men whom we believe to be small fry dealers in the sweepstake tickets, but we believe that a syndicate is importing them in large quantities," Johnson said. "There is a general drive on in the nation to halt the importation and sale of sweepstake tickets."

RIVER VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

The body of a man taken from the Calumet river near 138th street in Dolton several days ago was identified in the county morgue yesterday as that of Edward Ellison, 35 years old, 11733 Calumet avenue, who had been missing for 18 months.

WOMAN DROPS FRAUD CHARGE; WEDS THE MAN

Mrs. Virginia Porterfield, 32 years old, 430 Arlington place, a widow, filed an embezzlement complaint two months ago against Philip M. Hobart, 40 years old, a former real estate broker of Rockford, who, she said, posed as a bachelor, asked her to marry him, and then misappropriated $8,000 of bonds which she intrusted to his care.

Hobart and his alleged accomplice, Joseph L. Peterson, were arrested a month ago in California and were returned to Chicago. Both were released in $5,000 bonds.

Yesterday the complaining witness announced that she wanted to drop the charge against Hobart, because she is now Mrs. Hobart. They were married on Monday, having obtained a marriage license in Chicago on Saturday, a few minutes after Mr. Hobart's wife, Kathryn, 38 years old, won a divorce in the Superior court of Judge Joseph B. David.

Hobart and his new wife revealed their marriage while visiting in Rockford. Hobart said they plan to sell his wife's home in Beloit, Wis., and then return to Chicago to live.

Mrs. Roosevelt Warned for Running Stop Light

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Patrolman Michael Holly reported today he had warned Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to keep a sharper lookout after her car had passed a red stop light here. The patrolman said she had passed the light when it was obscured by a trolley car. The policeman learned Mrs. Roosevelt's identity after the incident.

ILLINOIS LEADERS PRAISE LANDON'S BLOW AT TAXES

Buffalo Attack Leaves Mark on New Deal.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov. Alf Landon's slashing attack on the New Deal tax program in his Buffalo speech Wednesday received enthusiastic praise from Illinois Republican leaders who boarded the nominee's special train yesterday while it was being reconditioned in the railroad yards here at 14th and Wood streets.

The Kansas governor, clad in pajamas, dressing gown and bedroom slippers, joined a group from national committee headquarters in the dining compartment of his car during the wait. He sipped orange juice while his visitors told him of the success of his eastern trip.

Applaud Blow at Tax Bill.

Meanwhile, the Illinois leaders were entering two special cars to travel through the state with the nominee, and were commenting upon the Buffalo speech, in which Gov. Landon declared that the New Deal's surplus tax bill "is the most cockeyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed in a modern country."

National Committeeman George F. Harding said that the speech was "full of punch from beginning to end, and was a thoughtful exposition of the fate in store for our nation if the New Dealers are permitted to stay in power."

State Chairman Perry B. McCullough called the speech "one of the best the governor ever made and the kind of a speech that the people can understand.

"It was clear and concise," Mr. McCullough said. "It showed that he understands the real fundamentals of the tax situation."

Otis E. Glenn, nominee for the United States senate, said: "Our presidential nominee is continuing the impression that he has given from the start, that he will give the country a sound and economical administration of its affairs."

"Full of Common Sense."

Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman, candidate for congress in the 9th district, declared that the Buffalo speech was Gov. Landon's best. "It was full of short sentences and clear and concise thoughts," Mrs. Baur said. "It was eminently sound and full of practical common sense."

Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin said the Landon criticism of the 1936 tax bill was "a masterpiece so well spoken that the people cannot but understand the burden which has been put upon them."

Dirksen's predecessor, former Congressman William B. Hull of Peoria; Arthur C. Lueder, nominee for treasurer of Cook county; Col. Noble Brandon Judah, former ambassador to Cuba, and Attorney Daniel Schuyler were others who praised the presidential nominee's speech.

Calls Phrase Just Right.

Hanford MacNider of Iowa, former minister to Canada and former national commander of the American Legion, told Gov. Landon that he "certainly rang the bell by calling the New Deal financial program 'cockeyed.'"

Former Senator Henry J. Allen of Topeka declared that the speech was "a simple, direct discussion of the effect of taxation upon both government and the people."

Besides Col. MacNider and former Senator Allen, those conferring with the governor included Arthur A. Ballantine, special assistant to Chairman John Hamilton of the national committee; former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton of Missouri, Raymond Field, newspaper publisher of Guthrie, Okla., and Lester McCoy.

When he joined this group Gov. Landon looked out the car window to find it raining. "I certainly hope we're getting this in the drouth country," he said. "It looks mighty good to me." Then the governor asked Mr. Allen if there had been any "relief" in Kansas.

Allen brought a smile to the nominee's face when he said that while the temperature had been 109 degrees in Kansas, "we did get relief because it was only 106 yesterday."

WALKOUT OF HORNER WORKERS GROWS; 2600 SUPPORTING BROOKS

Primary supporters of Gov. Horner who now are backing Wayland Brooks, the Republican candidate opposing the governor, announced yesterday that they have enlisted more than 2,600 former Horner precinct and ward workers in their "anti-boss rule Democratic organization." The announcement, made by Peter Lavorata, co-manager, said that twenty-seven wards in the city now have units of the organization.

"There is no duplication of Republican workers in our group, which is growing daily," Lavorata said. "We are working with the regular Republican organizations for the election of Mr. Brooks, but we are supplying them with former Democratic workers—men who helped the governor to win renomination and have since been denied recognition."

One of the latest ward organizations to be formed by the "anti-boss rule" Democrats is in the Fifth, the governor's home ward. A group of about twenty colored workers who supported Horner visited Lavorata in his Hotel La Salle headquarters yesterday and announced that they had recruited 200 members and established headquarters at 5501 Prairie avenue.

NEW RECORD SET IN REGISTRATION AS 3,796 SIGN UP

Expect 250,000 Voters to Enroll in City Hall.

Vote Registration

The record of voters' registration in the election board offices on the third floor of the city hall follows:

Yesterday's registrations	3,796
Previous registrations	34,181
Total	37,977

As registration of voters in the election board offices on the third floor of the city hall set a new record yesterday, it was announced that the city hall registrars expect to enroll 250,000 voters before the ten week general registration period ends Oct. 5. This will leave approximately 1,500,000 voters to sign up on the two precinct registration days, Sept. 19 and Oct. 6.

A total of 3,796 voters registered yesterday under the new permanent registration law, exceeding the previous record of 3,253 which was set Wednesday.

Approximately 7,000 citizens must register daily at the city hall from now on to reach the 250,000 quota there. Election Commissioner Harry A. Lipsky said the balance of the voters can be registered comfortably on the two precinct days, but all officials urged immediate registration as the most convenient.

Precinct Registrars Named.

Judge Win Knoch of Wheaton, sitting in the County court here, confirmed the appointments yesterday of 8,500 judges of registration and deputy registrars who will serve in the precinct polling places on the two registration days, three to a precinct. They will be employed also on Oct. 7 and 8 to canvass the precincts for verification, and on Oct. 10 to revise the registration lists, giving them five days' total employment.

Works Progress administration employés in Cook county will paint 12,000 booths for polling places and renovate 1,000 ballot boxes before the election on Nov. 3. The work will be done at the request of the election board which has lacked funds to renovate the equipment according to John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board.

County Vote Turnout Urged.

There are 10 entire states whose ballot strength can be overriden by Cook county voters in the November election. Figures establishing this point were cited yesterday in the office of the Crusaders, non-partisan patriotic organization, to emphasize the importance of every citizen's vote in this county.

The 10 states are Nevada, Wyoming, Delaware, Vermont, New Mexico, Arizona, Idaho, New Hampshire, Utah, and Montana. Their combined populations are 3,729,282, or 252,841 less than that of Cook county.

"It is obvious that the large metropolitan centers in a few states will have the whip hand in the election," said F. W. Blaisdell, director of the Crusaders for Illinois. "There were 2,251,790 people eligible to vote in Cook county in 1932. Only 1,696,892 voted." Blaisdell urged apartment dwellers, a large group among non-voters, to vote this year, saying that "in the cities where communistic and other such groups are largely bred, a better balance of sensible, decent voting is important."

Two Held to Grand Jury in Woman's Mystery Death

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Bell, John Bandy, Elbert Benton, and Beecher Nolan, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Joseph Moeller, robbery, sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal act by Judge James F. Farrell.

Two men who have been held more than two weeks for questioning in the death of Mrs. Blanche Carlson Taylor, 28 years old, and who were exonerated on Wednesday by a coroner's jury, yesterday were in custody again after Judge Jay A. Schiller in felony court ordered them held to the grand jury because of discrepancies in their stories. The men are Melvin Workman, 38 years old, and William Osborne, 30 years old, both of 6817 Normal avenue. They said that Mrs. Taylor had fallen from the steps of her home at 523 West 63d street after making a round of taverns.

Warrants Issued for Ward Worker on Girls' Charges

Fred De Lacuso, 36 years old, 4549 Sheridan road, said to be a political worker in the Forty-eighth ward, failed to appear yesterday before Judge Leon Edelman in the Domestic Relations court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two young girls and his bond of $200 was ordered forfeited. Judge Edelman issued two warrants for his arrest.

[Copyright, 1936, By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—All British railroad speed records were smashed today when the streamlined hot steam-drawn "Silver Jubilee" train of the London and Northeastern railway touched 113 miles an hour on its regular run from Newcastle to London. This is not only the fastest time ever made in this country but is believed to be a world record for a steam locomotive.

The new mark was clocked over the half-mile stretch between Essendine, Rutlandshire and Tallington, Lincolnshire, where there is only a slight downhill grade. Over a six mile stretch an average of 110.8 miles an hour was achieved and for seven miles the train was streaking along at over 100 miles an hour.

Passengers were eating lunch at the time and were astonished to be told in London they had broken the speed records. The weight of the eight car train, excluding the engine, was 270 tons.

Geo. Ohlendorf Wins Again in Contest for Neatest Farm

The Pure Milk association announced yesterday that George Ohlendorf of Crete is the winner of the association's 1936 "neatest farm" contest. More than 400 dairy farmers throughout the Chicago milk producing area in Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin took part in the competition. Ohlendorf also won the 1935 contest. He, his wife, and a young nephew do all the work on the 160 acre farm.

TWO BIG CROWDS CHEER BROOKS AS LANDON BACKER

State Candidate Hits New Deal Farm Plan.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Two huge crowds that gathered today at Bloomington and Springfield in the heart of Illinois rich agricultural section enthusiastically cheered Gov. Alf M. Landon and Wayland Brooks, the Republican nominees respectively for President and governor of Illinois.

At Bloomington more than 5,000 persons had assembled early, packing the Alton station plaza, the grade separation near by and the embankment across from the station. Brooks spoke before the Landon special arrived there and then rode with Landon to Springfield, where he addressed nearly 8,000 while the presidential nominee visited Lincoln's tomb.

Applaud Plea for Landon.

Hearty applause sounded agreement with Brooks when he said: "Let's send Landon and Knox to the White House and have four years of sound, sensible Prairie state government," and again when he stated:

"Once before our country in a trying time came to Illinois for leadership and this state gave it Abraham Lincoln. Now there is another great call to preserve our government, and we are proud that the Republican party has turned to the prairie states—to Kansas for Landon and to Illinois for Knox."

Besides a forceful reminder of the present day necessity of preserving the American form of government, Brooks hit at the vagaries of the New Deal's farm program that has flooded the American market with foreign produce and placed our farmers in severe competition with those of Europe and South America.

Two Billions for Imports.

"In 1935," said Brooks, "we spent more than 2 billions for the farm products and manufactured articles of foreign lands. Under the New Deal, congress gave the President power to lower tariff walls, and a flood of foreign manufactured goods and farm produce has been let loose upon the American wage earner and farmer.

"Goods with foreign labels are on the shelves of all our retail stores.

"During June, 1936, twenty-four nations shipped pork into the American market, bidding against hogs raised on Illinois farms where dollar corn must be fed. Argentina, Brazil, and Uruguay are sending us vast quantities of beef.

"In 1935 365 thousand cattle were brought into the United States from Canada and Mexico. This is six times the number imported during 1933 when the New Deal began. In the same year foreign farmers shipped us twenty-six times as much butter as in 1933, twenty-seven times as much corn, sixty-six times as much animal oils and fats, seventy-six times as much oats, and 430 times as many hogs as in 1933."

Much Ham from Abroad.

The Republican gubernatorial nominee stated that farmers of Denmark, Esthonia, Hungary, Lithuania, and Poland are sending in large quantities of ham. Treaties made under the New Deal, he said, have forced American farmers out of their own market. Illinois' Democratic representatives in congress had a hand in this action against the farmers, he asserted.

"Democratic congressmen and senators, heedless of the misery and need of the wage earner and farmer in their own state, Brooks continued, "turned over to the President power to open the flood gates and permit foreign produce to ruin the American farmer and workmen. Congress must take back its power to regulate tarif and halt the tide of foreign farm produce and manufactured goods or both farmer and wage earner will be ruined."

SON AND DAUGHTERS OF LATE JACOB RIIS TO SUPPORT LANDON

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Republican headquarters tonight made public a letter in which Mrs. Oscar Riis Owre of Minneapolis, daughter of the late Jacob Riis, close friend of Theodore Roosevelt, was represented as saying she and a brother, John Riis, and sister, Mrs. W. E. Fiske, would support Gov. Alf M. Landon this fall.

Mrs. Owre was quoted as saying she wrote Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton pledging support to Landon because Mrs. Jacob Riis, widow of the former civic leader was represented in an announcement by the Democratic national committee a month ago as intending to work for the reelection of President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Owre said her brother, John Riis, voted for President Roosevelt in 1932.

'ROYALIST' CRY IS STRAW MAN, DECLARES KNOX

Roosevelt Only "Shadow Boxing," Rally Told.

Hampton Beach, N. H., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, declared today that the inadequacy of the present administration is exposed by President Roosevelt's "shadow boxing" with his charges of "economic royalists" while 18 million people are on relief.

In a speech delivered at the Rockingham County Republican club's annual outing on the ocean beach here, Knox replied to the President's attack on "economic royalists" in his acceptance address in Philadelphia.

"Who are these economic royalists?" the Republican nominee asked. "These are strange words from a man who all his business life has been associated with corporate enterprise."

"Imaginary," Says Knox.

Knox termed them imaginary and said that the President, in his acceptance speech, "walloped a straw man while ignoring credit, money, budgets, agriculture, industry, trade, labor, relief, and recovery."

"With 18 million people on relief he offers to go out and slaughter a big bad wolf, if he can only find the wolf," Knox declared.

"When the responsible head of our government offers, as the remedy for grave national ills, to go out and save the people from nonexistent and unidentified figments of the economic imagination, the planlessness and the inadequacy of our government are exposed.

"When we have that sort of shadow boxing with serious problems, it is about time to try a new performer."

"Policies in Ruins."

Knox asserted that the administration's major policies are in ruins and its future plans an absolute blank. He said the New Deal's policies had been "rejected by the people or abandoned as failures, or still born before they began life, or indignantly condemned by the Supreme court."

"The public works program survives chiefly as a huge volume of public debt," he said. "The AAA survives only in the rising cost of living, the imports of foreign farm products, and the ruin of our farmers' foreign markets. The NRA survives only as a nightmare memory of a nation gone haywire.

"The money program survives only in the uncertainty as to what our money standard is and the probability of a disastrous inflation. The relief program has degenerated into reckless outlay for boondoggling."

Commenting on the President's phrase about the rise of an industrial "new despotism," Knox asserted that New Deal legislation better merited the charges made against "royalists."

Quotes "Royalist" Charge.

"Let me quote from the leader of this second American revolution to dethrone the economic royalists," Knox declared. "He says:

"'Through new uses of the corporation the structure of modern life was impressed into the royal service. They created a new despotism and wrapped it in robes of legal sanction. In its service new mercenaries sought to regiment the people, their labor, and their property.'"

Asking "what is the meaning of this jumble of vague economic phrases," Knox charged in return that the New Deal had shackled industry, put initiative in fear, and fostered monopoly, although now it is making a "pious repudiation by dashing out to fight windmills."

"New mercenaries is right," he commented. "There are 250,000 new ones right now, and civil service is not the basis of their selection.

"We hear that under the reign of the royalists 'there was no place for our many thousands of small business men and merchants.' In the history of the United States no small business man had his private business run by government until 1933."

Knox said the administration's cracking down policies "put the little fellow in jail while big business wrote its own ticket." He pointed out that great size is not necessarily an advantage to a business.

Former Opponents Aid Campaign of Ditchburne

Speaks at Dinner

Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican candidate for state's attorney, speaking before 400 members of the bar at a luncheon yesterday in Henrici's restaurant, charged that the office of state's attorney during the last four years has been ineffectively and incompetently administered.

Ditchburne declared that during those years when charges were made of the theft of between 200,000 and 300,000 votes at every election State's Attorney Courtney has done nothing to correct the evil.

Walker Butler, former assistant state's attorney, reading from a brochure containing data of criminal prosecutions in the county during the last two years, said:

"In 1934 a total of 307 persons were charged with murder, but of that number only 68 were either found guilty or pleaded guilty—or a batting average for the state's attorney of only 22 per cent. In 1935 a total of 227 were charged with this crime and only 78 were found guilty or pleaded guilty for an average of 34.4 per cent."

Those at the meeting voted to form a permanent lawyers' organization to advance the candidacy of Mr. Ditchburne. Three attorneys, opponents of Ditchburne in the April primary, attended the luncheon. They were Freeman Leroy Fairbank, Charles Mueller, and William F. Waugh.

SHAKING FATHER DIES IN CHAIR AS SLAYER OF SON, 3

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Trembling as he was led into the death chamber, Charles Rogas, 35, of Brooklyn, N. Y., convicted of killing his 3 year old son, Alfred, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tonight.

Earlier in the day Rogas asked for a drink of liquor. A prison rule prevented granting the request.

"I drank myself into this trouble," he said, "and I'd like to drink myself out of it."

2D DIVORCE SUIT IS FILED BY WIFE OF LLOYD CANBY

Mrs. Katharine Vincent Canby, 344 East Hillside road, Barrington, filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Superior court from Lloyd Canby, a broker, son of C. H. Canby, a former president of the Board of Trade. Mrs. Canby charged cruelty. The couple were married on June 6, 1914, and separated last Aug. 8. A previous bill for divorce was filed in January, 1935, but was later withdrawn. In the present bill Mrs. Canby asks support of a minor child, Vincent, 12 years old. There are two other children, Mrs. Mary Canby Dautel, 21 years old, and Jane, 18, years old. A fourth child, Lloyd Jr., 16 years old, was found shot to death in his home on June 5. A shotgun was found near the body. The death was termed accidental by a coroner's jury.

Doctors Advise Hungarian Premier to Drop Politics

BUDAPEST, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary was advised today by specialists after a physical examination to withdraw from politics for a time and undergo treatment abroad. The premier, who had resumed his duties Aug. 8 after a sick leave, did not indicate whether he would follow the advice of physicians or whether his resignation could be expected as was reported May 13 when he was treated for a kidney and gall bladder ailment.

Campaign Notes

"Four more years of the New Deal will destroy the initiative of youth and create a collectivist state in America," James Tucker, assistant national director of the National Young Republicans, yesterday told the Evanston Young Republican club at a rally in the Georgian hotel. "The actions of the New Deal party should convince youth that its hope lies in the election of Gov. Landon."

Gilmour Young, national secretary of the Townsend plan, declared yesterday: "Tuesday's primary results in California are indicative of the Townsend strength, and I have no doubt that we will poll between 860,000 and 1,000,000 votes there this fall. In fact, in several of the twenty California congressional districts both Republican and Democratic primary winners are Townsend indorsed."

Delivery of eight carloads of Canadian cheese in Plymouth, center of the cheese industry in Wisconsin, under the Roosevelt reciprocal trade treaty, has swung thousands of voters back to the Republican party, P. J. E. Wood of Janesville, national committeeman for Wisconsin, reported to Republican national committee headquarters here yesterday. "The importation of those eight carloads of cheese from Canada was one of the most pointed examples of what the Roosevelt treaties are doing to the dairymen of Wisconsin," Wood said.

DIES OF BRAWL INJURIES.

Tony Madus, 40 years old, 925 Hope street, died yesterday in the county hospital from a skull fracture incured in a fight at Madison and Jefferson streets on Sunday night.

TREASURY LEAPS TO DEFEND NEW DEAL SPENDING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon's attack at Buffalo on the spendthrift policies of the New Deal and the widespread acclaim that it received, even in Democratic newspapers friendly to the Roosevelt administration, caused great concern among treasury officials today and there were indications that a renewed promise of balancing the budget will be forthcoming presently.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. was forced to resort to the old standby that the market for government bonds still is good in replying to Gov. Landon. He said "the policy being pursued by the United States treasury has met with the approval of the country" and that "the acid test is the government bond market."

Banks Must Buy Bonds.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], Senator Alva B. Adams [Dem., Colo.], and other fiscal experts repeatedly have explained on the senate floor that banks have no choice when they are requested to buy more government bonds. Since more than 60 per cent of their deposits already are invested in government bonds, refusal on their part to buy more would wreck the market for government bonds and consequently wreck the banking structure.

Senator Glass has declared that a decline of 10 points in government securities would bankrupt the entire banking system.

Morgenthau had no further comment to make in reply to Gov. Landon's speech, but from other treasury sources there emanated another one of those inspired stories about business conditions improving and internal revenue receipts increasing beyond all expectations.

It was disclosed that Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, is rushing the final touches on his mid-year revision of the budgetary outlook and there were predictions in reliable quarters that when it appears, within a few days, it will contain another promise of balancing the budget by 1939 at the latest.

Deficit to Be Scaled Down.

It also was disclosed that the revised budget estimate will seek to scale down the estimated deficit of 3 billions for the 1937 fiscal year by from 500 millions to 1 billion, based upon anticipated further increases in internal revenue receipts. In support of these claims, officials point to the treasury statement as of Aug. 25, showing an accrued deficit to date for the present fiscal year of only $292,551,144, as compared with the deficit of $853,796,030 for the same date last year.

Expenses to date for the present fiscal year are stated as $894,784,095, compared with $1,192,511,212 for the same date last year, and receipts are given as $598,232,950 as compared with $538,715,181 for the same period last year.

Such a statement from the budget director, treasury officials declare would tend to corroborate the latest promise that no new taxes will be necessary to balance the budget, made on the steps of the White House by Secretary Morgenthau and Senator Pat Harrison after a hurriedly called conference two weeks ago.

However, treasury officials admit that any attempt to scale down the estimated 3 billion deficit for the 1937 fiscal year would be exclusive of the new relief appropriation which works progress and resettlement administration officials say congress must make when it meets in January.

Need Another Billion.

The $1,425,000,000 relief appropriation carried in the deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1937 is expected to be exhausted by January 1. At the present rate of relief spending, more than 150 millions a month, another billion dollars would be needed to carry on for the remainder of the fiscal year and the deficit would be increased by that amount.

Secretary Morgenthau also was reported to be considering the payment in cash of a 514 million treasury note issue which matures Sept. 15, as a show of confidence in improving conditions and as a futher effort to counteract Republican attacks on New Deal fiscal policies. Morgenthau declined to say whether the maturity would be met by refinancing or paid in cash, but announced that he would confer on the matter with the open market committee of the federal reserve system here next Wednesday.

Morgnthau has been keeping a large working cash balance in the treasury, presumably because of threatening conditions in Europe, and this fund, now amounting to $1,958,729,355, could be tapped for the 514 million note maturity.

School Cost $96.18 a Year Per Pupil, U. S. Reports

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The United States office of education estimated today that the average cost of public school education is $96.18 a year per pupil. The figure was described as covering teaching, operating, and maintaining the school building, services of the school superintendent and other school officers, and miscellaneous costs.

FORMER LEADER IN TAMMANY TO SUPPORT LANDON

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Because he prefers sanity in government to New Deal "incompetence and tragic failure," Daniel F. Cohalan, former Supreme court justice and one time power in Tammany Hall, announced today that he had decided to vote for Gov. Landon for President.

DANIEL F. COHALAN.

Mr. Cohalan was one of the six signers of the letter sent to the Democratic national convention asking the delegates to repudiate President Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt's radical tendency, his wastefulness which has plunged the nation into billions of debt, and his wrecking of the business of the nation, in the opinion of Mr. Cohalan, forfeit all claims to the support of Democrats.

Returning from a Mediterranean cruise, Cohalan gave out a prepared statement which said in part:

"We are facing a grave crisis in the country, and we have no more time to waste on experiments or their blundering sponsors. When Roosevelt came into office he was confronted by one of the worst situations in our history.

"He promised a change under which this would be remedied. The damning indictment against him now is that he has had three years in which to make good and he has failed tragically so to do.

"He has plunged the country into billions of additional debt. He has increased the taxes and yet failed by billions of dollars to balance the budget. He has created great armies of new job holders to eat the public funds; and he has disorganized the business life of the country.

"He has broken the morale of millions of citizens and made them political dependents on whom he now relies for reëlection. As an American I prefer Landon."

Confiscated Still Blows Up, Injuring Federal Agent

Harry Schafer, 35 years old, an agent of the federal alcohol tax unit, was burned severely last night in the explosion of a still he was helping to dismantle at the home of John Kogut, 12045 Princeton avenue, which had just been raided. Firemen expressed the belief that alcohol fumes from the still were ignited by a spark from a cigaret. Schafer was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

FARMERS TAXED 'OUT OF PANTS,' G.O.P. RALLY TOLD

44 New Deal Levies on Overalls, Says Cooper.

Angola, Ind., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Farmers are being "taxed out of their pants" by New Deal policies, former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Ohio declared today at a rally of northeastern Indiana Republicans at Lake Hamilton.

Beside him on the platform hung a pair of overalls on which were affixed 44 tags and patches, each one representing a federal tax involved in the final sale of the garment and each adding to its cost, Cooper explained.

"The condition of the farmer cannot be improved through concealed taxes which absorb his income," the former governor asserted. "New Deal policies have proved ineffective as a solution of the farm problem. Prosperity never can cut loose from agriculture. It is the keylog to break the jam of economic recovery."

Cites New Deal Taxes.

He included in his list of New Deal taxes the federal income and the federal motor fuel tax paid by the cotton grower, cotton ginner, cotton mill, bleachers and dyers, manufacturers of buttons and buckles, transportation companies, wholesaler and the jobber, and finally the retailer. The pay roll tax for unemployment hits all these industries, excepting only the grower, he said.

The capital stock tax, the excess profits tax, the surplus tax on corporations also collect their toll of federal New Deal assessments, he said, each adding to the cost of the overalls, he pointed out.

He charged that the administration's farm policy had thrown one man in every seven on the farm out of a job.

Markets Gone, Says Cooper.

The Republican platform proposes to facilitate economical production and increase consumption on the basis of abundance instead of scarcity, he said. Instead of trying to increase production at a lower cost and thus maintain a reasonable price level, the New Deal prophets have robbed the farmers of their markets by insisting that agriculture produce less than domestic requirements, Cooper said.

"We are being gouged by foreign exporters who are taking advantage of the follies of the New Deal," he charged, citing figures showing that cattle importations had jumped 154 per cent, manufactured wool, 137 per cent, and potatoes, 189 per cent, in the first six months of 1936 over a like period of 1935.

MARY PICKFORD'S 'FEAR' DESCRIBED IN SLANDER SUIT

Police Guard Over Actress Described.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Testimony that Mary Pickford "feared something might happen" was given today at a preliminary hearing on the million dollar suit for slander and libel brought against the famous screen star by J. Raymond Cornell, retired Wellesley organ manufacturer.

The information was given by Police Capt. Thomas F. Connolly, who was called as a witness before Attorney Francis B. Burns, named last week by Federal Judge John Knox in New York City to take evidence in the case.

Connolly told of a telephone conversation with Miss Pickford on the night of Jan. 26, 1934, in which she told him that a man and a woman attempted to gain entrance to her hotel suite.

Guard Assigned Actress.

The policeman testified that when Miss Pickford finally saw the couple the man made an excuse to leave while the woman told her she had a "spiritualistic" message for her. The woman became "impertinent," Connolly said, when the actress declared she was not interested in the message.

After Miss Pickford called him, Connolly testified, he assigned a sergeant and a patrolman to escort the actress to the home of Fulton Oursler, magazine editor, on Cape Cod the following day.

The sergeant and the patrolman told of a mysterious car that attempted to pass Miss Pickford's as they drove out to Oursler's home.

Plaintiff Is Absent.

Under examination by District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing of Norfolk county, counsel for Cornell, both policemen admitted they never before had reported the incident.

The only mention of Cornell, who was not present at the hearing, in linking his name with the circumstances reported by Miss Pickford, was made by Connolly.

The police captain said he learned the actress had called a Wellesley telephone number which had been left at her hotel by the couple that visited her. She failed to receive an answer, he testified, but later her maid called the number and "talked to Cornell."

Tells of "Lurking" Couple.

An elevator boy in the hotel at which Miss Pickford stayed told of being called to her floor by a maid and of finding a man and woman "lurking" on a stairway. He said they had gone to the floor below the Pickford suite earlier in the evening and that he took them to the first floor after discovering them.

Cornell's suit sets forth that he was slandered and libeled by a newspaper story of Miss Pickford's flight from Boston in alleged fear of kidnaping. The actress's attorney said Cornell's name never appeared in print in connection with the story.

Members of the executive committee include Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, Mrs. Bertha Baur, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, and Miss Patricia Dougherty.

Mr. Miner said indications are that this year's observance will surpass those of previous years in attendance and enthusiasm.

"L" TRACKMAN ELECTROCUTED.

KEEP UP GREAT WORK—LANDON TO VOLUNTEERS

Nominee Urges Spread of Movement.

Praising THE VOLUNTEERS as "a great movement," Gov. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, yesterday urged Chauncey McCormick, national chairman, to push the organization as widely as possible.

Mr. McCormick was invited to board the Landon special when it left Chicago for its trip through Illinois to St. Louis yesterday. At a conference with the candidate, he reported that THE VOLUNTEERS has units in 19 states and is growing daily. Every Chicago ward and 167 downstate towns and cities have organizations, he told Gov. Landon.

"Keep It Up" His Message.

"We have been established only a few weeks, but our enrollment is strong and we are meeting with growing enthusiasm daily," Chairman McCormick reported. Gov. Landon repeated his encouragement and his request that the organization be expanded. "Tell them to keep up this great work," he said.

Gov. Landon indorsed THE VOLUNTEERS in a statement issued at Topeka several weeks ago, shortly after the movement got under way. Last week while his train bore him eastward for his addresses in Pennsylvania and New York he signed a membership card himself. Frank Knox, vice presidential nominee, and John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, were also early signers of membership cards.

At Bureau Fair Today.

Extension of THE VOLUNTEERS organization in Bureau county will go forward today at the Bureau county fair. Mr. McCormick has been invited to speak there, and VOLUNTEER enrollments will be taken at a special booth set up on the fair grounds. State Senator Thomas P. Gunning, Representative Frederick W. Rennick, Raymond Pervier, and Mrs. Elizabeth Naffziger are among the leaders of the Bureau county unit.

"THE VOLUNTEERS," Senator Gunning said yesterday, "is just the movement needed to win this fight for Landon and Knox. It gives everybody something to do in the campaign."

Active in Twenty-ninth Ward.

From Chicago's Twenty-ninth ward, Miss Naomi McAllister reported that 200 additional VOLUNTEERS had been signed up at the opening of new headquarters at 3937 Madison street. Organization work in the Thirty-second ward will be strengthened at a meeting tonight in the Tower building, Milwaukee and North avenues, under the auspices of the women's unit of the ward of which Miss Helen Narut is chairman.

Theodore L. Kornmann, business man, has been assigned by the speakers' bureau to address this meeting.

Lake County Officials Join.

Most of the county officials of Lake county came to headquarters on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower yesterday to sign membership cards and insure a thorough organization of VOLUNTEERS in the county. Among them were State's Attorney Charles E. Mason, Sheriff Laurence A. Doolittle, W. C. Petty, county superintendent of schools, Allan J. Nelson, county treasurer, Howard L. Scott, recorder; L. J. Wilmot, county clerk; Robert Pearsall, auditor, and John R. Bullock, Probate court clerk.

Another group of VOLUNTEERS who called to report progress in organization on the south side was the executive committee of the Chicago Young Negro Republicans, Inc., headed by Louis S. Scott, general chairman.

Gov. Landon's candidacy for President means no ordinary campaign, but a crusade to save America from communism or Fascism, Attorney David S. Eisendrath told members of the Seventh ward division of the VOLUNTEERS in a meeting at 7525 Exchange avenue last night. Miss Lily Jones, 7534 Chappel avenue, was elected president of the group.

At a meeting of the All American league, 839 Polk street, last night, Dr. Carl William Anderson, assigned to speak by the speakers' bureau of THE VOLUNTEERS, told of "the radical angle of the New Deal."

MANY GERMANS IMPRISONED FOR IMMORAL ACTS

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Men from all walks in German life are being sentenced to prison terms, it was learned today, in a new wave of trials on charges of improper relations with youths. The cases have involved merchants, government employés, industrialists, physicians, workers, clergymen and others.

Many of the cases, similar to those which began last May at Coblenz in which 215 Franciscans were tried on immorality charges, are being heard in the Rhineland. The drive, however, is not confined to that district. In Hamburg, 100 persons have been jailed and four of them already have received jail terms of from a year to 20 months.

SOCIALIST CHIEF PREDICTS A RED SPAIN AFTER WAR

Prieto Assails France for Failing to Aid Madrid.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MADRID, Aug. 27. — Indalecio Prieto, the "strong man" behind the Spanish government, today complained bitterly that France and Great Britain by withholding aid are making Spain the "Ethiopia of Europe."

At the same time he asserted that should the government emerge victorious in the civil war, large sections of the country "would have to be collectivized," although adding that Spain is "not ready or well enough developed economically for pure communism."

At present, he said, the Madrid government would not seek a loan from foreign governments as "the country which borrows abroad gives its lender an opportunity to dominate it politically."

Attacks Democratic Nations.

Speaking quietly, but with an obvious overtone of bitterness, the unofficial "man behind the scenes" in Madrid assailed the political allies of the Madrid government for asserted desertion in time of need, while he said Fascist nations were surreptitiously but effectively helping the Spanish Fascist rebels.

"What help has France and Great Britain given us in our direst hour?" he demanded. "None at all, while Germany, Italy, and Portugal are providing our rebel enemies with all the material they want.

"The diplomats of Europe are very busy over their plan for a convention of neutrality and nonintervention. But what good is such a convention to us? None at all!

Sees Harm in Neutrality.

"It will, in fact, damage our cause. Obviously France and Great Britain will sign it and keep their word, while Germany, Italy, and Portugal will sign it and go on helping the rebels as before."

[At Burgos today the Spanish rebel junta accused France of shipping contraband aid to the Madrid government and specifically charged French Ambassador Herbette with being an agent for the "Reds" with the French consulate at San Sebastian. In Paris a foreign office spokesman said these accusations "seemed simply to be an attack on France."]

"I cannot understand," Prieto continued, "why France and Great Britain can be so blind to their own interests. The establishment of a Fascist régime in the west end of Europe is not a contingency they can envisage with pleasure.

"And what will they say if Franco [Gen. Francisco Franco, the rebel commander in chief] wins and gives the Balearic Islands to Italy or Germany as a reward for their aid?"

Turning to what would be the indicated course of the Madrid government if it won the civil war, Prieto said that large estates of Andalusia, Estremadura and Castile "would have to be collectivized almost on a communist basis, while credit would have to be found for small holders in the rich sections such as those near the end of the Bay of Biscay."

He said the government had no definite plan to shape Spain into a communist state along soviet lines, "although fundamental changes will be necessary."

"Spain," he said, "is not ready or well enough developed economically for pure communism. We shall nationalize the banks, industries, mines, railroads, and other transports, but we need the wealth provided by the small trader."

Disclaims Russian Influence.

Russia, Prieto said, is not trying to influence the Madrid government, but the problem of making Spain a federation of independent soviet republics is not impossible of solution.

Reverting to his bitter disappointment in what he described as France's failure to aid the Madrid government in the crisis, Prieto said:

"Last year our then rightist minister of state, Martinez de Velasco, negotiated a new trade treaty with France and the French insisted on inclusion of a clause which compelled us to buy a certain quantity of war materials from them each year.

"Martinez de Velasco signed. The French, with a popular front government like ours, now have gone back on their word and have refused even to let us have war materials which the treaty stipulates we must buy.

"I also know the rebels have received much more war material from Germany than they were able to pay for in cash down. The inference is clear Franco has sold his soul to the Germans, who one day will present the bill."

The immediate objective of the Madrid government, he said, is the coördination of workers' militia and other forces under a single command, thus eliminating the enthusiastic but sometimes wasteful independent actions by individual militia commanders.

May Start Today

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The flying team of Dick Merrill and Harry Richman added hours today to the log of their monoplane "Lady Peace" in a flight along the New England coast and announced they were ready to brave the Atlantic in a flight to London tomorrow.

"Everything is swell," said Richman, night club singer and amateur pilot, after they landed at Newark airport after their 1,400 mile jaunt to "put hours" on the ship and to check instruments.

They did not fly to Newfoundland as they intended to when they started out this morning. "Didn't need to" was the succinct explanation at the conclusion of the seven hour shakedown flight.

BRITISH TROOPS KILL 20 ARABS IN 3 BATTLES

JERUSALEM, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The death of 20 Arabs in three battles with British troops was reported today by the government. At least 15 others, it said, were wounded in the engagements last night and today.

Twelve were killed today when an Arab band attacked a military patrol and aircraft reinforced the troops with a bombardment and machine gun fire. Four others died when troops suppressed shooting and bomb throwing in Jaffa last night, and two were found dead later. Two others died in a night of shooting between troops and Arabs near the Tel Aviv fair grounds. Thirty-two Arabs were arrested on charges of plotting bomb outrages against Jews.

Leaders of the Arab youth party began collecting signatures to a memorandum demanding an Arab boycott of the royal commission which plans to come to Palestine to investigate the disorders. The party was said to insist a general strike be maintained until its demands against Jewish immigration and land sales are met.

IL DUCE ORDERS ITALIANS TO RAISE BIGGER FAMILIES

POTENZA, Italy, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today admonished all Italians to raise larger families.

"With empty cradles," Il Duce declared, "we cannot conquer an empire nor defend it if occasion should arise. Fecund people possess the right to empire—that is, those who have the pride and will to propagate their race are the virile people in the most strict, literal sense of the word. I hope this speech of mine will be pondered seriously in some provinces of Italy."

Rules for Air Defense.

ROME, Aug. 27. — (AP) — Sweeping regulations for construction and maintenance of an anti-aircraft tunnel to shelter refugees in the event of an air bombardment were published today in the official Gazette.

Railway and subway stations must be constructed according to the anti-aircraft regulations and the decree sets up a special committee for enforcement.

17 NATIONS GET FRANCO-BRITISH ARMS BAN PLEA

Ask Immediate Action on Embargo Toward Spain.

LONDON, Aug. 27. — (AP) — Great Britain and France moved swiftly tonight in a joint effort to lock the door of neutrality against the Spanish civil war.

In separate actions, the two powers asked seventeen European nations to declare arms embargoes against Spain immediately with the prospect of later joining a committee of nations to administer nonintervention problems.

The foreign office earlier in the day made public a telegram sent to Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Madrid now at Hendaye, France, supporting his proposals to check "increasing barbarities" in the Spanish civil war.

Concerned with Suffering.

"The internal politics of Spain concern the people of Spain," the telegram said in part, "but mitigation of suffering concerns us all. The apparent refusal to take prisoners and the consequent mass execution of those captured or who surrender, and the reprisals for such acts in increasing barbarities to which reprisals inevitably lead, are matters to which civilized states cannot be indifferent."

France was understood to be planning formation of the neutrality committee with London favored as its location.

France informed Great Britain that Portugal has expressed willingness to apply an immediate embargo toward Spain, it was understood.

[Great Britain, France, and Germany already have declared arms embargoes. Russia has said she would declare one if other countries would. Italy has said she considers the neutrality accord already in effect.]

The Franco-British appeal was sent to Rome, The Hague, Brussels, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Bucharest, Sofia, Ankara, Athens, Warsaw, Riga, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Oslo, Helsingfors, and Prague.

Nazis Seek to Part France, Russia.

PARIS, Aug. 27. — (AP) — Germany stands ready to offer France "important concessions," it was said in some informed quarters tonight, if France will abandon her mutual assistance pact with soviet Russia.

This report gained circulation as the result of the visit of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German economics minister, to France for the purpose, it was said, of assuring Premier Leon Blum Germany's recent increase in army strength was aimed not at France but as a defense against Russian communism.

It was apparent in official circles, however, the French determination to reinforce defenses had not been changed by any development of Schacht's visit.

Called Colonial Mission.

Financial circles interpreted it as a mission to bring Hitler's proposal for peace at the price of international credit and colonies for Germany.

Schacht's suggestion was reported to be that German factories could begin turning out peacetime goods instead of armaments only if Germany were given markets for her goods and loans with which to manufacture them.

The French press, however, asserted that Adolf Hitler, through financial and economic channels, is attempting to gain French friendship, leaving Germany a free hand on her eastern frontier.

Seek Exchange of Prisoners.

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Members of the Madrid diplomatic corps exiled to Hendaye by the Spanish civil war tonight prepared to call a new meeting seeking an agreement between the Spanish belligerents for exchange of prisoners.

Most of the ambassadors have been authorized by their respective governments to take part in such meetings, two of which already have been held.

United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers has not participated, following the United States policy of nonintervention in internal affairs of foreign countries.

Reports current in diplomatic circles this afternoon that the German charge d'affaires had left Madrid led many of the ambassadors to fear it might presage a break in diplomatic relations between Berlin and Madrid.

[The propaganda ministry in Berlin tonight flatly denied reports that Germany was breaking off relations with Spain.]

Madrid Approves Move.

MADRID, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Spanish government approved the efforts of the diplomats at Saint Jean de Luz to end political killings in the Spanish civil war, it was stated here tonight. The government was said to be willing to do everything in its power "to calm passion."

Marcel Rosenberg, the first soviet ambassador to Spain, arrived here today, bringing to completion the negotiations for diplomatic relations between the two countries. Spain has been planning to send an ambassador to Moscow but has not yet selected a man to fill the post.

ARMIES BATTLE 2D DAY TO WIN NORTHERN SPAIN

Rebels Push Wedge Slowly Forward at Irun.

BULLETIN.

BRIVIESCA, Spain, Aug. 28 (Friday).—(AP)—Spanish government troops were making a surprise march on rebel-held Burgos today and Gen. Emilio Mola, northern insurgent commander, moved his forces rapidly in an attempt to check the loyalist columns.

Two thousand members of the loyalist People's Front militia had fought their way to a point less than 25 miles from Burgos, the seat of the rebel junta. The government troops had made forced marches from their base at Santona.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 27.—The second day of the stubborn struggle that historians of the Spanish civil war will refer to as the "battle of the frontier" closed with the insurgents still slowly hammering forward the wedge they are trying to drive between France and the loyalist armies of northern Spain.

The loyalist line of defense at Irun, however, still is intact, and it is too early to predict the outcome. All that can be said at the moment is that the rebels appear to have the advantage.

Today's battle was a continuation of the advance along the Bidassoa river toward Puenta ridge and an intensification of the offensive in the Oyarzun sector. The Oyarzun column, which yesterday carried on only a preliminary skirmish, attacked sharply near Hernani, advancing toward the port of Pasajes, so as to cut off communication between Irun and San Sebastian.

Irun Heavily Bombarded.

Supporting the attack, rebel planes again heavily bombarded Irun, Pasajes, San Sebastian, and the loyalist field positions along this line, while the rebel battleship Espana, cruising off the coast, dropped 12 inch shells throughout the day on one after another of these objectives.

The civilian population was panicky at this bombardment and casualties must have been relatively high, though as usual, much smaller than one would expect.

On the Bidassoa sector, facing the French village of Biriatou, the rebels made no further attempt to advance along the river road, but won a foothold on the wooded crests from which the hog's back, Puenta ridge, descends and drove down on it from above.

Battle for Top of Ridge.

Early this afternoon, after effective artillery fire silenced most of the loyalist machine gun nests on the ridge, a small group of rebel infantry swept out of the woods and gained the top of the ridge. Had they been able to establish themselves there they would have isolated all the loyalist positions and the fight would have been over for all practical purposes, but they were dislodged after a fierce hand to hand struggle.

Asturian miners, with their legendary dynamite bombs, the fuses of which they light from cigarets as they run, were the heroes of the skirmish.

For nearly an hour the fight could be clearly seen from Biriatou. Amid continuous battle of musket fire and machine guns, the bursts of the Asturian dynamite bombs and hand grenades of the rebels could be clearly seen between trees of the pine woods, and gradually the bursts moved farther and farther to the left until the rebels were entirely off the ridge and 500 yards or more back from their most advanced point.

Loyal Machine Guns Silenced.

At the end of the day the situation seemed to be stabilized. As far as could be determined, all Loyalist machine gun positions on the ridge except the last one, only 50 yards above the barricade on the road, had been silenced. Only the barricade, with an armored train behind it, one machine gun nest immediately above, and strong positions on the wooded San Marcial, immediately behind the ridge, were holding up the rebel advance.

The dynamite charge of the Asturian miners through the pine forest was the most spectacular feature of the day's battle. It was not very military, but it accomplished its purpose.

As a matter of fact the whole war is not very military. In the two days this battle has been going on, at least 1 3,000 rounds of small ammunition must have been fired and the casualties by the civil war standards were heavy, but this correspondent would be surprised if more than 200 men including civilian casualties from air bombardments had been put out of action.

Report Basque Revolt.

Perhaps the most important development on the northern front today—if it is confirmed—was the report from rebel sources that Basque Nationalists have laid down their arms and are leaving Loyalists to man machine guns alone.

Another development of potential importance, in view of the German protest against the sale of French planes to Madrid, was the further violation of French neutrality today by both sides, but particularly the Loyalists. As yesterday, Loyalist planes circling above Biriatou took refuge over French territory after bombing the rebel lines and the rebels continued to fire at them.

In the south, the most significant action, if reports from the rebel side are credible, is that insurgent columns of Maj. José Castejon, advancing from Estremadura, have reached Talavera de la Reina, about 84 miles southwest of Madrid.

Strategic Point Attained.

If this is true, it means that the strategic point in the advance against Madrid from that side has been attained, for it commands the communications of three provinces—Caceres, Madrid, and Toledo. Talavera is at the edge of an extensive plain, with excellent roads leading to Toledo, about 45 miles away, and to Madrid.

A lull still exists on the Aragon front about Saragossa, but indications are that the polistion of Malaga on the south coast is critical.

The occupation of the British Rio Tinto copper mines zone by Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, rebel commander at Seville, which appears confirmed now, gives him control of the entire province of Huelva.

Traitors Foil Dynamite Plot.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

WITH SPANISH GOVERNMENT FORCES, IRUN, Spain, Aug. 27.—A carefully laid trap to blow up rebel troops advancing over a dynamite-sown field failed tonight through traitorism as 15,000 men locked in battle at the close of the second day of a concerted rebel drive along the Irun-San Sebastian sector.

Leaders of the government forces disclosed that before the rebels loosed their attack Wednesday morning, sticks of dynamite were planted under the route the attackers were expected to traverse.

Wires ran from the dynamite furrows back to positions behind the government lines where switches were ready to be thrown the second the rebel attackers stepped on the explosive ground.

From atop Mount Marciel government watchers saw the rebel foreign legion advance units swarm down the hill slopes and pour into the explosive laden passes. Quickly the detonating plungers were shoved down. But nothing happened.

The wires had been cut—by spies in their own ranks, loyalists said after the territory was recaptured by their forces today.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Aug. 27.—[Passed by Censor.]—An air raid was carried out over Madrid today. Early this morning a single machine flew very high over the military airdrome. Almost immediately two pursuit planes rose to meet it, and it made off after dropping four or five bombs.

The government issued a note stating that the rebel plane had dropped bombs hurriedly to escape. The raid's object was believed to be intimidation of Madrid inhabitants. Slight damage was done.

3 Miles Nearer Madrid.

BURGOS, Spain, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Gen. Emilio Mola's rebel troops drove their lines three miles closer to Madrid today after five days of bloody fighting.

The troops, aided by artillery and planes, captured important positions on Cerro Nevero, dominating the Lozoya valley about forty miles north of the capital. The Lozoya river, rising in the Guadarrama mountains, is the source of Madrid's water supply.

DOPE PRISONER DIES.

AIRPLANE AWAITS ALFONSO'S ORDERS IN AUSTRIAN CITY

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 27.—(AP)—An airplane stood ready tonight "awaiting the king's orders" while former King Alfonso of Spain read stacks of mail from his homeland and observers wondered whether he would make a dash for the civil war scene.

For two weeks the plane had been held at the airfield because the permit of its pilot, Lieut. O. Cathcart Jones, the English distance flyer, had expired. Now, however, that technicality has been smoothed out.

Supplementing the arrival of heavy mail, two couriers flew to Innsbruck to consult with the former monarch. One of them was marquis de Tena, owner of the suppressed monarchist newspaper ABC.

CHICAGO WOMAN TELLS OF PRIEST MURDERS IN SPAIN

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—An account of the murders of Catholic priests on the doorsteps of their churches and of the defilement of the graves of nuns in Barcelona by Spanish loyalist forces at the outbreak of the civil war was brought to New York today by a Chicago woman who hid in the basement of a building in Barcelona for two days while it was under fire from rebel troops.

She was Miss Viska Mina Krokowsky, 4459 Woodlawn avenue, Chicago. When she arrived in Brooklyn on the Arnold Bernstein liner Koenigstein from Antwerp she told reporters of the horrors she had experienced during the two days of terror.

In Barcelona 4 Years.

Miss Krokowsky said that she had been living in Barcelona for about four years and had recently been occupying an apartment where several girls in the employ of the government were residents.

She said that the men in the place fled, leaving the girls to shift for themselves. Dragging furniture, mattresses, and rugs from the upper floors, they went down into the basement and there constructed a barricade.

The siege was lifted on the third day and the girls were evacuated. As they went through the streets under armed escort Miss Krokowsky said that she saw bodies of men and animals sprawled in the gutters, lying across the streets, and stacked in piles along the sidewalks.

Sees Corpses of Nuns.

On the doorsteps of Catholic churches, priests had been clubbed down with rifle butts before they were shot, she reported. She said that nuns had been dragged from a Carmelite convent and the convent had been looted. She told of seeing the corpses of nuns dug up from the graveyard of the convent and carried through the streets to the accompaniment of jeering by the onlookers.

The loyalist troops and followers sacked the cathedral and all the large houses in the vicinity, she said. She told of Catholic friends who hid all their religious ornaments and books lest they be shot down when found by loyalist troops.

FIXED BRIDGES

By CALEB

CHICAGO has one incongruity hardly to be paralleled elsewhere in the world. A vessel—even a small vessel—in the river toots an imperative signal. Then in slow succession half a dozen busy streets are put out of service while bridges open—and on as many streets the heavy flow of traffic and humanity is stopped!

The vessel proceeds majestically on its course.

Chicagoans have many rewards for their residence here. They also pay this irritating penalty.

The Chicago Plan Commission has long worked on plans toward eliminating this nuisance. The ultimate aim is construction of fixed bridges. While the realization of such an aim is still far away—as are all ambitious ends at the start—the first step has been taken.

Months ago, certain cities in neighboring states convinced the Supreme Court of the United States that Chicago was withdrawing too much water from Lake Michigan. At that time we were diverting ten or twelve thousand cubic feet per second.

The Supreme Court ruled that this diversion would have to be reduced to fifteen hundred cubic feet per second by December 31, 1938. The ruling imposed two obligations on Chicago's Sanitary District. One: to provide adequate sewage disposal plants. Two: to provide against the river's pollution of city drinking water in times of heavy rainstorms.

The proposal of the Chicago Plan Commission for a lock located at the mouth of the river was accepted by the Sanitary District and approved by Federal officials.

As a result the District is now building controlling works in the form of a lock at the mouth of the Chicago river. Normally, the flow of the river is from the lake. After heavy rains the river rises rapidly, with a resultant reversal, and flows into the lake. This lock will prevent pollution of the lake water supply by impounding high river water in a barge basin on the river side until the river subsides and resumes its normal course of flow. The lock will care for a differential in water level of six feet.

Control of the level of the river is a first important step toward the ultimate goal of fixed bridges—because it will make possible the maintenance of a fixed clearance under bridges as required for barge navigation.

DERN SERVICES IN CAPITAL SET FOR TOMORROW

Lingering Illness Fatal to Secretary of War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Secretary of War George H. Dern, who died in Walter Reed hospital this morning, are to be held in Mount Pleasant Congregational church here Saturday afternoon, it was announced today.

The cabinet officer, who would have been 64 years old next Sept. 8, met death after weeks of fighting against heart and kidney complications which followed an attack of influenza last spring.

Immediately after the services, which are to be attended by the diplomatic corps and service and civil officials, the body of Mr. Dern will be returned to his home state of Utah for burial Tuesday afternoon. President Roosevelt, who was advised during his drouth inspection tour, altered his itinerary to be present at the burial services.

Word Sent to Roosevelt.

Assistant White House Secretary Stephen T. Early was notified of the death of the secretary of war at 10:55 o'clock this morning by Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staf. Mr. Early stopped the presidential special at Steele, N. D., to notify Mr. Roosevelt of Mr. Dern's death.

The President directed Secretary of State Cordell Hull to notify the country of the death of the head of the war department and included a brief eulogy of the cabinet officer in the announcement. At the same time Mr. Roosevelt ordered the flags on all public buildings and at army posts throughout the world to be flown at half staf.

Explains President's Schedule.

Mr. Early carefully emphasized that the President could not halt his drouth trip to return to Washington for the funeral services because he already had arranged for a series of conferences with state officials along his route. However, it was said Mr. Roosevelt can remain over in Rapid City, N. D., so as to arrive at Salt Lake City, Utah, to attend services there and continue with his tour.

Members of the family of the former governor of Utah, who had been called to Washington during the critical days of his illness, were at his bedside at his death. The widow, his daughters, Mrs. Harry Baxter and Miss Elizabeth Dern, and his sons, William, John, and James, had taken quarters at the hospital since attending physicians surrendered hope for recovery last Sunday.

Oxygen Tent Fails.

Last night the afflicted cabinet member was placed under an oxygen tent in an effort to prolong his life. He was unconscious for four hours before his death.

Army surgeons maintained a constant vigil at the death bed. Yesterday they were augmented by Dr. Fritz Meyer, noted German heart specialist, who was summoned by President Roosevelt from Boston.

Friends of the secretary said Mr. Dern had not been in good health since a general breakdown which followed an attack of influenza while he was governor of Utah five years ago. Last spring he was visited with a second attack while on an inspection trip of southern coastal waters. He was flown by plane from Charleston, S. C., to Walter Reed hospital.

Honor Guard Ordered.

After his release from the hospital he set out on an inspection trip of the Delaware river. He was forced by impaired health to return to the hospital on July 13.

Imediately after the death of the secretary, Gen. Craig, who said Mr. Dern "was a true friend of the army," ordered a guard of honor over the body in the hospital. His was the first of a flood of expressions of regret at the death in official circles.

Assistant Secretary of War Harry Woodring will be acting secretary of war until a successor is appointed.

When Mr. Dern was named secretary of war by President Roosevelt he already had given half of his active life to public service. For eight years he was in the Utah state legislature and twice was governor.

Born on a farm at Hooper, Neb., on Sept. 8, 1872, he was the second son of John and Elizabeth Dern. He was graduated from Fremont Normal school at 16 and worked for the next five years to obtain money for college. In 1893 he entered the University of Nebraska, where he became a football star.

In 1895 Mr. Dern left the university to accompany his parents to Utah, where his father bought an interest in a gold mining company, for which the son became a bookkeeper.

Mining Firm Executive.

After several mining properties were consolidated in 1900 to make the Mercur Gold Mines company, he became assistant general manager and a year later was advanced to general manager, a post he held until 1913, when he made his first venture into politics.

In 1924 Mr. Dern was elected governor of Utah on the Democratic ticket and was reëlected in 1928.

Tax revision was the storm center of his career as governor. He succeeded in writing into Utah's laws tax reforms which for years had been blocked by large business enterprises, including his own mining industry.

War Portfolio a Surprise.

He was known as somewhat of a pacifist because of his interest in international arbitration, and his selection for the war portfolio was a surprise to the country at large. He immediately quieted the militarists, however, by declaring that while he desired international coöperation as a substitute for war, so long as the nations are organized on the present basis America must maintain an adequate national defense.

Mr. Dern married Miss Lottie Brown, and they had three sons and four daughters, two of the latter dying in early youth.

He was a member of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, a Shriner and thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason.

RECOVERING AFTER SHOOTING.

Edward McDonald, 29 years old, 1435 Olive avenue, a printing salesman, was reported recovering in the Bridewell hospital yesterday after he had been shot in the left shoulder Wednesday night by Arthur Allen, 35 years old, 1310 Bryn Mawr avenue. Allen told police he shot at McDonald when the latter attempted to force his way into the Allen apartment.

agencies," to deal with the crop problem.

"We are convinced," the report said, "that in many vital respects, the initiative must be taken by the federal government. We suggest a study to determine what new federal legislation, if any, may be necessary in order to permit the central government to promote the transfer from crop to grass farming where necessary."

The committee also recommended some form of crop insurance. A proposed form of insurance, found by the department of agriculture to be "actuarially sound," according to the report, calls for the collection of a portion of the surplus in bumper years with repayment in kind during the years when crops fall below normal.

Basic Cause Pointed Out.

Conditions in the great plains are or will become increasingly worse unless overcropping, overgrazing and improper farm methods are prevented, the report stated.

"The basic cause of the present great plains situation is an attempt to impose upon the region a system of agriculture to which the plains are not adapted, to bring into a semi-arid region methods which are suitable, on the whole, only for a humid region," the report asserted.

"Although the dust storms of 1934 and 1935 have been visible evidence to nearly every American living east of the Rocky mountains that something is seriously wrong, the extent of erosion on the great plains has not yet been accurately determined. It is safe to say that 80 per cent is now in some stage of erosion and as much as 15 per cent may already have been injured seriously and permanently."

Presidential Party Puzzled.

The report wound up with an oratorical flourish, saying, "We endanger our democracy if we allow the great plains or any other section of the country to become an economic desert."

When the presidential special entered North Dakota this morning members of the party peered eagerly from train windows for a first glimpse of the "dust bowl." Expecting to see burnt prairies traversed by great dust storms under a blazing sun, they were puzzled by views of a country side in which green predominated over brown, of cattle grazing comfortably, of a pond now and then over which hovered waterfowl. The skies were a dull gray, with the sun hidden.

It was apparent that the "dust bowl," in some parts of North Dakota at least, was in need of debunking.

With some bitterness, this newspaper presented what it termed "fake photographs" of the North Dakota area which have obtained national circulation.

Moreover, despite frequent assertions that North Dakota has been starving for the last 12 years, the records show that the farms of the state have had a cash income from all agricultural products of nearly two billion dollars in that period, the Forum declared.

Fargo is in the Red river valley and in 1936 the valley has produced on its farms nearly $100,000,000 gross cash wealth. With some reason, residents in the area were resentful of numerous articles describing their territory as "a vast, barren desert."

The "fake photographs" of drouth conditions in the Red river valley were especially interesting to correspondents on the train because it was recalled that a number of such pictures have been available at the Washington offices of the resettlement administration and the Works Progress administration, which are spending millions in the drouth areas.

Mute Evidence Appears.

As the train proceeded westward, there were more signs of aridity which has caused thousands of farmers to face ruin. Although rainfall has been heavy in the vicinity of Bismarck for the last two weeks, it came too late to save most of the crops.

The President invited a large party to confer with him aboard the train this evening.

Those present included Acting Governor Walter Welford of North Dakota, Acting Governor Elmer E. Holt of Montana, Senators Lynn J. Frazier and Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, and Senators Burton K. Wheeler and James E. Murray of Montana.

ROOSEVELT JR. PINCH HITS FOR 'OLD MAN' ON TRAIN PLATFORM

Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who celebrated his 22d birthday last week, was sent to the rear platform of the presidential special to pinch hit for his father in this town today.

"The old man will be through here again tomorrow morning and will come out and see you then," the youth promised a group which had assembled. While the crowd was laughing at this reference to the President, Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, and Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, started to heckle young Roosevelt with cries of "Speech, speech."

"There's a couple of guys you ought to be talking to," Franklin Jr. yelled to the crowd, pointing at Hopkins and Wallace, who, red in the face, quickly boarded the train.

ASK MORE STATE FUNDS BE SPENT TO AID SCHOOLS

Teachers Assail Horner Commission.

After waiting a year for action by Gov. Horner's educational commission, the Illinois State Teachers' association yesterday renewed its fight for additional state funds to support the public schools.

In a pamphlet designed to arouse the interest of parents and teachers, the association asked an increase in the state school fund from an annual figure of $13,500,000 to $30,000,000.

At its headquarters in Springfield the association announced that publication of the pamphlet, the first of a series, was decided upon because the Horner commission, appointed on July 5, 1935, had made no definite recommendation after a year's study of the school situation. The commission suggested the creation of a state board of education to investigate the problem further.

Would Meet U. S. Average.

The increase urged by the Teachers' association would boost the amount paid by the state toward the education of each pupil from $11.19 to $26.12 a year, which is the average for the United States. Delaware, at the top of the list, provides $80.03; California, $70.78, and New York, $59.42. Only 9.2 per cent of the Illinois government's income now is spent on schools, the pamphlet says.

"The general assembly," the booklet continues, "has discharged its responsibility of providing a 'thorough and efficient' education for all the children [as set forth in the state constitution] by passing on about 90 per cent of the obligation to the 12,000 school districts of the state."

School Taxes Too High.

More state aid is needed, the association contends, to give the children an equal opportunity with those of other states and to relieve heavy local school taxes on property.

The total expenditure for schools in the state was reduced 38 per cent, from $163,444,000 for 1930-'31 to $100,741,000 for 1933-'34, resulting in retrenchments that crippled the educational system, the association declared.

Fire Fort Sheridan Guns Hourly in Honor of Dern

Fort Sheridan guns will be fired hourly from sunrise to sunset today and tomorrow in observance of the death of Secretary of War George H. Dern. At sunset tomorrow, the day of the funeral, nineteen volleys will be fired, according to Col. James M. Graham, chief of staf of the Sixth Corps area. Army station flags will be at half staf and officers will wear mourning bands for a thirty day period.

SOUTH SIDE DRUGGIST ROBBED.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item yesterday said that registration of pupils for Chicago public high school courses would begin Sept. 8. Superintendent William H. Johnson says that elementary and high school pupils will enroll on Sept. 14, the date all the schools will reopen. Evening school registration will take place on Sept. 10 and 11.

$701,263 RELIEF FUND FOR LAST OF AUGUST RECEIVED

County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill yesterday distributed to the city and thirty county townships a total of $701,263 received from State Auditor Edward J. Barrett as the remainder of Cook county's share of the August sales tax money. A similar amount was received and distributed by Gill on Aug. 7. The money will be used for relief.

Chicago received $650,408 of the $701,263. The amount that each of the relief units gets is fixed by the Illinois emergency relief commission.

Leo Lyons, city relief commissioner, said yesterday that the acute shelter situation in the city, caused by the lack of sufficient funds to pay rent for relief clients, may carry over into September unless additional money is made available soon.

GIBSON URGES ENDING RELIEF IN 20 MONTHS

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The time is at hand to put an end to federal relief, in the opinion of Harvey Dow Gibson, former head of the citizens' emergency unemployment relief committee in New York.

Gibson urged that federal appropriations for all relief purposes be cut 10 per cent every two months until terminated in 20 months.

His proposal is made in an article entitled "Federal Relief Must Go," in the Aug. 29 issue of Today, magazine edited by Raymond Moley.

EGYPT BECOMES SOVEREIGN STATE UNDER NEW PACT

Enters Military Alliance with Britain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Terms under which relations between Great Britain and Egypt will be stabilized for the next twenty years were made public tonight with the issuance of the text of the treaty signed here yesterday.

The treaty ends 50 years of occupation of Egypt by British forces and makes Egypt a sovereign state backed by a close alliance with England.

One clause never before introduced into any international treaty provides that upon should the terms be revised at the end of the twenty year period, the alliance must be maintained.

Will Back Egypt for League.

Britain undertakes to support Egypt's application for membership in the league of nations, which is expected to be made after the treaty is ratified by both parliaments about the end of October.

Of significance is the concession by Britain concerning the protection of foreigners in Egypt. Article 12 of the treaty makes clear that the Egyptian government in the future will undertake the protection of the lives and property of foreigners, but for five years the European element will be retained in the Egyptian police who for the same period will remain under command of British officers.

Egypt also gets back the partnership with Britain in the Sudan in accordance with the agreements of 1899, but it is subject to possible new conventions. Egyptian troops as well as British and Sudanese will be at the disposal of the governor general.

Military Alliance.

The kernel of the treaty is the close military alliance. Under clauses for protection of the Suez canal, it is provided that Britain may maintain land forces up to 10,000 and an air force not exceeding 400 pilots in the canal zone for an unspecified time.

The Egyptian government will provide barracks, landing grounds for the British air force, and will construct strategic roads and improve the railways. The British troops in Egypt will be withdrawn to the canal zone only when the strategic works are completed to the satisfaction of both parties. In case of war, Egypt will accord Britain every facility including the use of ports, airdromes, means of communication and all necessary administrative and legislative measures.

Map of Illinois illustrating how nearly all (92.2 per cent) of the state's 36,265,600 acres would be required to grow the foreign crops imported into this country annually. It would require more than 33 million acres to grow the imported crops shown on this map, leaving less than 3 million acres not assigned. (Acres not assigned indicated by shaded tip at the lower end of map and the black area covered by Chicago.) All of these crops, or their substitutes, could be grown in the United States. Not all of the imported farm products are given on the map—coffee, tea, silk, and similar products are not included. The acres required to grow the imported crops are about equal to the acres taken out of production under the Agricultural Adjustment administration program and the acres of soil depleting crops to be eliminated under the new soil conservation and domestic allotment law.

12,000 PAINTERS STRIKE AGAINST 'KICKBACK' PLAN

Minnesota Farmers Will Defy Grocery Pickets.

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Twelve thousand painters and decorators went on strike today in Manhattan, the Bronx, and Richmond, on the eve of their busiest season. They charged that a "kick back" system by employers was robbing them of hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

Union leaders, addressing a strike mobilization meeting of 5,000 men at Mecca temple, called the strike 100 per cent effective.

Fifteen automobiles, each containing a union business agent and several union members, toured the city. For the employers, Philip H. Gladstone, vice president of the Association of Master Painters and Decorators, called the strike unjustified.

While the union's major demand is that it be permitted to designate 50 per cent of the men employed on each job, Gladstone said employers had been willing to agree to a code by which employers guilty of violations would be subject to this provision, instead of all employers.

Seek Non-Union Aid.

They said there were 5,000 non-union painters and decorators in the three boroughs, and he said he hoped for their support.

Describing the background of the strike, Louis Weinstock, secretary-treasurer of the union, asserted three employers were awaiting trial in special sessions on "kick back" charges.

A threat that trucking in New York City would be tied up Tuesday by a drivers' strike took shape tonight as negotiations between the truck owners' committee and the wage scale committee of the teamsters and chauffeurs ended in a deadlock. For several weeks the owners, representing 15,000 for-hire trucks, has been negotiating for renewal of the two year contract, which expires Monday. This contract gave drivers a 48 hour week, with $41 to $47.50 wages. The union asks a 40 hour week at the same wage.

Farmers Issue Ultimatum.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Farmers issued an ultimatum to striking truck drivers of wholesale grocery concerns today that they will make deliveries through any picket lines and "in no case will we permit communist leaders of the truck drivers' union to stop us."

In notifying Gov. Hjalmar Petersen of their attitude, the Hennepin County Farmers' Protective association said their trucks had been stopped under threats of violence and "our produce now remains in the fields rotting, causing financial loss to us."

"We farmers will march through any picket lines," the communication added. "We will make our own deliveries and will continue to direct our businesses without the assistance of the National Guard."

BAKER BY NIGHT, HE ADMITS BEING A ROBBER BY DAY

Herman Lisheid Jr., 28 years old, 4726 Addison street, a paroled convict who works nights in his father's bakery at 2652 North Laramie avenue, confessed to the Albany Park police yesterday that by day he has robbed at least thirty bake shops in the last two months.

Lisheid, arrested yesterday, was traced by his automobile license number which was taken by a bystander who saw him emerging from the bakery of Charles Becker, 3548 Lawrence avenue, after robbing Becker of $150. The prisoner admitted that his bank account of more than $400 was built on the proceeds of his crimes.

Police records show that Lisheid was sentenced in December, 1929, to serve one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary on five charges of robbery. He was paroled on Feb. 2, 1935. His wife, mother of a baby, collapsed when informed of her husband's confession.

CHILDREN'S PLAY NETS $6.50 MORE FOR CAMP FUND

A brownie play and a butterfly dance given by the children of the Flossmoor Vacation Play school yesterday added $6.50 to the Camp Algonquin fund.

This contribution brought the camp fund to a total of $1,952.24. The camp is 45 miles northwest of Chicago along the Fox river. Through the cooperation of readers of THE TRIBUNE and the United Charities, approximately 2,000 mothers and children from the tenement districts of Chicago have had two weeks of rest and nourishing food there this summer.

Three contributions of $1 each brought the Tribune Free Ice fund to $3,583.76. This fund provides free ice for needy Chicago families during the heat of summer. Yesterday's contributors were F. A. R., "In Memory of R. R. and J. R.," and A. A. H.

Sullivan, and Arthur I. Ennis of Chicago; Malcolm N. Stewart, Champaign; James A. Woodruff, Riverside, and Edward M. Powers, LeRoy.

Tale of Poverty Fails to Sway Wife.

Concession company, by whom he is employed as a supervisor.

"What is your approximate weekly income?" Woodward asked.

"Forty dollars," O'Brien replied airily.

"Do you owe any money?"

"Yes, sir," emphatically.

"Any taxes?"

"O, yeah, the guvment taxes. With interest and penalities, that's $31,060. When we [meaning the Ex O'Brien] come back from Leavenworth, they cut it from $268,000."

"Why hasn't it been paid?"

Doesn't Even Know "the Take."

Mrs. O'Brien contends that the taverns and all other property are listed in the names of others, but O'Brien, asked about the tavern company, was unable to recall the name of the president, the bank where it keeps its money, or what the weekly "take" is.

"We're in a pitiful condition," he insisted. "We lost a house worth $80,000 for $6,000 and eleven pieces of property. What more can you expect? I have five old trucks up in the barn all in pieces. You can go up and look at them—"

"Didn't you get any trucking for the WPA?" he was asked.

"Naw," he said. "We can't get them working on account of political influence. We worked five days in two and one-half years for $18 a day—five days' work since I came back [from Leavenworth]."

It's a Tough Proposition.

"Are you engaged in the beer business?" Theodore L. Hardeen, counsel for Mrs. O'Brien, asked on cross-examination.

"Just distributing." O'Brien said deprecatingly. "Just to customers that we solicit. I have very few anyway. You know you can't sell any beer in our ward [the 42d]."

Q. [by Mr. Hardeen]—What was the gross income of this beer business the first year? A.—It was a loss of $7,500.

Q.—What was the gross income the second year? A.—The second year wasn't so good.

Q.—Where are your books? A.—We don't need books. We can't sell enough beer for books. You can't sell any beer in our ward unless you get the O. K., and we ain't got the O. K.

Q.—What O. K. is that? A.—You know [meaningly]. You know what politics is. This beer has been a loss ever since we began. We had too many good customers at first who went out six months later, owing money."

Associates Usurp Throne.

The Ex O'Brien's change of political fortune occurred upon his return from prison, when he found his old associates, State Senator William J. Connors and Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d], had usurped his throne.

O'Brien told Master Burman that he had a 1928 Packard worth $35, an ancient Windsor worth $20 and 64 judgments against him, totaling $25,050.

As final proof of his poverty, O'Brien, his face florid under persistent questioning, admitted that he was forced to replace the mighty diamond in a gold star which "the boys" of the Forty-second ward gave him at a $2.50 a plate "welcome home" banquet on his return from Leavenworth, with one of paste, so that his wife might pawn the original.

The hearing was continued until next Tuesday, but the Ex O'Brien's presence is doubtful, for during a lull in the questioning he said:

Political Ethics Defined by National Body.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—[Special.] The American Bar association at its annual meeting here today gave implied approval to the action of the Chicago Bar association in expelling four judges and censuring nine others for improper political activities.

The association's action consisted of the adoption by its assembly and later by its house of delegates, in each case by a unanimous vote, of a resolution reaffirming canon 28 of its canons of judicial ethics, which declares it unethical for a judge to take part in partisan politics.

While the Chicago judges were not mentioned by name, the circumstances under which the resolution was adopted left no doubt that it was directed at them.

Offered by Chicagoan.

The resolution was introduced by former Judge Charles M. Thomson, as president of the Chicago Bar association, and copies of the Chicago report expelling and censuring the judges were made available to the national body's committee on resolutions, which recommended passage of the resolution to the assembly.

That report, issued on June 11, announced the expulsion from the association of Judges Harry M. Fisher, James J. Kelly, Oscar F. Nelson, and John J. Sullivan for "flagrant violation of canon 28, repudiation of the generally accepted standards of their office and publicly expressed unwillingness to recognize these standards."

The same report censured Judges Joseph P. McGarry, Roman E. Posanski, Francis Borrelli, Joseph Burke, James F. Fardy, Cornelius J. Harrington, Frank M. Padden, Daniel F. Trude, and J. M. Braude. "Mitigating circumstances" were mentioned in the cases of Judges Trude and Braude.

As a result of the bar association's action, forty judges of the Circuit and Superior courts withdrew from the association on the ground that it was "incompatible with the proper performance of their judicial duties for judges to be subservient to any group of lawyers practicing in their respective courts."

Text of Resolution.

The resolution passed today stated: "Whereas, the American Bar association has heretofore adopted certain canons of judicial ethics and among them canon 28 providing as follows:

"'PARTISAN POLITICS: While entitled to his personal views of political question and while not required to surrender his rights and opinions as a citizen, it is inevitable that suspicion of being warped by political bias will attach to a judge who becomes the active promoter of the interests of one political party as against another. He should avoid making political speeches, making or soliciting payment of assessments or contributions to party funds, the public endorsement of candidates for political office and participation in political conventions.'

"'He should neither accept nor retain a place on any party committee nor act as a party leader, nor engage generally in partisan activities.'

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the American Bar association that:

"1. We reaffirm our action heretofore taken in adopting canon 28 of the canons of judicial ethics, believing it to set forth the best view of the bench and bar of this country on the subject of the participation of judges in politics; and

"2. We call upon all members of the American bar, whether they be members of this association or not, to cooperate with every proper effort to maintain the standard of judicial conduct set forth in said canon."

Dropped After 18 Years.

By coincidence Thomson's judicial career was ended by partisan politics, but with himself in the reverse position of the judges who were censured in June. In 1927, after eighteen years on the bench, he was dropped from the coalition judicial tickets arranged by the Republican and Democratic parties and failed of reelection when he ran as an independent.

The hottest fight of today's session given over to consideration of report of the resolutions committee resulted in the assembly's refusal, by a vote of 211 to 166, to indorse a WPA legal research project. Speakers made it plain that their opposition to the resolution of indorsement was based on their determination not to indorse the policies of the Roosevelt administration. However, when the President's name was brought into the debate by Edwin A. Krauthoff of Washington, D. C., President William L. Ransom of the association ruled Krauthoff out of order.

The assembly also refused to pass resolutions favoring amendment of the constitution "to permit congress to enact laws for the social and economic welfare of the people"; calling for a special committee to investigate attacks on civil liberties. The resolutions committee recommended that the civil liberties resolution be defeated on the ground that it contained improper allegations of fact.

Still Against Labor Law.

Advocates of the long pending child labor amendment to the federal constitution made an effort to reverse the policy of the association, which for several years had had a committee to oppose ratification, but were defeated by a vote of 233 to 109.

The report of the committee, which was accepted, noted "some rejuvenation of pressure and activity in favor of ratification" in some states.

"Two factors may be primarily responsible therefor," the report stated, "first, the active part being taken by the President of the United States and members of his government; secondly, the fatuous hope on the part of some of the unemployed of bettering their chances of getting a job by removing from employment any class of persons by any possible device whatsoever, entirely oblivious, of course, of the principle involved.

"If ratification is withheld until the country has again returned to normal conditions, danger of ratification will have passed."

Stinchfield Is Nominated.

State delegates to the meeting today nominated Frederick W. Stinchfield of Minneapolis for president of the association. The election will be held by the assembly tomorrow morning.

At the annual dinner tonight John W. Davis, New York lawyer who was the Democratic nominee for President in 1924, pleaded that the English speaking peoples stand shoulder to shoulder in resisting the advance of communism and fascism. He extended the greetings of the association to two foreign guests who followed him on the speaker's rostrum. They were Lord Wright of London, lord of appeal in ordinary and master of the rolls, and Leonard W. Brockington K. C. of Winnipeg.

"There lies before us a common task only to be discharged by common effort," said Mr. Davis. "Toward the end of the world war in 1918 I met in Paris Gen. Tasker H. Bliss who represented the United States on the Supreme war council of the allies. I asked him how long the war would last.

"'Thirty years,' he replied. 'This episode will soon be over, but the war will last for thirty years.'

Sects of Common Creed.

"Regardless of whether Gen. Bliss was right in the military sense, a war of ideas is sweeping the world. A new religion has come—as truly new as many which appear on the pages of the past—a new religion whose God is the state. Communism and fascism are merely sects of a common creed in which the state is all, the citizen nothing. They are alike in their hate of democracy.

"We may find ourselves in another field facing the zealots of this new religion which is sweeping across the world. We of the English speaking world are the keepers of the citadel. God forbid that in a moment of despair we should open the gates to the enemy."

POLLEN COUNT JUMPS TO NEW HIGH FOR YEAR

Sun and wind combined to raise the ragweed pollen count in Chicago to 366 grains per cubic yard of air for the 24 hour period ended at 5 p. m. yesterday. This was the highest count of the year so far, sufficient to cause acute discomfort to hay fever sufferers. O. C. Durham of the Abbott laboratories, which makes the count from slides exposed in the loop, with the coöperation of the United States weather bureau, said that dry, windy weather speeds ragweed pollination.

On Wednesday, because of the settling effect of the rain, the count was only 8 grains per cubic yard. On Tuesday it was 86.

ELGIN WOMAN, 105 TODAY, TO BE FETED AT PARTY

Mrs. Calista Fowler, a resident of Elgin for the last 60 years, will celebrate her 105th birthday today in the Elgin Old People's home, where she has lived for a quarter of a century. The Ladies' Aid society of Grace Methodist church in Elgin will give Mrs. Fowler a party in the home this afternoon.

Mrs. Fowler said yesterday that her chief hope at present is to live past the fall election so that she can vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon for President. She has been a lifelong Republican.

Born in Conneaut, Pa., Mrs. Fowler came west in 1847. In 1852 she was married to Milo C. Fowler of Batavia. Her husband died two years later, and Mrs. Fowler did not remarry. She attributes her longevity to "hard work, church work, no worries, and minding my own business."

300 MINERS BEGIN THIRST STRIKE; NO FOOD IN 4 DAYS

BEUTHEN, Polish Upper Silesia, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Three hundred miners, at the close of their fourth day of a hunger strike deep down the shaft of a coal mine, tonight sent word to the top that they would "not take another drop of water" until their back wages had been paid. Daily the miners chant a "Hymn of Sorrow" up the shaft.

The miners, near exhaustion after their four days in darkness working without tasting a bite of food, sent up the following message: "After ten days' strike and four days without food, we pledge an appeal to God's human love, and justice not to take another drop of water. We fight on for our wives and children." The message also demanded that certain mine officials be discharged. The hunger strikers set a table on which were only green twigs. The miners swore they would not come up until their overdue wages were placed on this table.

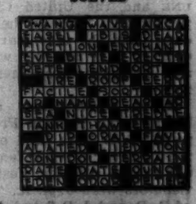
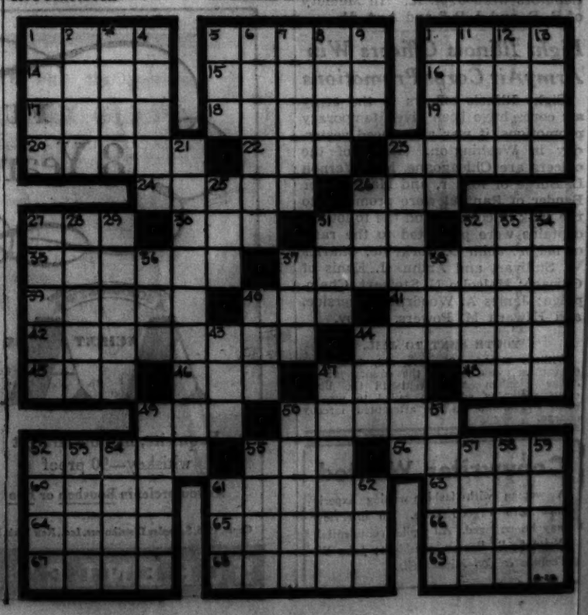
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





RUSSIA CALLS ON SONS TO SPY ON DADS IN 'PURGE'

New Red Wave of Terror Gains Momentum.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 27.—Bolshevism's new wave of terror, inaugurated by the execution of sixteen convicted counter revolutionary plotters, including the one time powerful Gregory Zinoviev and Leon Kamenev, is gathering momentum, according to today's Moscow Pravda. The newspaper announces the revival of spying methods developed by the dreaded Cheka in the early days of the bolshevik revolution.

The official communist party newspaper urges every son to spy upon his father, and every worker to spy upon his neighbor.

"Better Spy, Better Red."

"The better spy you are, the better communist you prove yourself," the paper adds. "That Fascist dog, Leon Trotzky, is still alive. "He will continue to send his agents to Russia. They must be discovered and exterminated.

"Unceasing vigilance is necessary in order to wipe out opposition to Josef Stalin. The communist party will continue this cruel class war as a dire necessity until all our enemies are either dead or exiled."

Raids upon the homes of suspects and arrests are being made throughout Russia. The Moscow press is publishing reports daily of new groups of Trotzkyists being discovered and taken into custody.

The total number of arrests during the past three weeks has not been made public by the soviet commissariat of interior—the former OGPU [secret police]. It has announced an average of four captives in each report and has mentioned others in custody.

Cotton Failure Laid to Plotters.

[Copyright, 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—Soviet Russia's elaborate efforts to become independent of cotton imports, of which it purchased $9,000,000 worth from the United States last year, has been sabotaged by counter revolutionary elements linked to the factions of Leon Trotsky, Gregory Zinoviev, and Leon Kamenev, it was charged today by the commissariat of agriculture.

The principle blame for the failure to come up to expectations was laid to Isaac Reingold, who was executed Monday.

Thus last year's good crop was cut down by a quarter of a million bales by being picked while green and being stored in the open, causing much of it to rot.

Canals Break Down.

Some of the worst sabotage is alleged to have been in middle Asia where irrigations are being introduced on a large scale. New canals across desert regions were so constructed they soon broke down and canals in other regions, according to the charges, were deliberately misused causing the flooding of large areas with salt water, ruining the land and forming malarial swamps.

Since the dismissal of Reingold and his favorites from the cotton administration the situation has rapidly improved, damaged land has been reclaimed and larger production is being obtained, the commissariat of agriculture claims. It is too early to tell yet, however, how big a buyer of American cotton Russia will be in coming year.

GET PETITIONS SIGNED FOR VOTE ON TIME NOV. 3

Petitions signed by nearly 1,000,000 voters asking that three questions on regulation of time for Chicago be placed on the ballot on Nov. 3 are to be filed with the election board next week, Thomas D. Garry, appointed by Mayor Kelly to circulate the petitions, said yesterday. Under the law, the petitions must bear 411,000 signatures. The filing deadline is Sept. 4.

The questions would offer Chicago a choice of the present permanent daylight time, summer daylight time, or central time the year round. City officials and political leaders have been circulating the petitions in the 30 wards. Nearly 500,000 now have signed the petitions, Mr. Garry said.

Voters in the thirty-sixth precinct of the Seventh ward yesterday filed a petition with City Clerk Peter J. Brady, calling for a wet and dry referendum in the precinct on Nov. 3. Under the present state law, taverns can be abolished in any precinct, as existing in 1932, by vote of the residents of the precinct. The 1932 boundaries of the thirty-sixth precinct were Phillips avenue on the west from 73d to 75th street; 75th street east to Kingston avenue, Kingston north to 74th street, 74th street east to Exchange avenue, and Exchange avenue north to 73d street.

Admits Attempt to Seize Girl's Purse; 2 Others Held

John Mitchell, 23 years old, 3218 North Cicero avenue, a bartender, admitted to the Cragin police yesterday that he and two companions attacked Miss Catherine Moran, 22 years old, 2210 North La Crosse avenue, near her home on Wednesday. He was booked on charges of assault, attempted larceny, and attempted rape. His companions, who fled but later were arrested in their homes, were booked on charges of attempted larceny. They are Russell Linc, 21 years old, 3103 Eddy street, also a bartender, and Edward Schaar, 22, of 2832 North Major avenue, a gasoline station attendant.

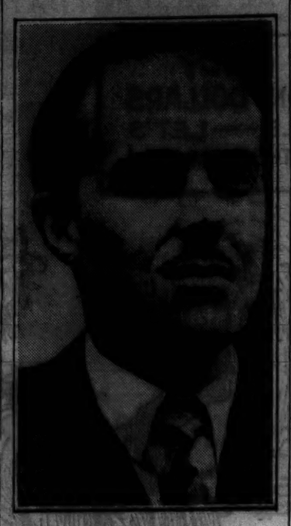
GIVEN BLOOD



COUNT OF COVADONGA.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The count of Covadonga, former heir to the throne of Spain, received a transfusion today in the Presbyterian hospital, where he was taken yesterday suffering from uncontrolable bleeding after what might have been a minor surgical operation in his hotel room except that he is a sufferer from hemophilia, a condition in which the blood fails to clot.

Late tonight attending physicians issued a bulletin reporting the count was steadily improving and saying the bleeding virtually had stopped.

The count is the eldest son of the former king of Spain. In Switzerland in 1932 he met Edelmira Sampredo-Ocejo y Robato, daughter of a wealthy Cuban merchant. They were married in 1933, over strenuous objection of the king and, because the prince was wedding a commoner, he had to renounce rights to the throne. The revolution which unseated the king made these rights useless.

The count now is seeking an annulment.

Hemophilia has kept him in the shadow of death throughout his life. He nearly died when a child after the extraction of a tooth. He has had many other narrow escapes because of the condition, which afflicts males of the Battenberg family, being transmitted through the female line, the women not having it.

2D WIFE ALSO WINS ALIMONY FROM PUBLISHER

Cecil R. Francis, 2136 Lincoln Park West, secretary of the Trade Periodical company, was ordered yesterday by Master in Chancery Samuel B. Epstein to pay $15 a week temporary alimony to Mrs. Florence Francis, 28 years old, 1252 Albion avenue, his former secretary, pending settlement of her separate maintenance suit.

Through his attorney, John Tyrrell, the publisher said he is paying $50 a week alimony to his first wife, Mrs. Irma Francis, 544 Surf street, who twice divorced him. Their last divorce occurred, he said, four days previous to his marriage last June 1 to his second wife.

Attorney Norman Becker, counsel for the second Mrs. Francis, said Francis had deserted his client after living with her for only a month and a half.

"My client not only lost her job," Attorney Becker said, "but the $80 alimony she was receiving from her first husband was reduced to $50 to care only for their two children because of her marriage to Francis."

Attorney Tyrrell charged Mrs. Francis had been discharged after sending letters to her husband, his mother, Mrs. E. A. Francis, owner of the periodical company, and her husband's attorney in which she termed Francis an "apron string appendage."

GIRL RADICAL, 21, DECLARED SANE; HEARING TODAY

Eleanor Swimmer, 21 years old, who was arraigned on a disorderly charge Wednesday after she was arrested with George Rozas, 28 years old, a Mexican, was declared sane yesterday by Dr. David B. Rotman, Municipal court psychiatrist.

A mental examination of Eleanor was ordered by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Women's court after the girl's mother, Mrs. Theodore Swimmer, 7258 Yates avenue, collapsed in court when Eleanor refused to quit her radical associates and return home.

Mrs. Swimmer told the court that she and her husband "scrimped and saved" to send the girl to the University of Chicago in 1931, where she was influenced by a student radical group and left home. Eleanor was being held at the Bridewell yesterday under bond of $1,500 for a continuation of the hearing before Judge Hermes today.

CATHOLICS OFFER TO HELP HITLER IN WAR ON REDS

Dictator Urged to Make Peace with Church.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Using the Bolshevist danger to the world as their cue, Catholic bishops of Germany who are meeting in the historic cathedral of Fulda, today wrote a pastoral letter to Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

They appealed to him to make peace with the Roman Catholic church, to forget past differences and to allow the church to coöperate with him to "fight the ever increasing threat of world Bolshevism which is showing its sinister hand in Spain, Russia, and Mexico."

The bishops offered their coöperation because, they said, "rifles and machine guns are not enough to fight the bolshevist scourge of humanity. A firm weltanschauung [philosophy of life] is needed to insure victory, which can only be gained by true religious education."

Touches Lightly on Trials.

The pastoral letter touched lightly on trials and convictions of monks and nuns accused of smuggling currency and the immoral conduct cases being tried at Coblenz. It appealed to the government to consider these as offenses of small groups of individuals who form only a tiny percentage of the great Catholic organization, "which is eager to coöperate with the state."

The letter will be read from the pulpits of all Catholic churches in Germany next Sunday.

The main differences of opinion between Hitler and the Catholic bishops involve education of children and religious associations of workers.

Catholics assert the concordat Hitler signed with the Vatican entitles them to a share of influence in the education of Catholic children and that Nazi authorities deprived them of their rightful share.

Forced to Quit Clubs.

The question of workers is more complicated. In the Ruhr and other Catholic districts, Catholic workers belonged to Catholic clubs. They suddenly found themselves in a quandary when the Labor Front, to which all workers and employes in Germany must belong if they hope to gain employment and advancement, ruled that members of religious clubs would not be tolerated in its ranks. The church vainly appealed against this rule and thousands of workers left religious associations to safeguard their livelihood.

German-Italian Front Reported.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Rome correspondent for Le Matin reported today a secret meeting at which Germans and Italians prepared for a united front against the spread of communism in Europe.

The Rightist newspaper's correspondent said the meeting was held in Rome between representatives of the German National Socialist [Nazi] party and Italian Fascists. He said the parley was inspired by the political situation in France, which Germans and Italians feared might result in a "régime of Moscow."

The representatives proposed, he said, to draw up an agreement to form the basis of joint Italo-German action should the affairs of France appear to them to be approaching a "grave crisis."

Thirty-two leaders of the youth movement in Poland, known as Harcerstwo Polskie, who are visiting in Chicago, will place wreaths on the Lincoln monument in Lincoln park, the Kosciusko monument in Humboldt park, and the world war memorial monument in St. Adalbert's cemetery this afternoon.

At 3:30 p. m. tomorrow officers of Polish-American organizations here will speak at a meeting near the Kosciusko monument. A farewell dinner and public reception for the visitors will be held in the Polish Women's Alliance building, 1309 North Ashland avenue, tomorrow night.

Eugene Sikorski is chairman of the visiting delegation. Yesterday the visitors conferred with William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, and others.

J. W. HARRIMAN, N. Y. EX-BANKER, LEAVES PRISON

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Joseph W. Harriman, 72, left the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., this morning and returned to New York City healthier, heavier and apparently happier than when he was taken to prison July 9, 1934. He served more than two years on his sentence of four and one-half years for falsifying records to the amount of $1,713,000 and misapplying and misappropriating $600,000 more in the defunct Harriman National Bank and Trust company, which he headed.

It was said by persons close to his family that after a short rest Mr. Harriman would seek a position teaching finance and other business subjects.

His freedom is conditional—he is in the custody of the federal parole system until the end of his full term.

WIFE NO. 1 SAVES HIM FROM PRISON ON BIGAMY COUNT

Lee M. Maager, 32 years old, 825 North Ashland avenue, avoided a prison term on plea of guilty to a bigamy charge yesterday when his first wife, Esmeralda Tremp Maager, 6548 Cornelia avenue, pleaded with Judge Michael Feinberg, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, that she did not want to disgrace their child, Charlene, 6 years old. "I don't care about him and I don't want to see him again or to have our child see him," she said. "But I don't want the father of our child to be a convict. Please let him go."

Judge Feinberg then put Maager on probation for two years.

Maager married his first wife on June 30, 1929, and left her two years ago, according to the charge. Last July 4 he married Catherine Biancrat at Crown Point, Ind.

Reveal Second Marriage of Attorney James Burke

The marriage last Tuesday of James M. Burke, 49 years old, Chicago attorney, and Miss Yvonne La Hale, 27 years old, was disclosed yesterday by Justice of the Peace William Hutchison of Blue Island, who performed the ceremony. Attorney Burke was divorced last Jan. 6 by Ellen Burke, 7543 Lafayette avenue.

"THANKS TO THESE DEVELOPMENTS."

The Russians who have advised all American radical groups to support Mr. Roosevelt started out with a Roosevelt of their own. Kerensky was the revolutionary under whom the czar was overthrown. When Lenin, in exile, always waiting and always writing, heard that Kerensky was in authority he started for the frontier.

The bolshevists did not strike at once. To do so would spoil their plans. They waited for Kerensky to prepare the ground for them, knowing that he would. When Lenin was sure the hour had come his armed followers poured out of their quarters. Kerensky fled and the terror began.

Liquidation is the revolutionary word for the extermination of opposing classes. The Spanish are liquidating each other now. Lenin's Russians liquidated not only the czar's family and the aristocracy, but the middle class, the more industrious and prosperous farmers, the intellectuals and professional classes, the small shop keepers and property owners. Kerensky was the key in their door.

In indorsing Mr. Roosevelt the Russians advise their followers and sympathizers that the soviets do not intend to stand responsible for his actions. They think he will build up the front which the dictatorship of the proletariat can take over. The Russians do not believe in subsidized idleness, but in enforced labor. But if the first produces general want, scarcity of needed commodities, prices beyond the reach of many people and fear for the immediate future the advance of enforced labor may be rapid. People who take government checks for doing nothing may later take government orders for doing everything. That is the way the Russians look at the situation and it is their game. They followed it through from the beginning to the end at home. They know what to expect and they are confidently expecting it.

The Rooseveltians have proved that they can destroy but not produce. "In order to succeed," says the communist manifesto on America, "a labor party must be founded which could develop a people's front in America against capitalists and bourgeoisie." Mr. Roosevelt earns support for his work particularly against the bourgeoisie. We might as well recognize that for the time being we have a class conscious society. It is a deplorable thing, but it has been forced against every true American instinct. That it should be so is a communist triumph. There can't be a class war until there is class consciousness.

The bourgeoisie is the middle class, the average property owner who has saving and checking accounts, who buys securities, parcels of land and life insurance, who pays taxes and is the most easily hurt by the government he supports.

The Russians know that if Mr. Roosevelt liquidates, in their own term, this class, democracy is dead. They also know that Mr. Roosevelt's planned economy strikes directly and savagely at this class. Debts, currency manipulation, taxes, reduced incomes, increased expenditures and inflated costs will destroy the security and the sustenance of the people who give the nation its stability.

"Thanks to these developments," said the Russian manifesto, "communism is penetrating more deeply into the United States and is beginning to play a stronger and deeper rôle in the entire political life of the country."

JESSE OWENS, AMATEUR.

Mr. J. Lyman Bingham, assistant to the president of the Amateur Athletic union, has attempted to justify the suspension of Jesse Owens from amateur competition. Mr. Bingham's letter will be found in the Voice of the People. It is a reply to a recent editorial on this page.

Mr. Bingham quotes the A. A. U. rule. When an athlete has entered his name for a particular competition and then changes his mind, as Mr. Owens did about the Scandinavian junket, he is liable to discipline. There is no question about that being the rule. The question is whether such a rule is compatible with any rational theory of amateurism. On that point Mr. Bingham has little to offer.

He defends the regulation by reference to THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournaments. He could not have chosen a more unfortunate illustration for his purpose. Neither THE TRIBUNE nor any considerable number of the spectators cares a whoop whether each athlete who has filed an entry blank actually appears. The boys, being amateurs, compete for fun and glory. The huge attendance, year after year, is attributable to that fact and no other. If a boy who has entered is not on hand when his bout is called that is presumed to be his business—as it unquestionably is—and there are no hard feelings. The number of nonappearances is, of course, very small, but that is not because of the A. A. U. rule, as Mr. Bingham naïvely supposes. It is because the boys want to compete. They have the real amateur spirit.

The A. A. U. rule was not aimed at them. It was aimed at the prima donnas of amateur sport who are professionals in everything but name. It was calculated to assure the sale of tickets for tennis tournaments, invitation track meets, and kindred box office specialties. The primary intent of the rule was not to promote the amateur spirit [which it directly opposes] but to promote the promotion of contests among demi-amateurs.

So much for the main contention. In addition it may be observed from Mr. Bingham's letter that the moguls of amateurism had considerable leeway in disciplining Mr. Owens. He had "rendered himself liable to censure or suspension." A mere verbal reprimand would therefore have sufficed. Suspension was not mandatory, yet it was imposed. Mr. Owens, during many years of competition, has always conducted himself with propriety; he was the outstanding hero of the Olympic games, and he might reasonably be expected to need rest after his strenuous campaign, but these considerations did not carry much weight with Mr. Brundage and his associates when they fixed the punishment.

It was important to Sweden, says Mr. Bingham by way of explanation. We know who Mr. Owens is, but who is Sweden?

POLITICS AND A GREAT UNIVERSITY.

The political assault and battery on the University of Wisconsin by the La Follette controled regents has become something more than a not very adroit attempt to ease President Glenn Frank out of his job. The effort to place a political appointee in the school of agriculture over the protests of President Frank and Dean C. L. Christensen reveals itself as a La Follette step to make political jobholders of the university employés, including the numerous county agents.

It is a strategy taken directly from the New Deal. Secretary Wallace repeatedly has made agricultural advisers serve as emissaries of the AAA and the political agents of the administration.

President Frank will have the support of every one who has the honest interests of free education at heart, although the sentiment may be less of sympathy for him than resentment at the effrontery of the governor and his appointees on the board.

The regents lacked the courage to go through with their program and withdrew their nominee in favor of Warren W. Clark, Dean Christensen's selection. He was given the job without title or appointment. The action indicates that the regents' efforts have not been abandoned and may be tried again when the outlook is more promising.

Gov. La Follette by the appointment of regents has taken complete control of the university board, and Frank, one time a La Follette favorite, has been under almost continuous attack. His salary has been cut, his budget killed, and he has been humiliated and set down repeatedly by the board. It has been clearly recognized as an effort to force him out of the university by making his position intolerable.

The determination to get rid of Frank keeps alive the speculation that La Follette wants the job for himself despite the governor's denials that that is his purpose.

The La Follette ambition to become a presidential candidate is well known. He faces the possibility of defeat for reëlection this year, which would be a fatal blow to his larger political desire. The place Frank now occupies would afford means and leisure to make the speaking tours of which he is so fond and it would not have the hazard of a complete setback that a political defeat would mean.

Whether it is to provide himself a sinecure as head of the school or to make the university part of his political organization the governor has done the university and the state incalculable harm by the appointments which made possible the goings on of the last few months.

The University of Wisconsin was created at a cost of many millions of the taxpayers' money. It has a history of unselfishness and service of its faculty second to none. It is a university of all the people. It should be one of the state's greatest assets.

It is too valuable and too near the hearts of all the people to let it be made either a football for a La Follette ambition or a machine for his political advancement to absolute control of Wisconsin.

MATANUSKA, ONCE MORE.

[Peoria Transcript.]

One of the most dramatic and not the least significant of the New Deal's experiments was the Matanuska venture. American citizens, most of them of Norwegian extraction, were sent to build an Alaskan town as a relief measure. They were supposed to be pioneers. It appears that most of them were merely looking for Santa Claus.

Widely publicized at the time the experiment was inaugurated, it has faded from the front pages with almost a planned economy. New Dealers have little, if anything, to say about Matanuska.

But there is a newspaper up there; it bears the appropriate name of the Matanuska Valley Pioneer. It is published weekly in Palmer, Alaska. Copies of it have drifted south and reveal the inherent weakness of the transplanting idea. Friction has developed between old settlers who went to Alaska voluntarily and carved farms out of the wilderness without government aid, and those colonists who were transported there bag and baggage some thirteen months ago and provided with ready made homes, community conveniences and credit at government stores.

This would mean nothing if it were not for the fact that the colonists are themselves more vocal in their protests against the old settlers than the old settlers are in their criticism of the newcomers. It was natural for the older residents to resent the newcomers. The latter had it too easy. But for the most part the complaints are those of people who were given generous government aid. They feel that the valley is theirs, given them by a prodigal government, and that the older residents are little better than squatters whose work and effort was not a part of the holy cause of relief.

In this the Matanuska colonists do not differ materially from the folks back home. Here, as in Matanuska, there is an element of our citizenry which takes the position that any criticism of relief work is unethical, if not unpatriotic. No thoughtful person denies the necessity for relief or the need of jobs, but acknowledgment of this fact is not enough to please sob sisters of the New Deal humanitarianism. They go further. They not only insist that the nation acknowledge the need for relief, but, like the Matanuska colonists, resent any criticism of the method by which relief shall be given.

It seems pretty clear that the Matanuska experiment was a failure from the relief standpoint, however successful it may prove to be as a colonizing venture.

Recognition that some of the other relief projects also are flops is suggested by the fact that the Matanuska colonists are not contented.

LOOKING BACKWARD, we discern that Judge Thompson of Hometown was the pioneer enunciator of a financial policy now in favor with Undersecretary Swivel and his co-workers in the golden vineyards. The judge was honest and solvent, but careless about his financial affairs. His account at the Drovers' bank was frequently overdrawn. One day, when the judge received a formal notice that things were thus again, he sat down and wrote his good friend, the cashier, a snippy letter. "If you do not quit worrying me about my overdraft," his reply stated, "I will take my overdraft and move it to another bank, even if I have to hire a truck to haul it in."

In breathless urge to dare life's unfound way—

We are the winds that call you from your dreaming
To sail the turquoise vastness of our day;
Your cirrus beauty we would mold as clay
Insentient drawn to our desire, and streaming

With latent loveliness of pure delight;
You are the hush before the burst of thunder,
That rends a frustrate power, has torn asunder
The doubting fears and warnings of the night.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

My father in his youth lived in the dairy district of New York state. The local store was kept by Mr. Brown, who was shrewd but illiterate. Of course he gave credit and, to refresh his memory, often drew sketches of the articles purchased from him. Once, when a customer came in to pay his bill, Brown went over the account, item by item, with him. They came to a drawing that looked like a big O. "One cheese," said Brown; "that's $1.42." The customer protested that he had never bought a cheese from Brown. "Why should I?" he demanded. "I've a cheese factory of my own and have thousands to sell." Brown was mystified. They both pondered a little and then the customer remembered—he had bought a grindstone from the merchant. "Thunder!" said Brown, "it was a grindstone. I forgot, when I made the picture, to put a hole in it."

DIET IN HEART FAILURE.

WHILE diet is not a cure-all, it constitutes nevertheless a factor of real importance in many disease conditions. For example, we know how essential certain elements are and we realize that the body can be placed in a deplorably weakened state if specific foods are lacking. Deprive it of vitamin A for a relatively short time and symptoms will appear.

In heart trouble, while foods are not in themselves curative, yet the wrong kind may be given and in amounts that are too large. In the event of heart failure, with the patient struggling for breath, with the liver considerably enlarged, and physical weakness dominating the picture, there is a manifest desire to supply nourishing food. Members of the family will feel that everything should be done to "build up" the sufferer; that he should be fed generously to help him gain strength. The fact is that exactly the opposite procedure should be adopted. The best plan is either bold starvation for a day or two or a very simple diet [that of Karell], consisting of six ounces of skimmed milk at 8 a. m., noon, 4 p. m., and 8 p. m.

That distinguished heart expert, the late Sir James Mackenzie, warned all of his patients that injudicious feeding may be harmful. The reason, of course, is clear. Blood is required for the digestion of food, and whenever the heart muscle is not functioning up to par the circulation of the intestinal tract is interfered with. Furthermore, less oxygen reaches the tissues and it is merely common sense to place no greater load upon the digestive process [which demands blood] than is absolutely necessary.

There is no danger that the patient will weaken unduly under this regimen. Entirely deprived of food, the body can carry on for a week or more without damage. It is perfectly allowable to lose 10 per cent of the body weight within from two to four weeks whenever the output of the heart is subnormal. A desirable situation frequently ensues—namely, the pulse rate is slowed and the blood pressure lowered.

A recent series of observations made by S. H. Proger and others showed that absolute bed rest coupled with a greatly reduced dietary was followed by excellent results. The total daily allowance at the beginning of treatment was approximately one-fourth the normal requirement and was made up of skimmed milk, one moderate helping of lean meat, cottage cheese, whole wheat bread, two vegetables, and fruit. As soon as improvement was noted the diet was increased gradually to approximately two-thirds of the active body needs.

On this reduced program but little fluid was demanded, which assisted the elimination of water from the tissues. This was quite in keeping with the usual program of water restriction in heart cases. During the partial starvation period the regular heart remedies were administered—digitalis chiefly.

The weakness that followed was not without its compensations. The patient was less inclined to activity; more willing to rest quietly. Those who complained of a feeling of exhaustion were assured that it was merely a safeguard set up for their benefit. As soon as the calories were increased, weakness disappeared and the gain in strength ran parallel with the increase in power of the heart muscle.

Sometimes heart victims will show a considerable loss of weight before muscle failure develops, and the report suggests that this may be nature's effort to lighten the load so that the remaining tissue bulk can be nourished even though the heart is weak.

The lesson seems to be clear—namely, that food can add to the labor of a distressed heart and that it is wise not to attempt to supply the full quota of nourishment.

The dietary reduction was continued for from two to four weeks, and in each of the cases cited the heart picked up markedly as long as the low weight level was persisted in. This was not true, however, if the patient permitted himself to return to his normal standard.

SPLINTER MAY TRAVEL.

Mrs. W. writes: A splinter and some steel filings entered my finger. Do you think that such bodies could travel to the thumb and cause infection there and travel back to the fingers and cause infection in that area?

REPLY.

Foreign bodies can travel short distances in the tissues. This is due to movements of muscles, i. e., their contraction and relaxation. In your case, bits of steel probably entered both your finger and your thumb, resulting in infection in each.

SYMPATHECTOMY.

P. H. writes: What is a sympathectomy? What are the results of a sympathectomy?

REPLY.

1. The surgical removal of a sympathetic nerve, trunk, or depot; for example, the superior cervical sympathetic ganglion.

2. Relief of pain or loss of control of blood vessels. The operation is sometimes performed for Raynaud's or Buerger's disease. The power to constrict blood vessels is thus destroyed. As a result, more blood may flow through them.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28, 1787—In convention. Mr. Sherman from the committee to whom were referred several propositions on the twenty-fifth instant made the following report: That inserted after the fourth clause of the seventh section: "Nor shall any regulation of commerce or revenue give preference to the ports of one state over those of another or oblige vessels bound to or from any state to enter, clear or pay duties in another and all tonnage, duties, imports, and excises laid by the legislature shall be uniform throughout the United States." Ordered to lie on the table. Article XI., section 4, was so amended without dissent as to read: "The trial of all crimes [except in cases of impeachment] shall be by jury and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state then the trial shall be at such place or places as the legislature may direct." The object of this amendment was to provide for trial by jury of offenses committed out of any state.

A Favorable Crisis to Crush Paper Money

Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina, urging the propriety of securing the benefit of the habeas corpus in the most ample manner, moved that it be not suspended but on the most urgent occasions and then only for a limited time, not exceeding twelve months. Mr. Rutledge of South Carolina was for declaring the habeas corpus inviolable. He did not conceive that a suspension could ever be necessary at the same time through all the states. Mr. Gouverneur Morris moved "that the privilege shall not be suspended unless where in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." Mr. Wilson doubted whether in any case a suspension could be necessary, as discretion now exists with judges in most important cases to keep in jail or admit to bail. [Mr. Morris' motion was agreed to.]

Article XII. being taken up. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Sherman moved to insert after the words "coin money" the words "nor emit bills of credit nor make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts," making these prohibitions absolute instead of making the measures allowable with the consent of the legislature of the United States. Mr. Gorham of Massachusetts thought the purpose would be as well secured by the provision of article XIII. which makes the consent of the legislature necessary and that in that mode no opposition would be excited, whereas an absolute prohibition of paper money would rouse the most desperate opposition from its partisans. Mr. Sherman thought this a favorable crisis for crushing paper money. If the consent of the legislature could authorize emissions of it the friends of paper money would make every exertion to get into the legislature in order to license it. The question being divided, on the first part "nor emit bills of credit"—eight ay, Virginia no, Maryland divided. The remaining part of Mr. Wilson's and Mr. Sherman's motion agreed to without dissent.

Mr. King of Massachusetts moved to add in the words used in the ordinance of congress establishing new states a prohibition on the states to interfere in private contracts. Mr. Gouverneur Morris: This would be going too far. The judicial power of the United States will be a protection in cases within their jurisdiction and within the state itself a majority must rule, whatever may be the mischief done among themselves. Mr. Rutledge moved instead of Mr. King's motion to insert "nor pass bills of attainder nor retrospective laws," on which motion—[seven ay, three no].

URBS IN HORTO.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—There is one janitor in Chicago who has conquered the drouth problem. His vacant lot at the southeast corner of 63d and Blackstone is a model.

Along the west and north sides runs a wire fence flanked by luxuriant bushes of four o'clocks. Against the brick wall which forms the east side of the lot morning glories have been trained, their roots covered by hollyhocks.

The outstanding feature of this corner of beauty is a huge circular flower bed filled to capacity with gorgeous cannas. There are dozens of them, their brilliant red flowers in fitting contrast to the green of their beautiful leaves and the dainty lady slippers which frame them.

Stretching four ways from flower bed to fence is a smooth velvet lawn, close clipped, verdant. One may look in vain for a yellow leaf in that grass grown lot.

Plans are forming for next year to make an even more attractive corner. Between the fence and the four o'clock bushes hollyhock seeds are to be sown. Imagination pictures the contrast; the black wire fence, the low four o'clock bushes, the tall stately hollyhocks with their brilliant flowers nodding in the breeze.

A vote of thanks to the janitor who has created an oasis of beauty in a surrounding of business blocks.

JESSE OWENS, AMATEUR.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Those who read your editorial, "Jesse Owens, Amateur," may be interested in an explanation of the Amateur Athletic union viewpoint, especially in regard to paragraph number three, which says:

"Mr. Owens did not choose to run. That should have ended the matter. He may have agreed at one time to join the junket, but he changed his mind. That is an amateur's privilege. It is what distinguishes him from a professional. As he was to receive nothing for his appearance in Scandinavia, no contract binding him could have existed."

"An athlete who fails to compete after entering an event in a bona fide way, and according to the rules, shall be required to furnish a satisfactory excuse for such failure or render himself liable to censure or suspension by the local registration committee."

This rule, which is necessary in preserving organized amateur sport, does not deprive the athlete of his amateur status, but merely provides for suspension, which may be lifted at any time.

Because the rules of the Amateur Athletic union practically guarantee the appearance of athletes who have entered a competition, the public has learned to rely on statements of the press that athletes so promised will actually compete. An amateur has the privilege of agreeing or refusing to compete. Once he agrees, however, he is under obligation to abide by his agreement.

The necessity for keeping promises to appear may be illustrated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual International boxing tournament. Your sport department promoting the event expects the Amateur Athletic union to protect it against failure of the boys to appear, thereby ruining the show and destroying public confidence in THE TRIBUNE.

It was just as important to Sweden to have Owens appear after he was promised as it is for THE TRIBUNE to fulfill its promises to the public.

HE WANTS A NEW SEWER.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—I am a resident of South Austin, where a new sewer system is badly needed. The neighborhood has outgrown the size of the sewer, laid many years ago, and apparently there is to be nothing done to remedy the situation.

In looking about Chicago and Oak Park there is hardly a street that is not torn up, and upon inquiry one is told that a new sewer is being installed. In this connection, not so many months ago we were informed through the newspapers that new sewers were to be built in all sections of the city, thereby overcoming the dreaded flooded basements occurring after heavy rains. But what has become of the program for South Austin? I can't see why any section should be favored over another when the improvement is being paid for with a federal grant. D. F. Gritting.

AUTO INSPECTION LAW.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please give me an answer to this problem which is bothering me and a great many other people in Chicago? The state of Illinois requires all owners of automobiles to have a state license and the Chicago laws require a city license. In looking over a copy of the Illinois drivers' laws it also calls for all automobiles to be equipped with two lights pointed in the direction of travel and one red light pointed in the opposite direction of travel. As for the brakes, it calls for all cars to be able to stop in thirty feet at a speed of twenty miles per hour. Now what I am interested in knowing is if a car lives up to the above requirements and still fails to pass the new safety test inspection lane, can the city of Chicago legally rule your car off the street and place the owner under arrest? This is something that probably causes a great deal of concern to a great many drivers in Chicago and I will appreciate an answer through your column. J. G.

We have seen no serious question raised as to the legality of the inspection requirement and we see no reason to doubt its being sustained.

COUPLE KILLED IN GARY WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR

Jeweler and Wife Are Crossing Victims.

Harrison Huff, 47 years old, and his wife, Anna, 33, of 1034 Oklahoma street, Gary, were killed last night when a Wabash railroad freight train struck their automobile at the Aetna street crossing in Gary. Mrs. Huff was dead when taken from the wrecked car. Her husband died shortly after being taken to Mercy hospital in Gary.

The Aetna street crossing is unguarded. At this point the railroad tracks parallel highways 12 and 20. Witnesses said Huff evidently was watching the heavy highway trafic and neglected to look out for trains. Huff was the manager of a Gary jewelry store.

Child, 2, Is Killed.

George Acker Jr., 2 years old, 2742 Seminary avenue, was killed last evening when he ran from behind a perked car against the side of a truck and fell beneath the rear wheels. Sam Nosanov, 34 years old, 3001 North Spaulding avenue, owner of a furniture moving concern, driver of the truck, was held by the police for the inquest this morning.

Charles C. Routh, 79 years old, 3843 Bernard street, a retired furrier, died yesterday in the Belmont hospital from injuries incurred Monday night when he was struck at Grace street and Elston avenue by a livery hearse driven by William Nelson, 30 years old, 3114 West 67th street.

Dies of Injuries.

William A. Bassett, 75 years old, 5318 North Ashland avenue, a retired watchman, died in the Edgewater hospital from injuries suffered on Wednesday when he was struck by a car driven by Louis Hohstadter, 4741 West Lake street, at Ashland and Berwyn avenues. Hohstadter was instructed to appear for the inquest today.

Mrs. Mary Ciro, 55 years old, 867 Sedgwick street, was critically injured and three other persons were less seriously hurt last night when two automobiles collided at Cermak road and Cottage Grove and Indiana avenues. The other victims were her daughter, Marie, 34 years old; her son, James, 30, and her son-in-law, Michael Cardone, 36, of 516 North Ogden avenue, driver of one of the cars. Police arrested Paul Gordon, 45 years old, 3933 Drexel boulevard, a jeweler, driver of the other automobile, after witnesses said he tried to make a left turn in the middle of the triple intersection.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 628 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. During the same period 478 were killed and 11,816 injured by automobiles in Chicago.

U. S. Auto Deaths Rise.

That the nation is headed for another all time trafic death record this year was indicated yesterday when the National Safety council announced automobile fatalities for the last three months have exceeded those for the same period in 1935. The increase practically wipes out the reduction in the number of victims reported during the first four months.

Chicago, with a July total of 48 deaths, reduced its toll 16 below the same month last year, but the city's total for the first seven months of 1936 stood at 415 deaths, the highest mark of any city in the country.

The July trafic toll for the nation was 3,180 deaths, 3 per cent more than in July, 1935, the council reported. Since Jan. 1, a total of 18,560 persons have been killed in the United States, or 2 per cent less than the number of fatalities during the first seven months of 1935. Last year's total of 37,000 deaths set an all time record.

ANTI-JAP DRIVE MUST END, TOKIO WARNS CHINESE

Nanking Gets Blame for Rioting.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—Maj. Gen. Seiichi Kita, Japanese military attaché in China, today delivered a sharp warning to the Chinese republic.

"The time has arrived for the eradication of anti-Japanese sentiment in China which was the basic cause of the rioting at Chengtu this week," he said.

Blames Nanking on Two Counts.

Gen. Kita said that Nanking was responsible for the rioting on two counts:

1. Agitation against opening a Japanese consulate indirectly incited the mob.

2. The failure of Chengtu authorities to protect travelers who had complied with regulations pertaining to visas and permits.

Gen. Kita's statement followed a conference of high military officers here in which Monday's rioting in the Szechwan province capital was discussed.

The Japanese consul of Chungking, Renji Kasuya, confirmed that a Chinese mob killed two Japanese newspaper correspondents and seriously wounded two merchants. The Japanese victims were members of a so-called investigating commission sent to Szechwan following the Chinese government's refusal to other nations, including Japan, the right to open a consulate at Chengtu.

Gen. Ho Kuo-kuang, Chinese chief of staf at Chungking, also described the Chengtu slayings. He said that at 5 p. m. Monday 40 persons stormed a hotel and smashed the door to the room occupied by the two newspaper men. They were beaten with fists, sticks, and stones, dragged to the street, and killed. Their bodies were thrown into a ditch near the city wall.

Consul Ordered to Leave.

Other members of the mob found the merchants, who were beaten unconscious and left lying on the floor. They are in a hospital. Two other Japanese travelers, representing a patent medicine house at Hankow, were not molested, but Eiichi Iwai, newly appointed Japanese consul, was ordered to leave Chengtu immediately.

Simultaneously with the issuance of the Japanese warning that the anti-Japanese campaign must cease, the Nanking government announced the capture and execution of the ring leaders of the Chinese rioters. The names of the leaders were given as Liu Shang-hsien and Hsueh Sheng.

Bandits Kill 21 Japanese.

TOKIO, Aug. 28 [Friday].—(AP)—The Domei [Japanese] news agency reported today that 21 Japanese soldiers had been killed in encounters with Manchukuan bandits in the last two weeks.

Bandits estimated to number 800 were said to have surrounded a Japanese company east of Pinhsien Wednesday and to have fought a night long battle which ended yesterday afternoon when Japanese planes from Hsinking came to the aid of the infantrymen. The Japanese lost 17 dead, including a captain, in this clash, the report said.

In a conflict Monday at Mulan, 150 bandits were reported to have been driven off after a two hour fight in which four Japanese were killed.

Russia Makes New Protest.

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Soviet-Manchukuan border incidents tonight caused the second soviet protest in two days. The eastern department of the foreign office protested to the Japanese chargé d'affaires, Sakoh, against a reported attack upon soviet frontier guards yesterday while they were watering horses in the River Usago near Dunnin on the frontier. Reports from Khabarovsk said Japanese soldiers fired on guards, wounding three and killing one of the horses. Russia demanded severe punishment for those responsible.

JAP DELEGATES TELL VIEWS ON CHINESE ISSUE

Yosemite, Cal., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Japanese delegates told the Institute of Pacific Relations today they did not believe their government would be willing to submit to a tribunal such as the world court any questions involving the nine power treaty. The treaty provides for preservation of Chinese territorial integrity.

Emphasizing they were not speaking for their government, the Japanese said there had been varying interpretations of the treaty and that Japan contended she had not violated the pact.

Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese scholar, in a previous session of the institute, blamed Japan for much of his country's troubles and said China was ready to "fight for her existence."

Dr. Hu's speech and other discussions led the Japanese delegation to ask for a special session of the institute to answer various criticisms against their country. In their answer they contended China had been "unfriendly" and "violent."

GRABER ORDERS JAIL TERMS FOR FIVE MOTORISTS

Five defendants charged with trafic law violations were sentenced to the county jail yesterday by Judge Joseph Graber in the Safety court. They are:

Harold Woodruff, 28 years old, 644 North Lockwood avenue; sentenced to ten days for driving while intoxicated at Slocum street and Melvina avenue on Aug. 13.

Emil Till, 44 years old, 1815 Newcastle avenue; five days for drunk driving near 4952 Montana street on Aug. 10.

Robert L. Evans, 40 years old, 1758 Melvina avenue; five days for leaving the scene of an accident at Cortland street and Spaulding avenue on Aug. 17.

Thomas Scales, 28 years old, colored, 4945 St. Lawrence avenue; five days for driving while intoxicated at Vincennes avenue and 40th street on Wednesday.

WOMAN IS HELD TO GRAND JURY IN AUTO DEATH

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Mrs. Frances Dickler, 35 years old, 1630 Dickson street, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter as a result of the death of Mrs. Julia Joy, 48 years old, 3637 North La Moyne avenue. Mrs. Joy was fatally injured on Aug. 1 when an automobile struck her near her home. Three witnesses testified at the inquest yesterday that they heard Mrs. Dickler admit that her car had struck Mrs. Joy. This was denied at the inquest by Mrs. Dickler.

At the inquest yesterday into the death of Mrs. Noreen Monbrod, 27 years old, 567 Cornelia avenue, who was found fatally injured at Stockton drive near St. James place on Wednesday, after she had been struck by a hit and run driver, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of manslaughter by persons unknown. The park police are searching for the driver of the car.

Not a Laxative

Nujol is an internal lubricant, not a laxative, so cannot gripe. Take Nujol regularly and you will prevent the absorption into the blood of poisons from the constipated bowel.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

REPORT OF NAZI AVIATRIX BEING EXECUTED DENIED

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Reuters News agency tonight denied rumors current in Amsterdam that Thea Rasche, German aviatrix and writer, had been executed as a soviet spy by the German government. A Reuters correspondent spoke to her by telephone at her Berlin apartment tonight, he reported.

[Dispatches from The Hague had stated that Thea Rasche recently had been tried secretly in Berlin on a charge of being a Russian spy, sentenced to death, and executed.]

"I FEEL LIKE GIVING THREE CHEERS for American Family Soap"

—says MRS. ANITA SCHWEITZER

"For years I thought I had to choose between rubbing the life out of my clothes in order to get them white—or, hang out a grayish looking wash. Then a friend of mine urged me to try American Family Soap. I was amazed to see the difference in my clothes. They fairly sparkled, they were so white and clean. Most amazing, I hardly had to rub them at all."

And here's the secret of the amazing success of American Family Soap. Why it makes washing easier, safer, quicker. Laboratory tests proved that American Family contains as much as one-third more suds-making material than other leading laundry soaps sold in this market. And dissolves almost instantly into rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE SUDS." These "DOUBLE SUDS" work doubly fast—float out the grimiest dirt without hard rubbing—and in utter safety to fabrics. That's the miracle of American Family Soap. Why colors stay true. Why ALL washables keep their life and newness much longer. More women in and around Chicago use American Family than any other brand. Start to use American Family Soap and prove, beyond any shadow of doubt, that it is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes.

YES! It's Cheaper to buy Good Soap than New Clothes

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Tasty Soy Beans.

Aug. 27, 1936.

A bumper crop of vegetable varieties of soy beans is being grown this summer in test plots at the Tribune's Wheaton Experimental farm. The first beans picked from the Grant Green variety successfully passed the "acid test" in the kitchen of Mary Meade, cooking editor of THE TRIBUNE.

When the beans were fresh from the field she cooked them in a variety of ways and then served them to "judges." All the different dishes made from the soys were found to be tender and of excellent flavor.

According to the report that came out of Mary Meade's kitchen the taste of soy beans is similar to lima beans or shelled string beans. The cooking editor of THE TRIBUNE says they can be used in all the different ways lima beans are cooked and served. She finds that they will keep in excellent condition for several days in a modern refrigerator.

Hard to Shell.

Miss Meade found that the soy beans have tough hulls and are hard to shell as they come in from the field or garden. She took the beans as they came from the vine and put them in boiling water for exactly five minutes before attempting to shell them. This softened the hulls and then the beans were easily shelled. If kept in the hot water too long the beans become too soft, making shelling difficult.

In making the test the beans were boiled, baked and cooked in butter. The baked beans were cooked with tomato sauce and a little onion for flavor. The beans cooked in butter were favored by several of the judges.

The Grant Green variety is the earliest maturing of the three varieties growing in the Wheaton farm test plots. The beans from this variety have been ready to eat for about two weeks. The plants will now average 28 inches high and are loaded with plump pods. Some of the plants had as many as 75 pods; most of them average about 60 pods to the plant.

Two Others Numbered.

The other two vegetable varieties growing in the plots are identified by numbers—86129 and 8102. Both are at least three weeks later than the Grant Green. The pods are beginning to form, but it will be more than a week before they will be ready to pick. The two numbered varieties are about 32 inches high, or approximately four inches taller than the Grant Green. They have more pods per plant. No. 8102 has as many as 120 on a single plant. Most of them will average between 85 and 90 pods per plant, according to actual counts made yesterday by caretakers. No. 86129 has as many as 112 pods to the plant, averaging about 75.

Growth All But Stopped.

Most of these soy beans have practically stopped growing. The leaves are beginning to take on a yellow tinge. The leaves are beginning to drop off the Grant Green plants. Bottom leaves on all of the vegetable varieties began dropping off more than a month ago, but the upper leaves remained green.

These soy beans developed for table use are maturing earlier than the field varieties. Despite the drouth the beans have made an excellent showing at the Wheaton farm. They may soon come into general use among gardeners in this part of the state when the seeds are made available to home and commercial growers.

GROCERS STOCK COUNTERS WITH LOCAL PRODUCE

Prices Reflect Influx of Fresh Vegetables.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Increasing supplies from truck gardens in the Chicago area are playing an important part in the prices grocers are asking for vegetables this week-end. The quality of these home grown products is improving, but most crops still show the effects of the drouth.

While prices of most fresh vegetables are close to last week's level, food shoppers will find them varying more than usual between the different stores. Some stores have marked their price tags up while others have marked them down on the same items.

Some Staples Are Cheaper.

A few staples and some cuts of meats are cheaper than they were this time last week. Egg prices are lower. Some stores have reduced prices on all grades of eggs 3 cents a dozen. Others have marked down only the cheaper grades of eggs and these only 1 cent a dozen. Butter is 1 cent a pound lower in most stores.

A few staples are higher this week-end. Lard is up 1 cent a pound in many stores and several kinds of cheese are higher. Some stores have added 3 cents a 24½ pound sack to the price of their better grades of flour.

Cabbage prices are lower generally than a week ago. Wholesale prices are lower on a long list of fresh vegetables. Included are spinach, sweet potatoes, cucumbers, bunch beets and carrots, cabbage, fresh tomatoes, cauliflower, and cantaloupes. Apples, watermelons, head lettuce, and fresh peas are higher on the wholesale market.

Fresh Lamb Cuts Featured.

Most city and suburban butcher shops will feature fresh lamb cuts on their bargain counters today and tomorrow. Both lamb chops and leg of lamb are down 4 to 6 cents a pound in many shops.

Pork prices generally are higher than last week-end. Pork loin roasts are up about 2 cents a pound and pork sausage and spare ribs about 3 cents. There have been but few changes in the prices of retail beef cuts.

Both live stock and wholesale meat prices are showing a downward tendency at Union stockyards, according to federal market reporters. A heavy run of beef steers this week forced the prices 25 to 40 cents a hundred pounds lower than a week ago. The better grades of wholesale beef cuts sold steady to weak.

Live Hog Prices Down.

Live hog prices dropped 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds during the week, despite a light run of hogs. Prices of wholesale cuts of pork made little change, except for heavy loin cuts. They dropped about 50 cents a hundred pounds.

A heavy run of lambs from the drouth areas of the northwest caused lamb prices to continue a downward trend started several weeks ago. The better grades of lambs sold about 25 cents a hundred pounds lower than last week. Prices of wholesale lamb cuts were steady.

HERE'S RECIPE FOR PUNCH; IT WILL SERVE 50

FRUIT PUNCH.
[Serves 50.]

1 cup water.
2 cups sugar.
1 cup medium strong tea.
1 quart charged water.
2 cups loganberry juice.
1 cup lemon juice.
2 cups orange juice.
2 cups crushed pineapple, fruit and juice.
1 cup maraschino cherries.
Ice water.

Boil the sugar and water 5 minutes. Cool, add the tea, fruit juices, and pineapple. Let stand for 45 minutes. Strain, add the ice water to make 1½ gallons of liquid. Add the cherries and charged water and serve in a punch bowl with large pieces of ice.

[Other recipes for serving fifty are included in Mary Meade's booklet, "Feeding Fifty," which will be sent to you upon receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin.]

TOMATOES GIVE LIMA BEANS TART FLAVOR

Other Combinations Good with Beans.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Succotash!" I heard a young man exclaim in apparent disgust as he eyed the combination of corn and Lima beans which had been served him. "Beans or corn alone would be tolerable, but this mess——!"

We thought the dish looked very attractive and appetizing, but, to use step-grandmother's favorite phrase, "every man to his own taste."

The theory behind this combination of Lima beans with other vegetables, particularly corn, is that some early cook grew tired of shelling the beans before he had nearly enough to serve, and so hit upon the idea of combining them with another, more easily prepared vegetable.

Most of us don't need to worry about the business of shelling the beans now, for the grocery stores sell them already shelled and ready to pop into a pan of boiling water to cook.

Whether you like the combination of corn and beans or not, you are likely to "go for" Lima beans in combination with tomatoes. Tomatoes add a certain tartness and acidity which the beans lack. Recipes for this and for several other Lima bean dishes, using both fresh and canned green Limas, follow:

LIMA BEANS AND TOMATOES: Parboil two cups of shelled Lima beans and drain. Skin three large tomatoes, slice, and add to beans. Simmer together in a covered saucepan until tender, adding salt and pepper. Pile in a hot serving dish and add two tablespoons of butter.

BROWNED LIMA BEANS: Cook one teaspoon chopped chives and one small onion in two tablespoons melted butter. Strain out onions and chives, and add the flavored butter to two cups bouillon. Boil two cups shelled Lima beans in the bouillon, adding three-quarters teaspoon salt and a sprinkling of pepper. When beans are tender, pour into hot serving dish and garnish with parsley.

LIMA BEANS WITH BACON AND TOMATOES: Add to 1½ cups drained, canned Lima beans one cup diced celery, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, one cup tomato soup, one-half cup water or liquor from beans, one tablespoon minced onion, two tablespoons melted butter, salt, and pepper. Place in a greased baking dish, cover with crums and strips of bacon. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees F.] oven for half an hour.

LEG OF LAMB IS ECONOMICAL TO BUY THIS WEEK

Most cuts of lamb have dropped somewhat in price during the last week. Leg of lamb is recommended to Chicago housewives as the most economical cut of meat to buy over the coming week-end by the committee on marketing of the Meat Council of Chicago.

Many cuts of beef also offer good value. Rolled chuck roast and pot roast of beef are especially recommended as good buys, the meat council states.

JAR COOKED PLAN IS RECOMMENDED IN FRUIT CANNING

Gives Product Attractive Appearance.

A review of the fruit canning situation is surely in order, for every ambitious homemaker is hastening these days to lay in her supply of canned goods as protection against high prices next winter.

Fruits may be successfully canned by the open kettle or jar cooked method, although the jar cooked method is recommended, as it eliminates danger of spoilage and produces a canned product of firmer texture and more attractive appearance.

Fruits will often rise in the jar if not precooked to shrink them or if the sirup is too heavy.

Sirups Used for Canning.

The following sirups are used in fruit canning and will be referred to below in the canning directions:

Thick sirup—1 cup sugar to 1 cup water.

Medium sirup—¾ cup sugar to 1 cup water.

Thin sirup—½ cup sugar to 1 cup water.

The hot sirup when poured onto the jar packed fruit should come to within 1½ inches of the top of the jar, while the fruit may be packed to within ½ inch of the top. This is to prevent boiling over of the sirup.

The following brief summary of the canning of certain standard fruits may help you in brushing up on the details of procedure:

BERRIES [blackberries, blueberries, dewberries, huckleberries]: Pack into clean jars, a few at a time. Fill with boiling hot medium sirup, and process in water bath for 20 minutes or in 250 degree oven for 68 minutes. [Same method for gooseberries, but use thick sirup.]

Process for Cherries.

CHERRIES: Pack into hot jars, cover with boiling sirup, using thick sirup for sour cherries and medium for sweet. Process in water bath 20 minutes or in 250 degree Farenheit oven for 68 minutes.

PEACHES AND APRICOTS: Scald, and dip in cold water to loosen skin. Peel. Cut in half, pit, and precook in a boiling medium sirup for 3 minutes. Pack into clean hot jars, with halves overlapping, then fill jar to 1½ inches of top with sirup in which several cracked peach pits have been boiled. Process 20 minutes in water bath, 68 minutes in 250 degree oven.

PEARS: Pare and cook 6 minutes in boiling medium sirup. Pack hot in jars and fill with medium boiling sirup to 1½ inch of top. Process large pears 30 minutes in water bath, and small pears 20 minutes.

Pineapples and Plums.

PINEAPPLE: Pare, core, remove eyes. Cut into convenient sizes. Boil 1 minute in thin sirup, then pack and fill jars with sirup to 1½ inches of top. Process 20 minutes in water bath.

PLUMS: Prick in order that skins may not burst when processing. Pack in jars, add boiling medium sirup. Process 20 minutes in water bath.

In all the above cases, partly seal before processing, and complete the seal immediately upon removing from water bath or oven. Have water in bath at least 1 inch above the tops of the jars, and start timing when the water begins to boil rapidly around the jars. Be sure that the jars do not touch either in the water bath or in the oven.

Serawny Pig Grows Up to Win Prize at Fair

HERE ARE FOUR MENUS FOR MAKING DISHES PLEASING TO ALL

SPICED GRAPE JELLY.

3 pounds fully ripe Concord grapes
¾ cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons cinnamon
6 cups sugar
¼ bottle pectin

Stem the grapes and crush them well. Add the vinegar and spices. Bring them to a boil, cover, and cook slowly for ten minutes. Now squeeze out the juice through a jelly bag and measure it. You will need 4½ cups of juice. Add water if necessary to make up the amount. Measure out the sugar and add to the juice, mixing well. Add the pectin stirring constantly. Bring back to a hard boil and cook for one-half minute continuing to stir. Then take from the stove, skim, and pour quickly into clean, hot glasses. Seal at once with hot melted paraffin.

SWEETBREAD CROQUETTES.

2 pairs sweetbreads
½ cup minced ham
½ cup milk
¼ cup each flour and butter
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Dash of cayenne
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Wash the sweetbreads and plunge them in boiling water, to which one tablespoon of vinegar has been added. Let them simmer gently three-quarters of an hour, drain, cool quickly in cold water and remove the membrane on each. Cut the sweetbreads fine and combine with a very thick white sauce made from the milk, fat, and flour. Add the seasoning and lemon juice and spread on a shallow pan to chill. If not stiff enough to mould, work in a few soft bread crums. When cold, form mixture into croquettes and dip in fine dry bread crums, then in beaten egg and then in crums. Arrange in a frying basket and fry in deep fat [380 degrees F] until golden brown.

DAMSON PLUM JAM.

4 quarts Damson plums
1 quart cold water
Sugar

Wash plums, add water, and cook the fruit until the skins are soft. Cool and remove the seeds. Measure the cooked and seeded fruit and add two-thirds as much sugar as fruit. Stir the mixture over the heat until the sugar is dissolved and the mixture has come to a boil. Cook rapidly until the mixture has a thick consistency and the fruit is partly clear. When beginning to thicken, the mixture should be stirred to avoid scorching. Remove the kettle from the heat and let the mixture stand a few minutes so that it may stiffen slightly and thus help to prevent the fruit from floating. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

SOUTHERN MARBLE CAKE.

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
3 cups sifted pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream the sugar and butter until very fluffy. Add the well beaten eggs and beat thoroughly. Sift the flour, baking powder, and salt together twice. Add this combination to the sugar and butter mixture alternating it with the milk. When all is added, beat well. Now divide the batter in half. To one half add the molasses and the spices, stirring them in well. Place alternate spoonfuls of the dark and light batter in a well greased cake pan. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F] for about 45 minutes or until done.

Plan Dancing at Fall Parties for Debutantes

Tea Invitations Are Being Received Now.

THE debutantes and their beaux eagerly scan the invitations that are pouring in on them these days, and when they see the word "dancing" engraved in one corner they are delighted, for there is nothing the young people like better than a party with dancing, whether it be accompanied by tea, dinner or supper.

Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Lyon and Miss Mary Darst Lyon have issued cards to an "at home" on Wednesday, Sept. 9, from 4 to 7 o'clock at 34 Indian Hill road, Winnetka, on which the welcome word "dancing" is included.

It also is on the cards that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Day Farwell and Miss Marian Foster Farwell have sent out for an "at home" on Saturday, Sept. 12, from 4 to 7 o'clock at 123 Stonegate road, Lake Forest.

Miss Lyon will be leaving the debutante festivities late in September to return to Smith college, where she will be a sophomore, and Miss Farwell will be leaving about the same time for her second and last year at Sarah Lawrence college.

The fall debutante season is almost more fun for the buds than the busier later season, for seldom are there two evening parties even on the most hectic September Saturday night, although there are sometimes half a dozen debut teas on a Saturday afternoon. The Christmas holidays, however, bring many parties each night, so many, in fact, that it is hard to enjoy any one of them.

One of last year's debutantes, Miss Frances Price, is sending out invitations for a large luncheon at the Indian Hill club on Sept. 14, at which about one-half the guests will be buds of this season. The other half will be girls who made their debuts with Miss Price. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Price of Winnetka.

McLean Hoggsons Guests in City.

Mrs. James W. Rogers has come back to her Scott street house for a few days to act as hostess to some former neighbors, the McLean Hoggsons, who now live in New York. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Rogers entertained at the Saddle and Cycle club for their guests, and tomorrow night the Alexander Kirks and the Paget Cadys will give a party at the former's apartment, 936 Lake Shore drive, for the Hoggsons. Mrs. Rogers will return to Fish Creek, Wis., next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr. will entertain at cocktails on Sunday for Miss Virginia Ashcraft and Gerald Hewitt Smith of New York, who are to be married next Thursday. Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Orville Elias Babcock Jr. will give a picnic in Lake Forest for Miss Ashcraft and Mr. Smith. Mrs. Babcock is to be a bridesmaid. Mr. Fentress' brother, Paul L. Fentress, is to be an usher, and Mrs. Paul Fentress [Roslyn Paine] will be a bridesmaid.

Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw Visits Mother in East.

Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw has gone east to visit her mother, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham, at her summer home near Vergennes, Vt. Mr. Shaw may join her there for a few days before she returns shortly after Labor day.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her daughters, Miss Eleanor and Miss Barbara McClurg, are arriving Sunday for two or three days on their way east after a trip through the west and to Honolulu. Miss Sybil Graham of Englewood, N. J., a friend of Miss Eleanor McClurg, who has accompanied them on the trip, will be with them.

Mrs. Hinckley and her daughters are on their way to Prouts Neck, Me., where they will spend the early fall. They expect to be in Brookline, Mass., next winter.

Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm has returned to Lake Forest after a visit in Mackinac with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy. Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding is with the Cudahys now. Mrs. John Noble Stearns Jr. of New York is not coming west this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm's younger son, David, will return to Andover next

All-American Concert Wins Park Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Although a program based on some irrelevant unifying idea—one made up entirely of Spanish music, for instance, or of works by brown-eyed composers—is bound to be less interesting than an evening of music planned without any such limiting conception, Glenn Cliffe Balnum and his band proved in Grant park last night that there is enough variety among the tonal products of Americans to make quite acceptable to an audience a two hour concert offering nothing but native or naturalized talent.

Some idea of this generous variety may be gained from the statement that the program included both MacDowell and Ferdie Grofe, and that Charles Loeffler and Victor Herbert both found representation before the intermission.

The MacDowell consisted of three excerpts from "Sea Pieces." Hearing them, one could not help doubting gravely the practicability of transcribing such peculiarly pianistic music for a modern band. The fragile overtones of the original instrument, which cast such a subtle and haunting spell over the simple little "Song" especially, were almost certainly a part of the composer's intention. Their function in the creation of a MacDowellesque atmosphere is an indispensable one, and woodwind and brass have nothing to offer in their place.

Ferdie Grofe's "On the Trail" is a successful little piece whose fascination does not seem to diminish greatly with repeated hearing. Its composer has certainly caught and imprisoned in melody and rhythm a potent though indefinable esthetic idea.

The Herbert was the Suite of Serenades, a clever conventionalizing of the supposed musical idioms of four different localities. The first division of the work is the one heard so frequently over the air under the title of Spanish Serenade.

The significance of Charles Loeffler's "Beat! Beat! Drums!" was lessened by grevious difficulty in balancing a small male chorus against the band. The words, a poem of Walt Whitman, could not be heard. The instrumentation is extremely novel and interesting, using a great array of percussion instruments to emphasize the striking rhythms of the work.

A nocturne by Grisell, the first of two American sketches, seemed attractive melodically even on first hearing. Its instrumentation is very rich. "Park Avenue Fantasy" and "Street Scene," both likewise drawing their inspiration from portions of the American picture, resembled each other in that their two composers have exploited successfully the slight nostalgia which seems to underlie much of America's gayety and surface sparkle. This nostalgia adapts itself beautifully—running to "blue" sequences occasionally, or at least to a suggestion of them.

Mr. Balnum bracketed Percy Grainger's clever "Spoon River" and the Guion transcription of "Turkey in the Straw." He included two or three marches, and used in one of them the "United States Field Artillery," the male chorus of the Loeffler work.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

MARGALO GILLMORE passed through town a few evenings ago on her way to Hollywood to play in "The Distaff Side" and stopped off long enough to dine with friends. During her summer activities Miss Gillmore visited Wiscasset, Me., and for the first time it came to our middle western ears that there is a "Marie Antoinette house" in the little town on that bleak Maine coast, a house of colonial architecture built by a handful of faithful adherents of the unfortunate French queen, to which they plotted to aid her escape. Some of her furniture was sent over, and there it stands, frivolous chairs and tables with slender golden legs, escritoires, and trumeaus with gilded ornamentation, mementoes of an alien civilization and an abortive enterprise.

Someone, perhaps, should write a play about what would have happened to Marie Antoinette had she escaped across the sea to America and reached Wiscasset. The plot would lend itself to either whimsical or realistic treatment. And perhaps, in truth, the lovely French queen would have died of a broken heart and chilblains during a bleak Maine winter, and history would have been cheated of that gallant trip in a tumbril, shorn head held high, queenliness existent to the last, and been forced to give space instead to a more ignominious end.

Contrasts—George Swank—Adaptable.

IT is with some hesitation that we report certain other activities of Miss Gillmore. Seeing a piece in the New Yorker about a Miss Crofoot and Sylvia, the pet goose that wears a little starched jacket that snaps over her tail feathers, with a handkerchief in the breast pocket, brings it to mind. ["The handkerchiefs are not just swank; Sylvia has an unfortunate tendency to drool."] Miss Gillmore and her husband, Actor and Play Director Robert Ross, have a pet cat named George. George's nose was out of joint because he was the only member of the family not in the theater and insisted that he was a singer, according to Miss Gillmore's interpretation. So in an off week when she had time on her hands, she made a series of operatic costumes for George, and had his picture taken in them. George as Mimi, in her little bonnet; as Carmen in her shawl, a rose between her teeth; as the Girl of the Golden West. . . . . Miss Gillmore didn't mention George the other night. Perhaps, however, she hopes to get him a job in Hollywood.

No. 9 Shoes of Jean Muir Hold Record

Jean Muir does—and she cares not who knows it.

The irrefutable figures substantiated Miss Muir's claim that she is the Cinderella in reverse in the movie city.

Of her space spanning feet, Miss Muir said:

"They're long, to be sure, but they're in proportion to my height. I have one thing on Greta Garbo, at least."

Miss Garbo, who talks a little more than she used to but is still not loquacious, had no comment.

An inquiry among actresses at one of the major studios disclosed that no one is qualified to put a good foot forward alongside Miss Muir. Kay Francis, for example, is 5 feet 7 inches tall, the same height as Miss Muir, and she wears size 4C.

More than eighty pairs repose on her shoe shelf in the studio wardrobe. Divided into colors, Miss Francis has: black, 23 pairs; brown, 17; white, 11; blue, 8; gray, 6; pastels, 12; silver, 6, and gold, 7.

This is considered a representative film actress' assortment. Miss Francis' feet are the smallest among the women players at the studio. The others fall into these classifications, according to shoe sizes:

Bette Davis, size 4.

Anne Nagel and Jane Froman, size 4½B.

Glenda Farrell, 5½A.

Carol Hughes and Marie Wilson, size 6A.

Joan Blondell, 6C.

Josephine Hutchinson and Beverly Roberts, 6½A.

Patricia Ellis, 6½B.

Costume Suits Are Answer to Fashion Prayer

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Probably the most feminine clothes in town are the gorgeous costume suits. The dramatic and new outfits usually consist of a swanky dress under a smart coat.

These costumes are the very essence of what you need and want for the first fall days. Wool of tricky textures, soft, stunning wools with embroidered dots of silk, fringe waves, tufts of yarn, and even French knots against a lovely dull texture fashion these costumes. And the wool is as thin as chiffon.

The dresses are slim. Some have silk satin tops, some have short sleeves, and some have long fitted sleeves. Brown winners have old gold color tops, with a short boxy coat of the brown trimmed with bands of brown fur. Wine red is stunning with a brown fur dolman shouldered cape that ties with a huge fur bow right under the chin.

Steel gray wool has a jacket trimmed with deep gray fur. The gray dresses can be found with satin or with silk crêpe tops or with the entire dress of soft dark gray wool.

We found some beautiful blue shades in one collection, a gentian or cornflower blue wool, the dress simple and the jacket coat trimmed with silver gray fur. Wine red goes with brown as well as deep gray lapin coats. And a dull green frock seems fall and stunning under a sleek black lapin hip length coat.

Whether you crave fur trimmed coats with wool dresses to match or fur coats with simple wool dresses, we unhesitatingly recommend these first fall collections. They're what we've been wanting for years with low price tags that will startle even a hardened shopper.

Fashion photograph . . . very young, almost of the college girl type, comes this stitched black felt hat. It can be worn off the face as illustrated or pulled down for an eyeline shadow. The crown is medium high with a gay scarlet quill perched horizontally at the tip of the crown. It is available in a Chicago shop.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Summer faces, like summer clothes, are looking a little ragged along about now. The sun tan isn't the smooth, even coat it was, perhaps—and there is often a dryness or dullness that's a peculiar end of summer ailment. Some one called it "skin drouth" the other day—which seems apt.

For women who've had enough of sun tan and now want to retrieve the lily white effect we have some words of warning. Approach the bleaching process slowly. All that bleaches isn't good for your skin—and for heaven's sake be wary of those assorted creams or lotions or methods that claim to perform miracles. Unfortunately a lot of things that will take the tan off practically take the skin off, too; they're bad bargains. What profit a camellia white complexion if it's shriveled like a prune?

There aren't many bleaching agents for end of summer use that we're enthusiastic about. But each fall we think of one which serves two purposes. It bleaches and clarifies mildly and slowly. It also does noble duty as an oiling and softening cream.

It is really a familiar cream that hundreds of women use and like—a very rich, fairly heavy cleansing cream that's a softener as well. For use at this particular season its maker puts it up with a bleaching quality added.

It's not a strong bleach—and that's all to the good. It's action is mild, as it should be. It serves two purposes particularly desirable at this season—it clarifies, clears up the remnants of sun tan, and helps bring the skin back to soft normalcy. It might be a good cream for you to start using now if your skin is showing the tag end of summer upsets.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war, Roger Maillard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. At a New Year's eve party Mal meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners, whom he marries a month later. The marriage ends disastrously in a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage. Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his other ear. Fourteen years later Mal under Grimwold's tutelage has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from the public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barclay, son of an old friend, boards with her. David invites Ellen Grant, young stenographer, to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Maillard lives and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimwold. David, as a joke, has a boy page Ellen with a message that Roger Maillard wants to meet her. Mal, chilled at his reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. David and Ellen desert Pamella. Mal takes her home. There Mal drops on the couch unconscious. Pamella calls Dr. Ware. He says Mal has collapsed from shock and worry, that he mustn't be moved from her house. David is jealous of Ellen's interest in Mal, though Mal is only interested in Pamella.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

A FRIEND LOST.

As Mal read the second and final stanza of "Arab Love Song" there was something in his voice that sent little shivers down the backs of his listeners.

"'Leave thy father, leave thy mother
And thy brother;
Leave the black tents of thy tribe apart!
Am I not thy father and thy brother,
And thy mother?
And thou—what needest with thy tribe's black tents
Who hast the red pavilion of my heart!'"

No one spoke after he had finished. Pam looked over the garden, suddenly flooded with light and all a-dazzle in a sparkling glitter of rain drops. In the east, the clouds had parted, too, in a long clean cut rent through which the snowy crags of a mountain peak shone with an opalescent splendor. Something of the glory of the west reflected from the snows of the east was caught in Pam's face. But Pam didn't speak.

"That was perfectly lovely!" Ellen said timidly, not wishing to sound gushing, yet feeling that she should say something. "Francis Thompson is a good poet," she added with a justifiable pride in her selection.

Perhaps it was Mal himself who broke the spell by putting the poems back in his pocket, as if he still felt imprisoned by his tribe.

Mal stopped to examine one of the shrubs he had been trimming.

The suggestion seemed to bring relief to every one. There was a scattering to get coats, and then they trooped out of the terrace doors.

Mal went on ahead. Here was a chance to give the boy his innings, and an opportunity he hoped to seize of having Pam to himself while strolling through the garden. But as they passed out the door together, Pam was called back by a telephone message. So Mal walked on along down the central walk of the garden, between the dark Irish yews. The little cat cavorted at his heels.

David was forcibly detaining Ellen to look at the beautifully arranged and planted flower beds, when Pam came through the living room door and called out:

"Did you close the entrance gate, David?"

"I don't know!"

"David, I told you always to do it. That maverick police dog who's been terrorizing these hills comes in here if they're left open. He digs up Mal's beds and chases Shadow."

But it was too late. Even as Pam spoke, a tawny beast with dripping jaws seemed to leap out of the air from among the bushes, and dashed in great silent bounds down the walk toward Mal and the little black cat. For an instant, Pam covered her eyes. Ellen screamed, and David, running forward, shouted:

"Hye! Mallard! Get the cat."

But Mal walked on. Shadow, chasing his tail, suddenly saw the dog bearing down upon him, and began to leap desperately from side to side across the walk.

Mal stopped to examine one of the shrubs he'd lately been trimming. Already it was covered with flowering buds, exuding a delicious perfume.

David picked up a stone and hurled it furiously. It went skidding through the air, missed the dog by an inch to fall and rebound on the walk beyond Mal. He turned at this just in time to see a frantically fleeing Shadow seized in two wide jaws and cruelly shaken.

Mal lunged at the dog, kicked him between the eyes and stunned him. Whereupon Shadow was dropped limp and bleeding at his feet.

"Hush, David!" Pam whispered as she pushed by him to run up to Mal.

But Ellen crowded in ahead of her. And as David began again with, "Why, the hell, didn't you——" she stormed at him: "Don't you dare speak that way!" And threw herself upon Mal, locking her arms about his shoulders.

"Don't feel so badly! Don't! Don't!

"Mal," Pam looked into the eyes he turned to her over Ellen's head, "Shadow was an amusing little cat. But a nuisance. He killed the birds at the bird baths."

In silence, Mal freed himself from Ellen's impulsive embrace. He bent down, and taking a beautifully monogrammed black scarf from his pocket, wrapped it about Shadow's broken body and lifted it up. He then walked away down the garden as if, Pam thought, he was going off to bury his last friend.

Mal had spent the last fourteen years of his life living by a code that dispensed with explanations. They usually added to the complications, he was inclined to think. He hadn't relished very greatly his triumph in being the world's eighth wonder, especially at those moments when it was in danger of being detected. His small circle of friends gave him loyal support. And the people he worked with, even if they found out, had collaborated in his methods of ignoring limitations and, inspired by the warm-heartedness of most good troupers, never invaded his privacies with anything but an admiring and awed respect. He'd had sentimental troubles with some of the women to whom a man courageously and spectacularly surmounting a handicap strongly appealed. But for the most part he'd been able to keep his impregnable position intact.

So Mal carried on as best he could and let judgment of him and his actions fall where and how they might.

However, when he met his improvised family and their guest at late Sunday supper that night, he felt he must try to dispel an atmosphere of embarrassment and constraint on his account.

"David, I'm sorry I failed you," he said. "Thank you for warning me, just the same."

He was glad to feel Pam's perturbation clear a little. Though Ellen rather spoiled it all by ardently promising to give the menage another cat.

"O, no! Please don't," Pam exclaimed with some impatience. "And do please stop discussing this unfortunate accident with its faults and blames which were nobody's—unless they were David's for leaving the gate open."

"There are more cheerful subjects to talk about, I admit," Mal murmured.

For the next month, he threw himself into work about the place. If excessive bodily activity could crush out dreams Mal intended to do it. He used all sorts of tactics to build a guard. He seemed to think that one of the best ways was to meet the object of his dreams alone as infrequently as possible. To bolster up his determination, he renewed negotiations with his lawyers chiefly by letter. The main burden of this correspondence was his reiterated phrase:

"I want action, and I want it quick, and on my own terms."

Unfortunately, his attorneys informed him, their letters sent to the last address in San Francisco given by the party in question, were being returned. There was nothing to do but wait till she again declared her whereabouts.

There's Many a Problem in 'White Hunter'

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune-Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Two trained chimpanzees are working in "White Hunter" at Twentieth Century-Fox and a trained lion will be used in later sequences.

Director Irving Cummings: the chimpanzees, named Sherry and Willie Fung, Chinese actor, and Wilfred Lawson, were going through a scene in the superheated warmth of sound stage 15. The chimpanzee was supposed to waken Willie by gently tweaking the oriental actor's nose, after which Willie was supposed to waken his master, Warner Baxter. Willie was asleep in a thatched hut in the midst of a jungle of trees, shrubs, and rocks that filled stage 15. The stage is a building almost an acre in extent.

"We got the two best trained chimpanzees in Hollywood," Director Cummings complained. "We had them over in a corner of the stage with their trainers, J. H. Haeseler and Fred Lewis, before starting to shoot and the monkeys went through a whole repertoire of tricks in ten minutes. They didn't miss a cue. Then we come on the set and the lights bother them or the proximity of so many people or something and it takes two hours to get one take!"

"White Hunter" is a picture with numerous complications, not the least of which may develop when the trained lion is supposed to go up to Actor George Hassel, camera fiend on an African safari, and merely sniff at the petrified actor, then turn away.

One of the complications concerns the reunion of Director Cummings and Simone Simon, temperamental French star. Their last meeting on a film set was explosive with the director telling the actress just how much trouble and dislike she had created during the making of the film "Girls' Dormitory" in which she appeared with Ruth Chatterton.

"We have made up," said Cummings dryly. "Everything probably will be all right. I have not as yet shot any of the scenes in which Miss Simon is to appear, but we talked things over when she called me up at my ranch and I think we understand each other. Simone is a very good little actress; it was only that she had been misinformed and was misguided about the kind of treatment she should expect from her coworkers in American films. She understands things more clearly now."

In the story Simone plays the somewhat capricious Parisian daughter of a wealthy continental who has lived for many years in England. The father [Wilfred Lawson] decides to take Simone on an African hunting expedition with him and in a village in Nairobi they suddenly meet Warner Baxter, a former suitor of Lawson's wife and Simone's mother. Gail Patrick plays the mother. Complications develop thick and fast when daughter decides she loves mother's old flame.

Miss Brownie Baum Will Return Sunday.

Miss Brownie Bess Baum and Miss Eloise Bergland of Wilmington, Del., who will be Miss Baum's only attendant when she is married on Sept. 5 to Alfred Gawthrop of Wilmington, will arrive in Chicago Sunday from Wyoming, where they have been on a dude ranch most of the summer. They will join Miss Baum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baum, in the Gustavus F. Mr. Gawthrop and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Gawthrop, and Miss Elizabeth Gawthrop and McGill Gawthrop, who probably will be his brother's best man, will arrive next Thursday or Friday. Mrs. Swift, who is Mrs. Baum's sister, is giving a dinner for her niece the night before the wedding at Westleigh, Louis F. Swift's Lake Forest place, which the Gustavus Swifts are occupying this summer.

The wedding is to be a very quiet home one at 8 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Gawthrop and his bride will live in Paris, N. J.

Children Have Grand Time at Wrigley Field

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Old man weather had everyone worried yesterday morning, and all the boys and girls who'd been invited to Wrigley Field for our last party of the year were on pins and needles until about noon. Then the sun—just to oblige us, I'm sure—came out and chased the rain clouds away and everyone was happy, because we knew that the baseball game we'd been invited to see would be played.

What a game it was, too! The Cubs won, 1 to 0, from Philadelphia, which of course satisfied my small guests completely. We were all cool and comfortable in our box seats in the shade. The young guests cheered and yelled for the pitcher, Roy Henshaw, and for their special hero, "Gabby" Hartnett.

Balls seemed to be flying all over the park and, happily, one of them landed in our midst. Immediately 100 boys and girls dived madly for it and, in spite of the scramble, not one of them was even scratched and Joseph Janet emerged triumphant and grinning, ball in hand.

Mrs. Snyder, the candy manufacturer, sent out individual boxes of candy for the fifty boys and fifty girls.

In addition to this treat, we all had strawberry ice cream and, at the very end of the game, a cooling drink.

Behavior of Child Changes with the Years

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Does it seem repetitious to keep saying over and over again that you can't expect a 4 year old to continue to act like a 2 year old and that a 5 year old isn't adjusted to her world in the same way a 3 year old is?

Perhaps it seems unnecessary, but if you could read the mail that comes in, you'd realize that repetition often is necessary.

Of course it is true that there are rather striking changes in development all through childhood—really until the late teens—and that we must expect them rather than deplore them because they mean growth toward maturity.

A mother writes:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I should appreciate your sending me the pamphlet: "Wholesome Neglect Is Often Cure for Undesirable Behavior!" The other pamphlets I received from you were so helpful that I hope to get as good results by following the advice in this one.

"My daughter is at an age when tact is more necessary than force, but as I live with my mother, and there are more adults in the family than is good for one child of 4 years to cope with, there always is some friction because she doesn't 'obey instantly' the many commands and 'don'ts' to which she daily is subjected.

"I've tried to reason with them to the effect that her present wildness and naughtiness, if it can be called that, is only a passing phase, and that soon she will return to her normal, happy self, but to their way of thinking 'a youngster should be taught to obey when she is spoken to.'

"She is an only child, unfortunately, and all the family attention is centered on her. She is high strung and active, and I suppose she gets on the nerves of the family, now that she is beginning to 'find' herself."

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

For families in this predicament, we have two leaflets, "The 5 Year Old Turns a Corner," and "Wholesome Neglect Is Often Cure for Undesirable Behavior." Each one of these requires a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

Bad Taste to Show Letters from Old Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Why do men show letters they receive from a former sweetheart to their current heart interest?

Is it vanity? Is the intent to let the girl know that she isn't the only one who welcomes his attentions? Or, what?

Anyway, you men cannot expect all girls to take it in the good, clean fun you mean it. Personally, we feel it's pretty caddish to pass such letters around. Exposing the heart of a girl who still remains true seems pretty bad sportsmanship. Always the man tells the new girl that he no longer cares for the fair correspondent, which makes his exhibition of her letters a more dastardly performance.

We wouldn't do it, men. For the reasons already mentioned—and because your current love may rightly suspect you of answering those letters and encouraging the girl at the other end of the line. Your double dealing may find you without any appeal for either girl. That's the fate, at least, that threatens Bob. He has been getting letters from a girl in another part of the country, been showing them to Anne. He showed one too many. In that one Anne got the cue that the other girl had not been writing without encouragement. You've got to be a convincing talker, believe us, to make the Annes think they stand ace high while you continue the other correspondence.

Chic in Black and White

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Your personal preferences are given a great deal of latitude in this smart daytime frock. You may have a collar or not, as you please. Either long or short sleeves are smart. This conservative, yet dashing, dress buttons the entire length of the front and four "half moon" pockets do duty as pepper-uppers in both bodice and skirt. Such is the styling of this dress that it may go to school or office and then to dinner without a single change.

This frock is exceedingly simple to make. The chart accompanying the pattern will direct you efficiently in assembling the sections. The original is fashioned conservatively and smartly in dull black crêpe with the buttons and belt in white. Fashion is sponsoring black and white for fall, so this combination is "just the ticket" for general daytime chic. If some other dark shade is your pet, select it. You can't go wrong, and we admit that the new autumn colors are excitingly tempting.

Style No. 2953 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 35 inch material.

Makeup that Is Inconspicuous Is Successful

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Interviewing a lovely movie star one day, I made some remark about the perfection of her makeup. She answered: "It can't be perfection, or you would not have accused me of being made up!" That, she said, was the secret of perfect makeup extended her by one of the famous screen directors. One afternoon they two were on their way to some social function when the man said: "The only time I can tell when a girl is not well made up is when I can see she is made up. You aren't at your best today!"

No better than that can the artistic makeup be described. If some one says to you, "That's a grand color rouge you have on!" you are privileged to assume that you aren't in the A1 makeup class. If she should say to you, "That powder is a gorgeous shade!" you're to believe that your powder isn't the deceiving film you'd hoped it was.

You really do not meet many women who have the great skill to apply makeup so that none suspects them. I meet one every now and then, and I have a fairly practiced eye in this respect. The other day, for example, I was led to remark about the rare find, a skin with really natural coloring in it. The remark was addressed in complimentary terms to its possessor. She laughed and said: "I must be good to have deceived you!" More often you can tell the shade that's used and where it was purchased if you're adept at detecting.

True, it requires an infinite amount of time to get on makeup with the perfection cited, or else you have the beautifully responsive skin and have ordered the perfect makeup complementary tones. Yet I do think more of the good application work should be on view than is found. More women should, by this time, have learned to blend rouge into the skin less noticeably. More should choose lipstick, say, with an eye to its whitening effect on teeth and its not too distracting, or may I say blazing, shade. A mouth should not yell so loudly as many do.

Cheek rouge still is a bad offender among the not clever makeup users.

Mrs. Coolidge Back from Europe; Wants an American Hat

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, widow of the President, returned late today from her first trip abroad to describe it as "a most wonderful time" and to register disapproval of "these foreign hats."

The remark about hats came when photographers asked her to pose on a deck of the liner Europa in which she and her close friend, Mrs. R. J. Adams of Northampton, Mass., returned from Europe.

"Wait until I get an American hat," she pleaded. "I don't like these foreign hats and I would look much better in something American."

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

BIDDING VALUATION.

In order to sell a hand at the bridge auction for the best price in the constantly fluctuating market of bids and counterbids around the table, the player must know its trick-taking values.

The first thing a player does after picking up his hand is to take stock of the kind and the number of tricks that chance has allotted to him. The honor and length bidding values, which are more or less expected to reproduce themselves in the play as actual tricks, are called winners or bidding tricks.

After the player has appraised the value of his own hand he communicates the good or bad news to his partner, awaiting his reply. Until he hears from his partner [or opponents] there are many elements about his own hand of which he is either ignorant or uncertain. He does not know, for instance, the number of supporting trumps and the total honor strength of partner's hand. The inferences drawn from his partner's and opponents' bids will throw new light upon the winners and losers in the player's own hand. It will enable him to revaluate his hand and begin the second stage of valuation, which is called combined valuation and which consists of counting the expected winners and losers at a specified bid in the combined hands.

TODAY'S HAND.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson:

"I don't claim to be an expert contract player, but some of my friends don't think that I am a complete dub [perhaps I should say, don't know that I am a complete dub], so I hope you will be discreet if you publish the following hand;

"South dealer.

"Both sides vulnerable.

"Tournament hand.

"Contract: 7 diamonds by North.

"East led the five of spades and West played the seven. North led out six diamond tricks; West shed two low spades and a low heart on the last three; dummy three hearts; East discarded the seven and two of clubs and the two, eight, queen and ten of spades in that order. North then played his last diamond. Poor East had to drop the jack of hearts; dummy threw the spade and West the spade king. Going over to dummy with the club, North found, not to his surprise, on the third lead that they didn't break. On the twelfth trick dummy's last heart was led; West played the nine. After much reflection, North played the queen!

"As the smoke cleared away, North said plaintively: 'Partner, when East threw the queen and then the ten of spades, I thought he must be holding the jack, as his only other card besides the last club!'

"With insulting courtesy, South said: 'And you thought he led the five from the queen-jack-ten?' . . . Silence.

"Yes, you've guessed it. I was the North who didn't even think back to the opening lead.

"Your heartbrokenly,

[Signed] Franklin Edgerton."

When a man as eminent as Prof. Edgerton, one of the world's foremost authorities on Sanscrit, as well as an excellent contract player, makes an honest confession of error, who am I to heap coals? Especially when he pleads a broken heart!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: The contract is three no trump. My partner bid hearts. My hand was as follows: ♠ 7 6 4 3. ♥ 2. ♦ K J 8 6 3. ♣ 8 6 3. What should I have led?

Answer: The six of diamonds.

Institute Corrects Public's Beliefs on Van Gogh's Insanity

Visitors to the current Vincent van Gogh exhibition at the Art institute share one great misconception, according to institute officials. They all cling stubbornly to the belief that the great Dutch modernist was a chronic lunatic.

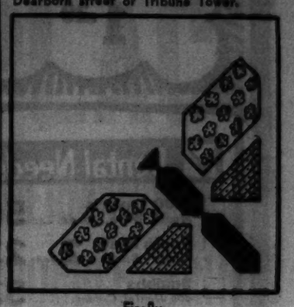
So widespread is this belief that a woman telephoned the institute this week to ask "Are you showing the pictures of Go Van? Well, maybe I didn't get the man's name right—that—ah—lunatic, you know." In an effort to dispel this inaccuracy, the institute has issued a bulletin entitled "The Trust about van Gogh's Mental Condition."

"As a matter of fact," the bulletin points out, "van Gogh was in no sense a lunatic. About a year before his death, when he was 36, he was seized with epileptic attacks which rendered him temporarily unbalanced.

"His irresponsible actions during these brief spells have unfortunately colored his whole life in the minds of the public. In reality all his great art was executed, certainly under more or less emotional stress, yet fired with the urgency of hard and clear headed work. All his great work was done when he was normally sane."

'Firefly' Novelty Quilt of Applique and Plain Blocks

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Firefly.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Firefly" is one of the most simple of the novelty appliqué quilts. Yellow print material, combined with soft green and brown against a white ground is the color arrangement. The unique feature of the pattern is that the "Firefly" is confined to the lower edge of the quilt and quilted in outline, while the upper portion of the quilt has a quilted firefly facing its more colorful appliqué brethren. The quilt is composed of appliqué and plain blocks set together according to a quilt diagram accompanying the quilt pattern.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY LIONS UNDER COLLEGE RULES

DEAD BALL CODE MODIFIED, MOVE UP GOAL POSTS

No More Scrimmage for All-Americans.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The game between the All-Americans and the Detroit Lions, champions of the National Professional Football league, at Soldiers' field Tuesday night will be played under the college code of rules with two exceptions. This was the agreement reached by Potsy Clark, coach of the Lions, and the college coaching staf and drafted yesterday for presentation to the officials.

The goal posts will be located on the goal line as provided in the professional rules. This decision was reached after Coach Clark absolutely had refused to consider placing the posts on the end line because the previous college coaches had made this concession for the other games and he believed his team should be given the same consideration.

College Staf Loses Plea.

Bernie Bierman, head coach of the college team, and his associates quite naturally wished to have the goal posts on the end line because of the ability of Dutch Clark and Glenn Presnell of the Lions to score placements. The college team, while not entirely without place kickers, does not possess an outstanding performer.

The interpretation of the dead ball rule will be identical with that of last year, the second concession for the pros. The professionals never adopted the restriction which declares a runner may not advance after any portion of his body except his hands and feet touches the ground. Tuesday Referee Ralph Cahn will be instructed to use his judgment and if a ball carrier slips and falls while in the open he will be permitted to continue. Cahn's whistle naturally will call a halt if he believes defensive men are within tackling distance.

Keep College Penalty.

Another special agreement of last year will not be allowed by the coaches for Tuesday night. The professional code provides that if the defensive team is penalized for off side within its own 10 yard line, the penalty shall be loss of one-half the distance to the goal instead of loss of five yards. The college rule, loss of five yards, will apply at all times, the coaches decided.

The college penalty for clipping, loss of 15 yards, will be in effect. The professional rule calls for loss of 25 yards. The contention of the college men is that clipping will be called if the penalty is 15 yards, while it will not be called except for flagrant violations when the penalty is greater.

All-Stars Continue Drill.

The All-Stars went about the business of tightening up their offense and reviewing defensive plans last night at Dyche stadium. The evening session behind locked gates was preceded by a classroom lecture at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Patten gymnasium.

The All-Stars have completed their scrimmages, the long workout Wednesday afternoon in which every able bodied player took part having been entirely satisfactory. The staf of coaches also does not wish to lose any player by injury just before the game. The practices today, tomorrow, and Sunday will be limited to a minimum of body contact work, largely dummy scrimmage and line scrimmage without tackling. Monday the squad merely will loosen up and then rest until time to start for Soldiers' field.

Topping Ready to Start.

The lineup which was selected in a national poll to start the game against the Lions will be intact. This was learned yesterday when it was announced that Keith Topping, Stanford end, will be released from the hospital today or tomorrow. Topping definitly will be ready to start at right end. He was sent to the hospital Wednesday noon for treatment of an infected cut just above the ankle on his right leg.

Topping's return bolsters the defense, for he is accustomed to playing a smashing end, the instructions which have been issued to the wingmen by Coach Bierman, who believes this is the best means of checking the Lions' passes and stopping Clark, Caddell, Shepherd, and Presnell, Detroit's speedy runners.

40 Likely to Play.

The system of drill for the All-Stars, in that each player has been assigned to one position, indicates that perhaps two score of the squad will see action against the Lions. There are at least three men ready for each position, and in most instances there are four with even a greater number capable of handling the two half back positions.

The guard positions are well fortified. Vern Oech of Minnesota and Paul Tangora of Northwestern will start for the All-Stars. Ready to re-

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27. — The White Sox this afternoon made an outstanding contribution to the happiness of Connie Mack, an old man who has seen better days. The Chicagoans restored a beam to the patriarch's eyes as they pawed helplessly at one of his recent pitching discoveries and submitted to a two hit defeat. The lad responsible for the futile pawing was Randall Gumpert, a crane-like 18 year old right-hander who claims his home is a place known as Birdsboro, Pa. The score was 5 to 2, giving the Athletics the rubber decision of the three game series.

While accomplishing his first triumph in the big show which he joined only a couple of months ago, Gumpert just missed the one hit target. During the first eight innings the only Chicago safety was a single by Luke Appling in the second. From that point until the ninth the Sox had to be satisfied with a few passes. But in the ninth Rip Radcliff came through with the second hit and this was followed by some fielding confusion which with a pass enabled the Sox to dodge the added humiliation of a shutout.

Mates Give Him Margin.

The angular Gumpert may be heard from again and then again may fade as Mack has seen them fade before, but on this occasion he at least proved he could stand up when there was a lead to protect. His mates provided him with a two run advantage right at the outset by doing some high class hitting against the pitching of Bill Dietrich who once belonged to their clan. Bill almost had his spectacles knocked off with two runs in the first inning. The firing continued at such a deadly clip that he was removed at the end of the fifth with a total of four runs against him. The remaining run was recorded during Bill Shores' régime.

Double Play Cuts Damage.

Dietrich's unhappy experiences in the first inning totaled three hits and a pair of passes, but a double play helped considerably in limiting the yield to two runs. Finney, Moses, and Dean all singled to center with none out, Finney scoring. Johnson walked to fill the bases before an out was recorded. Higgins then grounded to Appling for the needed double play, Moses going home. Dietrich continued his shakiness by walking F. Hayes, but Newsome relieved the torture for the moment by flying to Rosenthal.

Dietrich was in trouble again in the second, but escaped without damage. He made a bad throw to first on Finney, who went to second on the er-

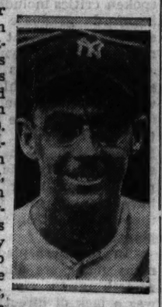
Bees Take Fourth Straight from Cards, 1-0, in Tenth

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Leroy [Tarzan] Parmelee, Cardinal hurler, was near fame today, but after pitching seven and one-third hitless innings against the Bees he weakened, and Boston won in the tenth, 1 to 0.

It was a pitchers' battle from the first inning, with the veteran Danny MacFayden of the Bees allowing only four hits, no more than one in any inning, and Parmelee only three.



DANNY MacFAYDEN

The defeat, the fifth straight for the Cards and Boston's fourth victory in a row for a sweep of the series, placed St. Louis three games back of the idle first place Giants and in a second place tie with the Chicago Cubs, who won from the Phillies for their fifth consecutive victory. The triumph lifted the Bees into fifth place, one-half game ahead of Cincinnati.

Lopez Gets First Hit.

Al Lopez singled with one out in the eighth for the first hit off Parmelee, but advanced no further. The Bees had filled the bases on two errors and a walk in the seventh but could not score.

Cuccinello singled through Durocher at short to start the tenth. Hal Lee sacrificed him to second. Then Coscarart's drive to center field bounded past Chick Fullis, who had just replaced Lynn King, and Cuccinello scored. The squeeze play was tried to get Coscarart home but failed. The Cardinals went down in order in their half.

Cardinals Make Errors.

Errors by Parmelee and Garibaldi allowed Rabbit Warstler to get to third and Gene Moore to second in the seventh, but Warstler was caught at the plate. Warstler was the first Boston man to reach first base.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNIE BIERMAN, head coach of the College All-Americans, and Potsy Clark, coach of the world's professional champion Detroit Lions, were arguing Wednesday night in a loop hotel about the location of the goal posts for the game at Soldiers' field Tuesday night. . . . Bierman wanted them on the end lines as in college games. . . . Clark insisted that they be on the goal lines in conformity with the professional code. . . . His position was influenced partly by the fact that he has two good field goal kickers, Clark and Presnell, and the closer the goal posts the better the chance of scoring in that fashion. . . . Bo McMillin, who had been listening attentively, finally contributed this opinion: "Why not throw away the goal posts altogether? I am all for getting those touchdowns." . . . Howard Ehmke, 20 year old southpaw, who pitched for Brown university last spring, is a nephew of the old Athletic pitcher who had the Cubs swinging into space in the opening game of the 1929 world series. . . . All the pitchers who participated in the Cubs' twenty-one game winning streak last September are available for service in the twenty-one game streak the Cubs are planning for this year. . . . Lee and French won five each; Warneke and Root, four each; Henshaw, two, and Carleton, one. . . .

Vernon Oech, who will start at guard for the All-Stars Tuesday night, is the son of George Oech, who played guard for Minnesota from 1903 to 1905. . . . Vernon is one of seven Gophers with the All-American squad. . . . London sports writers are calling Alfred Padgham, British open champion, who also won three other important tournaments this summer, "Alfred the Great." . . . Max Baer and his brother, Buddy, will arrive in Chicago Sept. 20 from a tour of the northwest. . . . Lynn Waldorf, who is assisting Bernie Bierman develop the All-Star squad, will leave Evanston immediately after Tuesday night's game for a vacation before calling out the Wildcats for first practice, Sept. 10. . . . Bierman and Elmer Layden are going to New York to direct one division of the All-Star squad against the New York Giants, Sept. 8. . . . Bob Feller, 17 year old pitcher with Cleveland, won five no hit games while hurling for an Iowa high school team. . . .

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's Davis cup tennis star, is just as popular as Max Schmeling with the German sports public. . . . The promotion of Biff Jones, Oklahoma university football coach, from captain to major cost him $5.40 for new insignia for his uniform. . . . Mel Ott of the Giants has batted in more than 100 runs for eight consecutive seasons. . . . Ox Emerson, Detroit Lions' guard, is of Irish and Seminole Indian extraction. . . . Not that it makes any difference, but Sands Roche, playing in a south side pinochle game the other day, had 1,500 points at 3 o'clock and 1,700 points at 3:15, which is said to be quite a record. . . . Mr. Roche did not swoon. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Walter Hagen's 279 won the western open. . . . Mrs. Clemington Corson, mother of two children, swam the English channel, but failed to break Gertrude Ederle's time. . . . The Cubs announced the purchase of Earl Webb, hard hitting outfielder from Louisville. . . . The Cubs hung up their seventh straight victory as they defeated Boston, 5 to 3. . . . Miss Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., won the women's western open.

JAMES RIDES 3 WINNERS; GOLD MINE TO FANS

Leading Jocky Has Big Day in Mud.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The boy continued his sensational horsemanship by riding three winners over the sloppy track. His followers cashed in a great big way when he sent the 3 year old filly Naughty to victory in the six furlong fifth race, which was the best number on the program.

James didn't let his backers in that first race worry for even an instant. He rushed Inscription into the lead when the start came. He moved on away from the others at every stride. He wound up the winner by eight lengths.

Inscription was a red hot favorite when he won the first race and paid off at 3 to 1 in the betting.

James' Third Big Day.

It was the third day in a row in which James has been in the limelight at Washington Park. On Tuesday he scored four victories. On Wednesday he was first home on three horses.

His triumph on Naughty was the first victory that fast filly has scored in more than a month. Her last triumph was registered early in the Arlington Park season on a lightning fast track. James sent her to victory in very muddy going yesterday and she appeared to like the running conditions better than she has fancied the lightning fast tracks over which she has been running lately.

Despite the presence of James in the saddle Naughty didn't come in for any particularly heavy backing in the feature race. Emigrante, a noted mud runner from California, was the favorite, and Bamboo, owned by J. H. Mannheimer of Chicago, was the second choice.

Still it was Naughty's race from beginning to end although Emigrante might have been the best horse. Jocky R. McClellan had the favorite in trouble time after time and when he finally took him to the outside he came up with a rush which carried him into second place.

Enjoys 3 Lengths Lead.

When the small field of six was out a half mile Naughty enjoyed a lead of three lengths, Bamboo was running second, and Sky O'Blue was third. Emigrante was floundering along back in fourth place. McLellan didn't seem to know what to do with him.

Naughty wheeled into the stretch enjoying a lead of two lengths. By this time McClellan had Emigrante out of trouble and he was moving forward in mighty stride. A half furlong from the line of finish Emigrante caught and passed Bamboo. He took after speedy Naughty but failed on the assignment by the margin of a length.

Good Time for Going.

Naughty ran the six furlongs in the muddy going in 1:14 2-5. In the betting she paid $10.60 to win, $5 to place, and $2.80 to show.

James made it a triple for the afternoon when he rode Brilliant Rose from Tom Worden's stable to victory in the last race on the program. She won by four lengths, with Hit and Run second and Gannonnic third.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Little Roy Henshaw's noble six hit pitching and Bill Herman's forty-ninth double yesterday gave the Cubs a 1 to 0 victory over the Phillies and enabled the defending champions to chop another half game off the idle New York Giants' lead. The Giants, en route to Pittsburgh, now lead the Cubs, who await the Boston Bees, by three games.

ROY HENSHAW.

Sylvester Johnson, a very aged man, allowed the Cubs nine hits, and Fabian Kowalik, who pitched the eighth, gave up a double, but the only hit that counted was the aforesaid sock of Herman, which led off the fifth. Bill moved up on Frank Demaree's sacrifice and scored on Stan Hack's outfield fly. That was the ball game.

The Bees' fourth straight victory over the Cardinals helped the Cubs tie St. Louis for second place.

Stops Klein, Camilli.

Henshaw's greatest asset was his ability to stop those two troublesome former Cubs, Chuck Klein and Dolph Camilli. Neither of these talented gents got anything that looked like a hit. Moreover, Camilli whiffed a couple of times. Three double plays, due to Henshaw's low pitches that required no more fielding skill than it takes to grab a bouncer and throw it hither and thither with deliberation, choked the Phillies on dangerous occasions.

In the fourth inning the visitors had runners on first and third with none out. Henshaw immediately showed he was at his best, for he held Klein, Camilli, and Whitney to infield taps as he waded out of trouble.

The outcome ran the Cub winning streak to five, and all they have to do to be shooting at a lead over the Giants in the impending series with the New Yorkers, regardless of the latter's success in Pittsburgh, is to beat the Bees today and tomorrow. They have licked the Bees thirteen times in eighteen starts so far this year.

Must Show More Punch.

Doping on the basis of the kind of baseball the Bees have been playing in St. Louis, the Cub batsmen will do well to show more punch than they exhibited yesterday against Johnson. In the first inning they let two runners die on base and one was stranded in the second inning. In the third they filled the bases with none out and couldn't score, and in the fourth they had runners on third and first with none out and again failed to score.

After the Cubs registered the day's run in the fifth, they didn't even threaten, except when Hack led off the eighth with a double. But in those later innings they were concentrating on making that one run stand up and should be pardoned for their offensive meekness.

Cubs Merely Threaten.

The Cubs developed a threat in the first inning, but old Sylvester had the stuff to halt it. With one out English was hit by a pitched ball and lingered on first while Herman was being retired on a fly to Sulik. Demaree then singled to right, English stopping at second. The inning was over when Hack whiffed.

After Camilli had fanned to start the second inning, Whitney registered the first Philly hit with a single over Herman's head. Norris then hit into a double play, launched by Herman. Johnson handcuffed the Cubs into

CLARK REJOINS LIONS; SQUAD AT FULL STRENGTH

Dutch Shows Old Skill as Kicker.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 27.—Earl [Dutch] Clark, All-National league quarter back for the last five years, rejoined the Detroit Lions today as the world champions engaged in a two hour drill preparatory to their contest with the College All-Stars at Soldiers' field in Chicago next Tuesday night.

Clark had been granted a leave of absence to return to Pueblo, Colo., where he opened the Colorado state fair of which he is general manager. His return brings the squad to its full strength and assures the Lions of the availability of their greatest offensive threat.

As Clark Goes, So Go the Lions.

After limbering up a bit, Clark swung into the thick of the drill and kicked seven consecutive drop kicks over the crossbar at 35 yards. It is axiomatic that as Clark goes, so go the Lions. His presence serves as a stimulant and camp followers professed to see a perceptible improvement in the squad's morale and play.

This may have been an illusion, but if there was a turn for the better it probably was attributable to the day of rest yesterday and the approach of game time. The incident, however, serves to illustrate Clark's hold on the imagination of Lion supporters and the high esteem in which he is held by his teammates.

Since his advent in professional football in 1931 as a member of the Portsmouth Spartans, Clark has risen to a place among the greatest quarter backs of all time. He combines superb physical talents with keen generalship. He distinguished himself as a drop kicker, passer, broken field runner, and tackler at Pueblo, Colo., high school and was a star at Colorado college, where he matriculated in 1926. He reached his playing peak last year.

Scholarly in Appearance.

The reports of his feats, which made him the most widely publicized player in professional football since Red Grange, indicate that he is a battle-scarred veteran, with a bulging neck and legs resembling a pair of oak stumps. In reality he is a scholarly appearing chap of 29, who wears spectacles off the field and moves unnoticed through throngs of hero worshipers who mistake him for a clerk or haberdashery salesman.

Trim as a race horse, he is 6 feet tall, with muscular shoulders that taper down to slim hips, evenly distributing his 177 pounds. He never speaks unless spoken to and while his teammates relax in the recreation room, he sits modestly by until the singing starts. He is a second tenor, and a good one, too.

He's Basketball Star.

He is said to be even better at basketball than football. He starred as a center in the Stagg interscholastic tournament at the University of Chicago in 1926. He also played baseball in college and threw the hammer. He won the National A. A. U. junior hammer throw championship at Pittsburgh in 1929.

In a talkative moment, he modestly admitted his greatest game was against the Chicago Cardinals in 1931, when the Cardinals defeated the Portsmouth Spartans, 20 to 19. Clark ran 85 and 65 yards for touchdowns and threw a long pass to Bill McKalip for the other score.

Today's practice, the first under the new one-a-day policy which will prevail until the squad breaks camp Monday morning, was featured by a kicking drill in which Frank Christensen, Ernie Caddel, Bill Shepherd, Wilbur White, and Glenn Presnell starred with performances that equaled or eclipsed their best efforts all last season.

Makes Good on Eight Kicks.

Presnell sent eight consecutive place kicks sailing over the bar from the 45 yard line and Shepherd revealed equal consistency in shorter efforts. Christensen, White, who came to the Lions from Brooklyn, Caddel and Shepherd punted long spirals down the field attaining sufficient height to enable linesmen to reach the safety man at the same time as the ball. Their performance heightened the hopes of the Lions, who have a deep respect for the ability of the All-Star punters. The champions' plan of attack rests largely on not being outpunted in Tuesday's contest.

HOLD FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR DAVE BARRY

The funeral of Dave Barry, boxing referee who died Wednesday night after a short illness, will be held tomorrow morning from the residence at 523 Melrose street to Mount Carmel church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Barry officiated in some 700 fights, the most famous of which was the second Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title bout at Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 22, 1927. It was during the seventh round of this match that Barry tolled his famous "long count" of 14 seconds over Tunney when Dempsey was slow in going to a neutral corner after the knockdown, as prescribed by Illinois boxing rules.

Bears Work on New Plays and Punting

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—New plays were given to the Chicago Bears this morning and two hours were spent on them in a single drill on the St. Johns Military academy gridiron.

In the afternoon another scrimmage was held with the players being shifted around and after two hours George Halas expressed himself as pleased that no injuries happened.

Nolting Quick Kicker.

Punting was given attention with Beattie Feathers, Ray Nolting, George Grosvenor, Reds Pollock, Bull Doehring, and Syl Saumer coming under observation. Nolting stood out as the quick kicker and if he stands up under pressure will prove a valuable asset in this department.

Ed Kawal, who was annoyed with boils almost from the first day the squad landed in camp, has succeeded in eliminating the infection and is now in good condition.

To See All-Star Game.

With the conclusion of the scrimmage today Halas announced the next one would be Sunday afternoon, the day before breaking camp. The Bears plan to go to Chicago Monday afternoon to view the Lions and All-Stars, after which they head for Dallas.

CARDS IN LIGHT DRILL.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Clearing skies this afternoon permitted Coach Milan Creighton to renew outdoor work for the Chicago Cardinals, who have been held indoors two days by rain.

No heavy contact work was ordered and the squad was sent through routine practice work on plays. During the morning a long gymnasium drill held with calisthenics, ball handling, and dummy scrimmage on a series of new plays.

Bumps and bruises suffered in the first heavy scrimmage last Sunday have gradually disappeared and all of the players are back to near top condition with the exception of Al Niechelint, half back. The former St. Mary's star is bothered with a strained ligament in the right elbow which has not responded to treatment as rapidly as expected.

HELEN JACOBS, MRS. FABYAN WIN, 6-2, 21-19

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs, national and Wimbledon singles champion, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, gave a brilliant performance today in defeating Kay Stammers of England and Alice Marble of Palm Springs, Cal., 6-2, 21-19, to enter their third straight national doubles final.

It took the defending champions 90 minutes to gain the title round. This 48 game match was the equivalent of five hard fought sets, the limit for the supposedly stronger male star players. But it was not enough tennis for either the victors or the vanquished. All four competitors reserved enough stamina to meet their national mixed doubles engagements, and every member of the quartet shared triumphs with male partners.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, qualified for the semi-final round by defeating Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn., and Jane Stanton, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3. That east-west team, although Mrs. Van Ryn is a native daughter of California, will oppose Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, tomorrow for the other place in the women's championship round.

The semi-finalists in the men's division spent the day resting up for tomorrow's semi-final action in which the defending champions, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, oppose Bobby Riggs, national clay court champion and his Los Angeles townsman, Wayne Sabin, and the United States Davis cuppers, Don Budge and Gene Mako, meet Frankie Parker and Gregory Mangin.

Knockouts Mark Second Night of P. R. C. U. Fights

Knockouts marked the second night of fighting at Humboldt park last night as additional preliminary matches in the first annual Polish Roman Catholic union boxing tournament were fought before several hundred spectators. Fifteen bouts were held in both the novice and open divisions.

Competition will be continued tonight with the staging of the quarter-final and semi-final matches. The tournament is scheduled to be concluded tomorrow night when eight novice and eight open P. R. C. U. boxing champions are expected to be named.

In last night's bouts three of the fifteen contests ended in the first round on technical knockouts, while one went two of the three rounds scheduled for each bout. The boys who stopped their opponents were Roland Michael, 147 pounds; Joe Blenke and Walter Krupski, both 135 pounds, and Chester Pawlisz, 160 pounds. Results:

Stars to Play Lions Under College Rules

place them if called upon are Dan Fortmann of Colgate and Jim Karcher of Ohio State. Other men who have made good in the preliminary drills are Ed Gryboski of Illinois, Willis Munger of Illinois college, and Phil Flanagan, chunky, hard hitting guard from Holy Cross.

One of Snappiest Drills.

Last night's workout was one of the snappiest of the two weeks the boys have been in training. As game time approaches the boys are getting on edge. They are confident they will be able to hold their own against the professional champions and when the boys are talking among themselves it is evident they believe they will win.

This is the last day mail orders will be accepted. Address letters to the Football Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower. There are a few $3.30 tickets left. However, there are excellent seats at $2.20 and $1.10. More than 15,000 of these tickets remain.

GREENLEAF IS REPORTED SEEN IN DAVENPORT

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Raph Greenleaf, former world's champion billiard player, who has been the object of a nation-wide search since his wife appealed to New York police to locate him, was reported to have given an exhibition at a Davenport recreation parlor last night.

According to Art Mehler, clerk at a recreation parlor here, several men came into the parlor Wednesday night and one of the group introduced himself as Ralph Greenleaf, saying that he was the "former world's champion billiard player." He asked for permission to use one of the billiard tables to show his "friends a few fancy shots." His playing amazed the patrons and in a short time he had a large audience. After 15 or 20 minutes of playing he left the place in company with his friends.

Shown a picture of Greenleaf, Mehler and several other men who were in the place immediately identified it as that of the man who said he was Greenleaf.

Olympic Row Seen as Team Nears U. S.

ABOARD S. S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, en route New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The returning Olympic forces, although lacking most of the official as well as the athletic big guns, likely will fire a few potshots that will make the home folks sit up and take notice upon their arrival in New York tomorrow night.

It has not yet been determined just what will be the consequences of the finest family row stirred up during any Olympic trip since the pre-war trips to Europe. It already has been determined, however, that there'll be repercussions of such specific items as the Eleanor Holm Jarrett case and the omission of two Jewish sprinters from the relay teams and that there is a renewed struggle for Olympic organization control brewing with the college leaders threatening to challenge A. A. U. domination.

Time to Reorganize.

Eventually a compromise may forestall a showdown. Meanwhile outspoken critics include Alfred Masters, Stanford graduate manager, who served as assistant track and field manager at the Olympics.

"When mistakes in management and handling of athletes are repeated with such persistence as was manifested this trip, the time has arrived to face the facts and reorganize," Masters said. "I have many friends among the Olympic leaders and do not question their integrity, but I have frankly told them I question their judgment on several important points.

"In the first place there are too many managers and officials having something to say. Secondly, there was a lack of direct contact between the ranking authorities, who established themselves in the most comfortable hotels, and the athletes, who were miles away in the Olympic village.

"Furthermore, the handling of the athletes simply bred discontent. For example there was the dollar weekly for laundry joke. Instead of excessive barnstorming after the games, which wears the boys ragged, the committee should arrange a few good times with entertainment, which would send them all home happier.

Defends Jesse Owens.

"The official anxiety to get the percentage of profits wherever possible was shortsighted and only leads to such incidents as Jesse Owens' abrupt return home. I personally think Owens did the right thing."

The biggest blast otherwise is emanating from the boxing leaders. Despite a reluctance to alibi the failure to brink home a single title, Roy Davis of Chicago, team manager, hinted "collusion" contributed to the Americans' setbacks.

"If boxing officiating had been as efficiently and completely controled by the sponsoring nations as in the case of track and field, the United States would have had four Olympic boxing champions," said Davis. "It's hard to believe any one affiliated with amateur boxing could be so dumb as some of the decisions indicated. It looked like collusion on the part of central European nations to prevent any English speaking country from winning a championship. My official report to the international federation goes into details."

Four Raw Decisions.

Davis was backed up by Johnny Behr, boxing coach, who specified Chester Rutecki of Chicago, Jimmy Clark of Jamestown, N. Y., Jack Wilson of Cleveland, and Andrew Scrivani of Chicago as victims of "rawest decisions."

Dr. Joseph Raycroft of Princeton, titular head of the returning party, is soft pedaling any comment on the Jarrett case, hoping it will subside minus legal entanglements. Nevertheless it is understood the committee is fortified with documentary evidence pending developments and return of Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the Olympic committee.

Cincinnati Reds Again to Train in Porto Rico

A. A. A. Official Pronounces Roby Track in Shape

Inspection of Roby Speedway yesterday by Promoter Carl Stockholm and Fred Willis, zone supervisor for the American Automobile association, governing body of automobile racing, revealed no damage to the track as a result of the heavy rains, and the program scheduled for Sunday will be carried out unless there is a deluge Sunday morning.

Stockholm also announced yesterday that seat covers would be provided for every patron so that there will be no danger of soiling light clothes. Every ticket holder will be given one of the covers as he enters the stand.

Drivers began reporting to the track yesterday and today and tomorrow will find the speedway a busy place as the drivers tune up their machines. George Connor, newly crowned king of the circular dirt tracks as a result of his record performance at Springfield last week, was the first to test the Roby course.

Thirty entries already have been filed, but Promoter Stockholm expects to have more than 40 pilots on the ground by the time the qualifying trials are started Sunday noon.

The program will be made up of qualifying trials, three ten mile heats, one ten mile consolation race, a match race featuring Rex Mays and Wild Bill Cummings and the 50 mile contest that will wind up the program.

AMERICA'S CUP YACHT SERIES OPENS JULY 24

New York, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The first race for the America's cup between T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger, Endeavour II. and an American defender will be held July 24, 1937.

This was confirmed today by officials of the New York Yacht club, who were bound under the mutual consent clause to agree to the dates set by the challenger.

It was understood, however, the club officials would have preferred a later date because at least one defense candidate still is in the blueprint stage.

The Endeavour II. already has been launched.

MISS MILEY AND MISS TRAUNG GO TO SEMI-FINALS

Patty Berg Also Winner in Steady Downpour.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Two players from the north, one from the Pacific coast, and the defending champion, Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., reached the semi-finals of the annual Western women's golf tournament on the South Bend Country club course today.

Joining the champion in the semi-final round were Patty Berg and Beatrice Barrett, Minneapolis, Minn., and Dorothy Traung, long driving star from San Francisco, Cal. Miss Miley will meet Miss Traung tomorrow, while Miss Berg will oppose her fellow townswoman.

Play in Steady Downpour.

In a steady downpour of rain, Miss Miley played brilliant golf to defeat Mrs. Opal S. Hill, holder of the women's western open title, 1 up in 19 holes. Mrs. Hill was 2 down at the 14th, but took the lead when she won the next three holes.

Miss Miley, however, rallied and squared the match on the 18th. Then on the 19th the champion scored a par 4. Miss Hill lost an opportunity to tie the match again when she failed to sink a 4 foot putt.

Patty Berg Handy Winner.

Miss Berg found little dimculty eliminating Mrs. Gregg Lifur, Los Angeles, who holds the California state championship. The score was 6 and 4. Miss Berg, 19 year old star, was 3 up at the end of the first nine.

Miss Barrett defeated Harriett Randall, Indianapolis, holder of the Indiana crown, 5 and 4, while Miss Traung triumphed over Hope Seignious, Detroit youngster, 1 up.

Sox Held to 2 Hits; Macks Triumph, 5-2

ror. Two were out at the time and Moses followed with a single to right, but Finney was trapped in an attempt to score. The Athletics unloosed another attack on Dietrich in the third, one scoring. Dean doubled and scored on a double by Johnson. Higgins then fanned, Johnson was nailed at third on F. Hayes' grounder to Appling, and Newsome forced F. Hayes.

Double Play Again Helps.

The Macks scored in the third on two singles and a pass before any one was retired. The scoring was held to one run because of another helpful double play. Niemiec walked, went to third on Gumpert's single, and scored on Finney's double. Moses sacrificed and after Dean had been purposely walked Johnson furnished the tap that made possible the double play, Appling to Hayes to Bonura.

The first Chicagoan to reach base was Bonura, who opened the second inning with a walk. He was promptly killed off going to second on what was intended to be a hit and run play. Appling followed with a single to center, but J. Hayes popped to Newsome and Dykes grounded to Higgins. The next Sox base runners didn't show up until the fifth. Appling and J. Hayes walked with none out. But the pair of gratuities failed to arouse the visiting delegates. Dykes hit into a double play and Sewell was thrown out by Higgins.

Business boomed for the Sox again in the sixth. They got another man to base. This time it was Rosenthal, who walked with two out. He remained on first only long enough for Kreevich to die swinging against whatever it was the gawky school boy was throwing.

Shores Takes Mound.

Shores was good as a relief worker in the sixth and seventh, but was scored on in the eighth through no fault of his own. Newsome opened the inning with a double to left, Niemiec sacrificed, and Gumpert fanned. Finney walked and a double steal was started. Sewell threw perfectly to Appling, who passed up Finney and, after hesitating, threw back to the plate. The throw wasn't good enough to head off Newsome, however. Moses also walked, but Dean flied to Rosenthal.

The Sox ninth opened with Radcliff's single and a pass to Rosenthal. Kreevich forced Rosenthal and when Newsome threw wild in attempting a double play, Radcliff scored and Kreevich went to second. Kreevich ran to third unnoticed and scored on Bonura's infield out. A pass to Appling came next, but Jack Hayes forced him to conclude the struggle.

National League Happenings Give Experts Headache

Comparative scores in baseball, football, and other sports usually are designed to drive a dopester as dizzy as were the experts who covered the Schmeling-Louis prizefight. However, it's doubtful if any comparative sports table ever made a dopester feel balmier than the current team against team standing of the National league. Look:

The Boston Bees have won 13 games while losing 7 to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cubs have beaten Boston 13 times in 18 games, even though they dropped a double-header the last day they played the Bees. Yet the Cardinals have licked the Cubs 11 times while losing five.

The Cubs have whipped the Giants nine times in 16 starts and the Cards have knocked over the Giants 10 times in 17 starts. But the Giants have whipped the Bees 11 times in 16 games.

The Cards and Giants have won 13 games each from the Pirates, the Cards in 20 games and the Giants in 18 games. But the Cubs have done no better than split even with the Pirates in 16 games.

The biggest sweeps are held by the Cubs and Giants over the tailend Phillies. The Cubs have taken 14 out of 20 from the Phils and the Giants have beaten the tailenders 14 times in 17 starts. The three games the Phillies have won from the Giants is the poorest showing in the league.

The Cubs have won 50 games from second division teams, the Giants 47, and the Cards 38. The Cubs have won 22 games from the first division teams; the Giants have taken 27 games from first division rivals, and the Cards 34.

the maximum in fadeouts in the third. Allen, English, and Herman singled to load the bases with none out. Then Demaree and Hack popped to Gomez and Galan lifted a gentle fly to Klein.

Henshaw Escapes Jam.

Henshaw was almost as severe as Johnson in the squelching act after the Phils had kicked up a rumpus in the fourth. Chiozza opened with a double to left, after which Sulik bounced a high one to Henshaw. Hack, still a bit unfamiliar with the first base routine, walked into Henshaw and knocked the ball from his hands, Chiozza reaching third and Sulik being credited with a single. Klein bounced to Hack and Chiozza was run down between third and home, Camilli forced Klein and Whitney forced Camilli.

In the fourth the Cubs got runners on third and first with none out and Johnson again turned on the heat. Hartnett singled and reached third on Jurges' single. Henshaw then forced Jurges, Hartnett holding third. Allen fouled to Camilli and English, after getting three wide pitches, struck out on three good ones.

Ah, a Run!

The Cubs scored in their fifth on one hit. Herman opened with double No. 49, a shot to the left field wall, moved to third on Demaree's sacrifice, and scored on Hack's fly to Chiozza. Galan also filed to Chiozza to end the inning.

Walter batted for Johnson at the start of the eighth and singled to center. Chiozza popped to Jurges and Moore hit into a double play.

Kowalik was the Philly pitcher at the start of the home eighth. Hack pushed off with a double to left. After two attempts to sacrifice, Galan sent a short fly to Chiozza. Then Hartnett was hit by a pitched ball. Jurges popped to Gomez, and Henshaw forced Hartnett.

Carleton to Pitch Opening Game with Bees Today

The Boston Bees, no doubt exultant over their deeds in St. Louis, will open a two game series with the Cubs at Wrigley field this afternoon. Tex Carleton, who extended his fame as a Bee tamer by pitching a 1 to 0, ten inning victory Aug. 1, the last time the Cubs beat the Bostons, will work this afternoon.

The Bees still are chortling about their last afternoon with the Cubs. On Aug. 2 Danny MacFayden beat Bill Lee, 4 to 3, in the first game of a double-header and Ben Cantwell was the victor over Lon Warneke, 3 to 2, in the second game. That was the afternoon that put the Cubs into their now famous August tailspin.

Despite the morning downpour, Ground Keeper Bobby Dorr and his valiants had Wrigley field in tip-top shape by game time yesterday.

Towns Skims Hurdles for New Record

OSLO, Aug. 26. — (AP) — Forrest Towns, University of Georgia hurdler, today was timed in 13.7 in winning the 110 meter high hurdles event in an international track and field meet.

This mark is four-tenths of a second lower than the world record made by the Georgian in winning the hurdle championship in the 11th Olympics.

Foy Draper, Whittier, Cal., won the 200 meters event in 21.4, and Archie Williams, Oakland, Cal., was second. The discus event went to Ken Carpenter of Compton, Cal., with a throw of 164 feet 8 inches. Slinger Dunn of Fresno, Cal., finishing second with 160 feet 6 inches.

Reidar Soerlie of Norway took the shot put with a toss of 48 feet 3 inches, Dunn taking second again with 47 feet 7 inches, but Bill Graber of Ontario, Cal., won the pole vault with a leap of 14 feet 1 inch.

Competition will continue tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27.—The White Sox moved down to Washington immediately after today's game. They play there tomorrow and Saturday. John Whitehead will be Jim Dykes' pitcher in the opener against the Senators. The Sox will be opposed by Pete Appleton.

Manager Dykes received word this morning that the Yankees had fixed up a double-header for the Sox next Sunday at New York.

Joe Barry, White Sox secretary, reached the nth degree of excitement before the game when somebody phoned him at the ball park that a Chicago player had been shot. Barry and Dykes promptly counted noses and nobody was missing. The pranksters must have their fun.

Threatening weather prevailed and Connie Mack spent the morning peering skyward for a drop of rain which would have been used as an excuse to cancel the game and to make it part of a double-header in Chicago. The gate amounted to only 1,500.

F. Rhem, Veteran Pitcher, Released by St. Louis Cards

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Flint Rhem, who helped pitch the Cardinals into their first National league pennant in 1926, was released unconditionally by the club today. He was brought up from Chattanooga in the middle of this season to aid the faltering pitching staf, but he has been ineffective.

NIGHT FISHING FOR WALL-EYED PIKE FINE SPORT

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishing at night for wall-eyed pike when a moon hangs low in a clear sky and the evening is warm can be a lot of fun if the fish will hit. At least such was our impression of an evening on the water during our fishing excursion near Fifield, Wis., a few days ago.

On this trip we again visited the lakes that gave us a lot of fun earlier in the season, including Long lake, Round, Little Bass, Dave, and others that are about 12 miles west of the village of Fifield and only a short distance from the Flambeau river.

It had been a long time since we devoted an evening to fooling the wall-eyes, although the period from 6 o'clock on until dark or after is our favorite for fly casting for black bass. We picked a quiet evening for this pike experiment on Long lake, a lake that is well named because it is a narrow and fairly long body of water about two miles in length.

A Natural for Wall-Eyes.

Near the north end is a tiny island not more than 30 or 40 feet in diameter. It's virtually just a rock bar with the bottom sloping off gradually except on one side where it extends out like the letter L. Here is a natural for wall-eyes. There are weed beds in the shallow water, rocky ledges and a drop off into deep water.

When Bill Mennis slid our boat up to the bar around 7 o'clock in the evening the sun already had slipped below the timbered hills. Deep purple shadows had brought twilight into the virgin timber on the west shore. In about five minutes we felt a hit. It was a small pike weighing not more than 1¼ or 2 pounds. It struck in about 7 feet of water and approximately 15 feet from the island. Bill swung the boat around so we could go over the same spot. Again a hit. We had found a school and the fish were striking.

Moon Looms Bright.

Then we circled the end of the L shaped point of the rock bar beyond the weeds and cut across the shallower water. By this time the moon loomed bright in the sky and the timber at the far end of the lake was just an inky black mass against the afterglow in the west.

WEELUKIE PAYS $96.20; OWNER O'TOOLE PROFITS

His Horse Finds Muddy Track to Liking.

Ex-Ald. Billy O'Toole and a party of his friends held quite a noisy celebration after the running of the 6 furlong third race at Washington Park yesterday.

They had every right to make merry for Mr. O'Toole's 4 year old Weelukie romped through the mud to a close victory over Roberta and Hip Boots to pay $96.20 for a two dollar ticket to win, $30.80 to place, and $11.00 to show.

O'Toole wagered twenty across the board. The friends he entertained each bet five across.

Another long shot winner to score during the afternoon was Joe Jay, a son of Joe Marrone III.-Patricia. Few of the Washington Park patrons had ever heard of the horse, so when he galloped home he paid off at 20 to 1. Arthur [The Singing Kid] Loftus did most of the wagering on this fellow.

Steady rain yesterday morning gave the Washington Park track a good soaking and the track was sloppy all during the racing. Starter Roy Dickerson suspended schooling in the morning, but Jocky Paul Keester, bundled to the ears, went out on the road in the heavy rain to reduce. He was able to scale 117 after the drill.

Thirty-five claims have been registered during the first 21 days of the Washington Park meeting. The latest were made when M. T. Cox took Impeach for $2,500, Mrs. Martin Eckman grabbed Copper Tube for $1,000, and J. E. Hughes claimed Darkling for $1,000.

CUBS WILL BE MIDGET AUTO TRACK GUESTS

Members of the Chicago Cubs will be guests of the management at the Torrence speedway, 169th street and Torrence avenue, at the midget races tomorrow night.

Track officials announced that Manager Charlie Grimm has agreed to present a cup, emblematic of the mid-year title, to the winning driver, and in the event he cannot appear Lon Warneke will do the honors. The management has named the 35 lap main event the "Cubs sweepstakes." Wally Zale, point standing leader, will rule favorite for the title, but under the system of double points in championship meets Jimmy Snyder, Paul Russo, Art Hartsfeld, Emil Andres, and possibly Marshall Lewis can overtake him.

The program will also offer two qualifying trials, handicap racing, a consolation race for non-qualifiers, an intercity match race, and time trials. Racing starts at 8:30 p. m.

HIESTAND WINS 4TH TRAPSHOOT TITLE OF SEASON

Vandalia, O., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., won his fourth national trapshoot title of the year today, successfully defending his doubles crown, but the big prize of the day, the preliminary handicap, went to Ernest L. Hawkins of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Hiestand crashed 96 of 100 in the doubles. For the 800 targets at which he has shot this week he has a score of 787 which practically clinches the over all laurels for him for the second straight year.

WILSON, INJURED DODGER PLAYER, OUT FOR SEASON

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Eddie Wilson, Brooklyn outfielder, who was struck on the head by a pitched ball during the Dodgers' game with the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, will be unable to play for the remainder of the season. Dr. Charles F. Berg announced today that an X-ray examination revealed that Wilson received a fractured skull.

"I believe Wilson will be able to leave the hospital in a few weeks, but he won't play any more baseball this season," Dr. Berg said.

LEAGUE GOLF IS POSTPONED; RAIN SOAKS COURSES

Rain soaked courses yesterday forced postponement of play in all four of the Chicago district's golf leagues. The west district matches, scheduled for Oak Park, will be held next Thursday, as will the Northwest league competition at Twin Orchard.

The south district, scheduled for Calumet, and the North Shore league matches at Westmoreland, also were canceled, and will be held at a later date.

Manchester Evens Legion Series with Spartanburg

Spartanburg, S. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Manchester, N. H., evened the north-south American Legion junior baseball series with Spartanburg today, 6 to 4, before a crowd of 9,000. The deciding game will be played tomorrow, the winner to meet Los Angeles, Cal., the western champion, next week.

TWO UNDEFEATED C. Y. O. TEAMS TO PLAY FOR TITLE

Two of the best teams ever to reach the finals of the C. Y. O. baseball league will be in action Sunday at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue, when St. Stanislaus B. and M. and St. Hyacinth clash to determine the 1936 C. Y. O. title.

Both St. Stanislaus and St. Hyacinth have come through three months of sectional competition undefeated, St. Stanislaus having won 11 straight games and St. Hyacinth 10.

Sunday's defeat of St. Adrian and Good Shepherd marked the first time since the C. Y. O. was organized in 1930 that both champion and runner-up were eliminated from the title running on the same day. This also marks the first year that St. Adrian has failed to reach the finals. In 1932, '33, and '34 the south siders were runners-up, and last year finally won the title from Good Shepherd.

In the softball circuit, competition will come to an end Sunday with the semi-final and final games at Ashland and Wellington. The schedule calls for semi-final games Sunday afternoon with the winners returning in the evening to battle for the 1936 championship. Among the teams that have advanced to the semi-final and final games Sunday are Queen of Angels girls and Blessed Sacrament seniors.

The Card

Harry Thomas vs. Dynamite Jackson [10], heavyweights.
George Dungey vs. Gene Higgins [5], welterweights.
George Dixon II. vs. Harry Booker [5], Lightweights.
Chet Le Vere vs. Ernie Easter [4], light heavyweights.

Harry Thomas, Jackson Will Battle Tonight

Harry Thomas, the Minnesota heavyweight slugger, who is being groomed for a bout with Max Baer here next month, will meet Dynamite Jackson of Los Angeles, Cal., in a ten round match tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Jackson, who has boxed such opponents as Maxie Rosenbloom, Ernie Schaaf, and Ace Hudkins, during a six year campaign, will be making his first Chicago appearance. He defeated Willie Davies, south side fighter, in six rounds at St. Louis Aug. 12 in his latest. He weighs 205 pounds, about ten more than Thomas probably will weigh tonight.

George Dungey, former Bloomington, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves champion, and Gene Higgins, welterweight representative of the Catholic Youth organization, will meet in a return match in the five round semi-final. In a previous meeting between the two the decision was a draw. Another contest at five rounds and three at four sessions round out the program.

ART HARTSFELD TO RACE SUNDAY AT RIVERVIEW

Art Hartsfeld of Toledo, O., former national motorcycle champion, who has registered more than a hundred points this month in the competition for the midget auto outdoor championship at Riverview Speedway, is now regarded as a formidable candidate for seasonal title honors.

Hartsfeld was one of the first to list his entry for the card Sunday night. He gave notice that he will be out to win the 30 lap feature in which he was runner-up to Emil Andres Wednesday evening.

GRACE BARRELL, BROKER'S WIDOW, LEAVES $125,000

Like Amount Bequeathed by J. N. Nusbaum.

The will of Mrs. Grace Witbeck Barrell, widow of Finley Barrell, Chicago broker, was filed for probate yesterday. It disposes of an estate estimated at $125,000. Mrs. Barrell died last Saturday in her apartment at 179 Lake Shore drive. She was 69 years old.

Under the terms of the will all her furniture, personal effects, and the art collection of the widow are left to Mrs. John B. Drake Sr., 1235 Astor street, a friend of Mrs. Barrell for the last 38 years. The will directs, however, that a pastel portrait of the Barrells' only son, John, who was drowned in 1916 at the age of 25, be hung in the main entrance of the Lake Forest Contagious hospital.

The remainder of the estate is to be added to a $1,000,000 trust fund established by Mrs. Barrell in 1929 for the benefit of several charitable and educational institutions. Mr. Barrell died in 1925.

Nusbaum Estate Also $125,000.

The late Jacob N. Nusbaum, principal owner of the Continental Clothing house, Milwaukee and Ashland avenues, left an estate estimated at $125,000, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was admitted to probate. Mr. Nusbaum died July 5 at the age of 66.

His will provides that a sufficient trust be established so that $250 a month may be paid to a brother, Henry, at the Forum sanitarium, Glendale, Cal., and that income from a $50,000 trust be given to a foster daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth N. Liggett. At their deaths the principal is to be divided between two sisters and the two sons of a dead sister.

An inventory of the estate of Henry Dabney Hart, 59 years old, an official of the John M. Hart company, who died Jan. 12 in his home at 508 Lee street, Evanston, listed an estate estimated at $47,000. Mr. Hart left no will and his estate will be shared by two brothers, John M. Hart of New York City and William T. Hart of Kansas City.

Woman Leaves $130,000.

The value of the estate left by Miss Augusta H. Miller, 65 years old, 736 Fullerton avenue, who died July 14, 1935, was estimated at $130,000, according to an inventory filed yesterday in Probate court. Chief beneficiaries under the will are two sisters, Mrs. Emma Hessler and Mrs. Minnie Bogen of Sheboygan, Wis.; a brother, Albert Miller of Oostburg, Wis., and two nieces.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Roads Lead On

TWO LOSE FIGHT TO HAVE QUACK CHARGE DROPPED

Two men accused of practicing medicine without licenses yesterday lost motions to quash the charges against them. Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court here, after overruling the motions, granted jury trials and set them for 10 a. m. on Sept. 10.

The two defendants are "Dr." Moritz H. Fleishman, 60 years old, of 4515 Magnolia avenue, who prescribed for patients at an herb emporium at 1851 West Chicago avenue, and "Prof." John Strahler, 63 years old, who also prescribed herbs. His place of business is at 659 East 47th street. Both men were arrested in a drive begun against medical quacks last week by agents of the state department of registration and education. Both were represented by Attorney Ray Lane.

A motion to quash was filed in behalf of A. L. Ross, an employé of the Natural Health institute, 1869 North Damen avenue. Judge Isley will rule on it today.

STATE OFFICIALS NAMED IN SUIT BY MRS. FERNEL

Mrs. Jean Paul Fernel, 677 North Michigan avenue, wife of a plastic surgeon with offices at that address, filed suit in the Superior court yesterday to enjoin John J. Hallihan, director of the Illinois department of registration and education, and four associates from "further harassing" her. The others named are Stanley Kuflewski, chief inspector for the department, and Dr. Gilbert Fitzpatrick, Dr. Arthur Geigler, and Dr. John R. Neal, members of the department's examining board.

Mrs. Fernel's bill says that license revocation proceedings against her husband are now pending. She charges that last June Kuflewski entered her home and menaced her. On later occasions, the bill says, Kuflewski demanded that she pay him money to drop the case against her husband. The bill charges that Kuflewski works in collusion with "certain other defendants."

"ALL-BRAN KEEPS ME IN SHAPE EVERY DAY"

"When I had eaten a heavy breakfast, I would feel logy. After a couple of days of this, I would have to take a laxative.

"One morning I had a dish of ALL-BRAN. Believe me, it beats any laxative, as it keeps me in shape every day."—William C. Billings, 1330 19th St., Denver, Colorado.

Why put up with half-sick days, when a delicious cereal will make you feel so good? Because ALL-BRAN has "bulk" which absorbs moisture within the body. Then gently sponges out your system, wipes away the listlessness, the "blues," the headaches.

Scientific tests prove this natural food is both safe and effective—worlds better than taking patent medicines. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Take it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MAMA FILES SUIT TO VOID WEDDING OF MARY BELLE

Attorney Mary Belle Spencer filed suit in Superior court yesterday seeking an annulment of the marriage a week ago of her daughter Mary Belle, 16 years old, and J. Edward Wright, 21 years old, of 1181 Isa avenue, Chicago Heights. The couple were married in an elopement to La Porte, Ind.

In her bill Mrs. Spencer alleges the marriage should be voided because her daughter is a minor and not of legal age to marry without the consent of her parents. The bill charges further that young Wright is suffering from tuberculosis and therefore was guilty of perjury when he swore in obtaining the marriage license that he was not afflicted with the disease.

Mrs. Spencer's efforts to annul the marriage came after her husband, Dr. Richard V. Spencer, had urged her to "leave the kids alone." Yesterday Mary Belle and her husband were reported staying at the home of the elder Wrights. Both were quoted as saying they would fight any attempt to annul their marriage.

New York, Aug. 27.—The bond market advanced today, lead by convertible issues which were influenced by the rise in stocks. Trading was more active, although the relatively small volume of $8,893,000, par value, indicated the absence of large scale buying.

The federal list was uneven, but gains exceeded declines and four issues set new all-time high records. Gains ranged from 1-32 to 4-32 point. Trading was only $308,900, against $773,700 on Wednesday.

High Grade Issues Firm.

High grade corporate bonds were picked up in small amounts wherever they were found available, most of them selling fractionally higher. Small gains were recorded by American Telephone collateral 5s, Santa Fe general 4s, Consumers Power 3½s of 1965, Pennsylvania Consolidated 4½s, Union Pacific 4s of 1968, and Virginia 3¾s.

Gains of a point or more were recorded in Colorado Industrial 5s, Hudson and Manhattan 5s of both issues, Lehigh Valley general mortgage bonds of three series, Marion Steam Shovel 6s, Ontario and Western 4s of both issues, New York Trap Rock 6s, and Studebaker 6s.

Rail News Favorable.

Little news of market influence was available, except that concerning railroads. The excellent showing made by some of the lines in July brought good sized buying orders in low priced issues.

Most foreign bonds showed little change.

Kroger Grocery and Baking.

Investors' Guide: Kindly advise me as to rating—as an investment for a woman—of Kroger's Grocery common.—E. S.

Answer: Kroger Grocery and Baking company is one of the three largest chain grocery and meat market organizations in the United States, operating about 4,230 stores, the greater part of which are north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi.

While net sales in 1935 at $229,908,000 were higher than in 1934, profit declined to $3,636,000. The rise in sales was largely attributed to increased prices, while higher expenses and taxes reduced the profit.

For the thirty-two weeks of the company's current fiscal year, ended Aug. 8, 1936, sales amounted to $145,122,000, an increase of 2 per cent over the $142,145,264 in the corresponding 1935 period. For the four weeks ended Aug. 8, 1936, sales totaled $18,914,000, an increase of 13.6 per cent over the volume for the like 1935 period. In the preceding four week period the gain over 1935 was 8.9 per cent.

1935.....	$229,907,000	$3,636,000	$1.99
1934.....	221,175,000	4,198,000	2.29
1933.....	205,692,000	4,646,000	2.51
1932.....	213,160,000	2,682,000	1.48

Inc. per

Current position continues strong, current assets as of June 13, 1936, being about 4½ times current liabilities.

There is no funded debt. Preferred shares total only $104,100. There are outstanding 1,830,885 shares of no par common stock. The common currently pays 40 cents a quarter. Dividends in 1935 totaled $1.60 a share.

The company has a good earnings record and its trade position is secure. However, higher operating costs and taxes have cut into its profit making ability. An adverse situation is the chain store tax agitation. Because it has the most stores in the state, the company was the hardest hit of any chain by the Kentucky chain store tax.

Rutland Canadian R. R. 4s.

Investors' Guide: Please mail your opinion and whatever information you may have concerning Rutland Canadian Railroad first 4s of 1949. G. C. S.

Answer: The bonds are rated as speculative. While the Rutland railroad paid its bond interest on July 1, the president said recently it was doubtful whether the road would be able to accumulate sufficient funds to make future payments.

RAILS SERVING CHICAGO SHOW BIG INCOME GAIN

Fare Cut and Pickup Service Aid.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Sharply increased incomes were reported yesterday by a number of railroads serving Chicago, including the North Western, Baltimore and Ohio, and Soo Line. The detailed earnings reports of the Baltimore and Ohio and the New York Central indicated the part which reduced passenger fares have played in boosting passenger revenues and the Illinois Central system disclosed how the pickup and delivery service, put into effect by the western roads last January, has helped its freight business.

The North Western reported that its July net operating income was $605,497, whereas in July, 1935, it had a deficit of $465,887. The road's improvement in business paralleled the gains reported by other railroads serving the northwestern part of the nation.

Month's Gain 2 Millions.

Total operating revenues of the railroad for July were $8,640,566, compared with $6,521,403 in July, 1935, an increase of $2,119,163. A considerable part of the increased revenues was disbursed to meet increased costs resulting from the heavier volume of business and the sums expended on maintenance of way and on equipment were increased.

For the first seven months of this year the road had a net operating deficit of $964,971 compared with a deficit of $190,614 in the like period of last year. Gross operating revenues totaled $5,491,821, compared with $41,890,274.

Net operating income of the Baltimore and Ohio for July was $2,513,625 compared with $1,258,469, a year ago, an increase of $1,255,156. Total operating revenues were $14,535,536 against $10,771,406. For the first seven months of this year the Baltimore and Ohio had a net operating income of $14,627,880 compared with $12,405,522 in the like period of last year. Total operating revenues were $94,001,562 compared with $79,752,368.

Burlington Earns More.

Net operating income of the Burlington for July was more than four times that of July, 1935, or $1,935,570 against $438,671. The road had a net profit of $1,253,072 for the month after all charges, as compared with a loss of $228,743 in July last year. July's profit wiped out a loss for the first half of the year, leaving a profit of $310,878 for the first seven months, equal to 18 cents a share. In the corresponding 1935 period the Burlington had a deficit of $3,771,135, which was largely attributed to heavy expenses as a result of floods.

The Soo Line had a July net operating income of $310,236, compared with $171,743 in July, 1935.

Passenger Revenues Rise.

The New York Central was one of the principal eastern roads which opposed passenger fare reductions, but the Baltimore and Ohio favored the change. In July, the second month in which the lower fares were in effect, the New York Central passenger revenues totaled $5,494,166, compared with $4,528,010 in July, 1935, an increase of 21.1 per cent. For the first seven months of this year passenger revenues amounted to $35,090,232, a gain of 12.7 per cent over the $31,126,996 reported for the like period of last year.

The Baltimore and Ohio's July passenger revenues totaled $1,075,819, as compared with $875,957 in July, 1935, a gain of $199,862, or 22.7 per cent. In the first seven months of this year they totaled $6,311,647, compared with $5,581,942, an increase of $729,705, or 13 per cent.

The Illinois Central reported a steady improvement in its revenues from less than carload freight ever since it put its pickup and delivery service into effect. It was in this branch of freight service that competition of trucks was most keenly felt.

Reports Steady Increase.

From Jan. 20, when the service was started, to July 31 242,537 tons of less than carload freight were handled on the Illinois Central system, compared with 192,820 tons in the same period of 1935, an increase of 26.3 per cent. The business in this department has increased steadily. The total was 77,748 tons, compared with 54,896 a year ago, a gain of 41.6 per cent.

In the Chicago area the increase over last July was 28.3 per cent, while the increase from Jan. 20 to July 31 over the like period of last year was 22.6 per cent.

More Dividend Boosts Made; Extras Voted

Directors of Abbott Laboratories, pharmaceutical manufacturers with headquarters in Chicago, yesterday declared an increased cash dividend and released the earnings statement for the first six months of this year, which showed a 30 per cent increase in net profits compared with the six month period in 1935.

With the declaration of a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents, the stock is now placed on a $1.20 annual basis. In addition, an extra of 15 cents was declared. Both are payable Sept. 28 to stockholders of record Sept. 15. The stock of the company was recently boosted from 200,000 shares to 1,000,000, with 600,000 shares outstanding. Stockholders received two additional shares for each share held.

Return Boosted 20 Per Cent.

The new $1.20 annual rate represents a proportional increase of 20 per cent over the former annual rate of $3 a share, or 75 cents quarterly, on the 200,000 shares.

Net earnings for the first six months of this year were $677,570 before profits realized on securities, provision for surtax on undistributed profits but after depreciation, interest, and federal taxes. This is equal to $1.13 a share on the 600,000 shares now outstanding. For the comparable period a year ago net earnings amounted to $524,066, or 87 cents a share.

The Mesta Machine company boosted its dividend on the common stock to $1.50, which is double the payment in the preceding quarter. The disbursement is payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 16.

Boost by Commercial Credit.

The Commercial Credit company of Baltimore boosted the rate on the common stock, ordered an extra and declared a stock dividend of 20 per cent on the common stock. The annual rate on the common was boosted from $3 to $4 when a regular quarterly payment of $1 was authorized. The special disbursement is 25 cents a share.

In addition, the directors authorized the regular quarterly payment of $1.06¼ per share on the 4¼ per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock. All dividends are payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Sept. 10.

Stockholders at a special meeting on Wednesday approved an amendment to the certificate of incorporation increasing the authorized shares to 3,000,000 which will enable the payment of the stock dividend.

Houdaille-Hershey Pays Extra.

The Houdaille-Hershey corporation declared an extra dividend of 62½ cents and a regular quarterly payment of 37½ cents a share on the class B stock. Directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the class A no par value stock. All three dividends are payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 19.

Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia will receive approximately $123,000 on Oct. 1 from its subsidiary, Midvale company of Nicetown, Pa., because of a boost in the latter's dividend rate to $1 a common share, which was declared yesterday. In the two previous quarters 50 cents was paid. About 38 per cent of the Midvale stock is outstanding publicly.

Budd Wheel Dividends.

The regularly quarterly dividend of $1.75 and a participating dividend of 25 cents were declared by the Budd Wheel company on the 7 per cent participating preferred stock, both payable Sept. 30 to holders of record Sept. 16. The issue is entitled to $8 per share annually when the company earns more than $600,000 in the preceding year.

Maryland Fund, Inc., a limited management investment trust, declared an extra dividend of 2½ cents and a quarterly of 5 cents, both payable Sept. 15 to holders of record Aug. 31. The Republic Steel declared a dividend of $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent cumulative convertible prior preference stock, series A, payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 12.

The Ward Baking corporation voted a dividend of $1.75 on account of accumulations on the 7 per cent preferred stock, payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 14.

Directors of the U. S. Industrial Alcohol company omitted the common stock dividend because of "unsatisfactory" profit margins.

Otterson, its former president, in the termination of his five-year contract with the company. The settlement provides for the payment to Otterson of $200,000 in instalments. After serving one year as president at a salary of $150,000, Otterson was succeeded in July by Barney Balaban of Chicago.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Directors of the California Fruit Growers exchange yesterday voted to increase the orange advertising budget by 2 cents a box. Newspaper advertising will lead in the promotion. The appropriation raises the total budget to about $650,000, and the appropriation per box to 7 cents. The campaign will begin in November.

STEEL WAGE BOOST NOT POSSIBLE NOW, COMPANIES DECIDE

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Several of the leading steel companies have individually decided not to increase wages at this time. The decision is expected to be followed by the entire steel industry, giving assurance that there will not be a general increase in the wages of the 500,000 steel workers at least until Jan. 1, according to steel executives.

The National Steel corporation, with 23,000 employés, after extended discussions, has notified them that it is not able to increase wages at present, according to Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board. Executives of other steel companies said that there would be no change in the wage situation for several months at least, despite recent rumors from steel centers that a rise was imminent.

The dominant factor in this decision, steel men said, was the belief that after five and one-half years of subnormal operations, the industry was not in a financial condition to warant higher wages, unless prices of steel products are raised at the same time. It was the consensus that higher prices might check the active demand for steel, which has gradually brought operations of the industry to 73 per cent of capacity, the highest level in more than six years.

STRIKE-BOUND COMPANY FIRM ON MOVING PLANT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 27.—(AP)—James Dewey, United States department of labor conciliator, said today the Standard Steel Spring company is determined to liquidate its two plants at nearby Coraopolis.

Dewey said the company assured him its decision was final and he added "there was accordingly nothing to talk about." Company officials closed both plants ten days ago after pickets and employés exchanged rocks and tear gas bombs.

R. C. Enos, named by the board to liquidate the plants, previously announced some equipment was being moved but that the factories, where 750 men were employed, were not being dismantled. He said the plants might be moved to Racine, Wis., or Toledo, O.

BANK CLEARINGS DIP, DUE TO LOSS AT NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in the week ended Wednesday aggregated $4,524,896,000 in twenty-two leading cities, a decline of 0.6 per cent from the corresponding week of last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The total was regarded evidence of a continuation of expanding business because the corresponding week of 1935 showed a seasonal decline of 2 per cent.

Except for New York City, clearings showed a big gain. Chicago clearings, for example, were $267,900,000, or 22.8 per cent above the corresponding week of last year. Clearings at New York City were $2,708,741,000, off 9.5 per cent. The aggregate of clearings at outside centers was $1,816,155,000, up 16.4 per cent.

Leavell Home Sold; Patten's Put on Market

BY AL CHASE.

Two large north shore properties—one, the James A. Patten residence, for years a show place of Evanston, and the other the Lake Forest residence of a Chicago bank president—figured in yesterday's real estate news.

James R. Leavell, president of the Continental National Bank and Trust company, sold his residence at the southwest corner of Maplewood road and Maple court, Lake Forest, to Edward F. Swift Jr., vice president of the same bank. The price was not disclosed, but it was learned that Leavell had asked $75,000 for the house which he built about ten years ago.

J. R. LEAVELL. [Sione-Raymor Photo.]

J. A. PATTEN.

The Leavell home has a frontage of 300 feet on Maplewood and 500 feet on Maple court. The brick and frame building is of old English design. Leavell declined to discuss the transaction. Mr. and Mrs. Swift are in Colorado.

Patten Home on Market.

It was disclosed yesterday that the old solid stone mansion erected by the late James A. Patten at 1426 Ridge avenue, Evanston, in 1903, at an estimated cost of half a million dollars, has been placed on the market by Northwestern university at approximately $75,000.

According to Harry L. Wells, business manager for Northwestern university, Mrs. Patten, who died in 1935, left the residence to her children, John L. Patten and Mrs. Agnes Patten Wilder of Santa Barbara, Cal., who last year gave it to the university. They stipulated that it be used as a memorial to their mother.

A plan to convert it into a club for faculty members was barred by the zoning ordinance which prohibits the use of the projerty for anything except single family dwellings. If sold the proceeds will be used to establish scholarships for women at Northwestern as a memorial to Mrs. Patten.

Original Cost High.

According to George S. Dalgety of W. G. Ruggles & Co., for many years assistant business manager of the university, and to whom the property has been turned over for disposal, the massive 800 foot wrought iron fence surrounding the Patten grounds on three sides originally cost nearly as much as the asked price for the house and land.

The 22 room house has eight baths and fifteen fireplaces, and a large ball room. In addition there is a ten car garage with an apartment above. The late Philip Maher was architect. The property fronts 225 feet on Ridge, 375 feet on Lake street, and 227 on Asbury avenue.

U. S. BORROWING DECLARED BLOW TO INSURANCE

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A resolution asserting that federal borrowings have "depressed interest earning rates" and "cannot fail to inflict hardships on all life insurance organizations" was adopted by the National Fraternal congress at the last session of its annual convention here today.

The resolution suggested that steps be taken "by the proper authorities of the federal government to prevent an increase in the cost of this vital feature of family protection."

The 300 delegates also adopted a resolution authorizing the president of the congress to seek immunity from federal and state taxation under the social security act for the nonprofit member organizations in the insurance business. The congress voted to create a campaign committee to oppose attempts by states to tax fraternal organizations.

WHEAT FIRMER; CANADA TO KEEP OLD PRICE 'PEG'

Corn Closes Lower After Early Rise.

Wheat developed independent strength yesterday, due largely to reports that the Canadian wheat board had under consideration a proposal to increase the government guaranteed minimum price for this year's harvest.

Prices in Chicago were fractionally higher. Winnipeg and Minneapolis gained a cent. Liverpool closed about steady.

However, after the close of the markets the Canadian cabinet council approved a recommendation of the wheat board to fix the minimum price for the 1936-'37 wheat crop at 87½ cents a bushel. The regulation would be conditional, however, upon the closing market level dropping below 90 cents. The current market level is about 10 cents per bushel above the minimum price.

Same "Pegged" Price Retained.

The price is the same as the minimum fixed by the former government soon after the wheat board came into existence late last summer. It guarantees the producer who sells to the board a minimum of 87½ cents a bushel, with a share in any profits arising if the board disposes of the wheat at a better price.

In his announcement the prime minister said the recommendation was approved only to the extent that it becomes automatically effective whenever the closing market price of No. 1 northern wheat at Fort William drops below 90 cents. A drop below 90 cents during the day's trading would not affect the situation if the market improved to a point above that level at closing.

Corn Loses Early Gains.

Corn was slightly firmer early but weakened later on commission house selling. The September delivery closed 1½ cent lower and new crop months were off major fractions. Little change was shown in oats, while rye advanced as much as 1¼ cents.

With the exception of the possibility of the Canadian wheat board acceding to the request of the wheat pools in the three prairie provinces for a higher price for this year's crop, there was little in the general run of the news to affect the market.

The upturn in futures was taken advantage of by holders of contracts to secure profits on previous purchases. In the aggregate the trade was light. Export demand for Canadian cash wheat was limited, which was regarded as due largely to favorable weather for harvesting the new European crop.

Prices on September Deliveries.

	Yesterday.	Wed.	Wk. ago.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$1.12	$1.10¼	$1.13¼	$1.10½
Corn	1.10½	1.12	1.14⅝	.98
Oats	.43	.42⅝	.44	.40⅝
Rye	.84½	.83	.84½	.78½

Further liberal rains were reported in parts of the Illinois and Iowa corn belt yesterday and numerous messages were received from the sections which have been favored with moisture indicating the outlook for the new crop shows improvement.

Reports of offers of Argentine corn much below prices prevailing for the cash article in Chicago and other markets had a tendency to weaken the September delivery, which closed at a discount of 1½ cents per bushel under September wheat.

Houses with seaboard connections were reported to have sold December corn, which some observers regarded as hedging against Argentine grain. Domestic shipping demand was slow, with only 15,000 bushels reported to have been sold from Chicago.

MRS. E. H. MILLER, EXPERT ON CROPS, CHANGES FIRMS

Mrs. E. H. Miller, the only woman crop expert in the United States, has resigned from James E. Bennett & Co. to join Shields & Co., it became known yesterday. She has been with the Bennett company since 1926.

Mrs. Miller, who was born in southern Illinois, had her first experience in crop estimating when she was connected with the National Cotton Ginners' association in Memphis. Later she went into business for herself.

After Mrs. Miller became associated with the Bennett company she made a national reputation for the accuracy of her estimates and reports on all types of crops, including cotton. In reporting on crops she has traveled all over the country. Between trips she has time to maintain a home for her husband and small son.

Gen. Motors Will Build 5½ Million Plant

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—General Motors corporation announced today it would build a plant for the assembly of Buick, Oldsmobile, and Pontiac passenger cars for delivery to the east coast and to overseas territories at Linden, N. J. The plant, when fully equipped for maximum operation, will represent an outlay of approximately $5,575,000. Construction will start immediately with completion scheduled during December.

Eighty acres of ground on the Lincoln highway have been acquired as the site for the new structures, which will be one of the largest automobile assembly plants in the world. It will have a normal capacity of 120,000 cars a year. Two-thirds of the production is scheduled for domestic delivery and one-third for export. Approximately 2,000 persons will be employed when the plant is operating at capacity.

Will Have Four Buildings.

The plant will include four buildings and an oval test field nearly half a mile in circumference. The buildings include the main factory, an office building, a loading dock, and a power house. The main factory will be 680 feet wide and 1,080 feet long, part one-story and part two stories. Total floor space in this building will be 867,200 square feet. Complete body as well as chassis assembly operations will be housed in it.

The office building will have two stories and a basement, 45 by 200 feet. The loading dock will be 450 by 50, and the power house 125 by 100. Construction throughout will be fireproof. Steel, brick, and glass will be the principal materials. Adequate parking lots for cars of employés and visitors will be provided at both sides of the plant.

W. S. Roberts to Be Manager.

W. S. Roberts of Detroit will be general manager of the new division. Albert Kahn of Detroit is the architect.

Establishment of the Linden plant marks the second step in the decentralization of production of Buick, Oldsmobile, and Pontiac automobiles by General Motors this year. The first move was the opening in May of the plant of the new southern California division at Los Angeles, to serve the west coast. Prior to the establishment of the California plant the cars had been assembled only at plants in Michigan.

The present move is in line with the policy of decentralization of industry wherever economically practical as advocated by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, in recent public utterances.

DELAY WINDFALL TAX RETURN DATE THREE MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The treasury department today announced a three months extention on the filing of returns on the so-called "windfall" tax of the 1936 revenue act. The tax imposes an 80 per cent levy on the processing taxes which were restored to the processors after the Supreme court invalidated the AAA.

The deadline date was extended from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15. The extension applies on taxes for the year ending Aug. 21, 1936. The total of processing restored by the Supreme court of which the New Deal hopes to recover 80 per cent is 82 million dollars.

FEDERAL CHIEFS DISAGREE OVER SEED CORN LOANS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Administration officials were called into secret conferences today to settle serious differences of opinion over operation of the government's proposed $10,000,000 seed corn program.

There was a possibility, informed sources said, that the seed loans, designed to offset drouth shortage, might be shelved in favor of a straight commodity loan on corn sealed in farm bins regardless of grade. This would follow the program of the last three years.

GEN. C. G. DAWES OPTIMISTIC ON TRADE OUTLOOK

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust company and former Republican Vice President of the United States, yesterday observed his 71st birthday anniversary with a private luncheon party for a few friends in the bank's dining room.

Dawes said that he was optimistic about the outlook for business, particularly the steel industry, and cited current reports telling of the increasing difficulty encountered by steel finishing mills in meeting demand for goods as bearing out his recent prediction that steel plants would be operating at capacity by Jan. 1.

NEW ZEALAND SETS MINIMUM PRODUCE PRICES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A government guaranteed minimum price to producers of butter and cheese in New Zealand was reported today by the agricultural department. Since Aug. 1 under the new primary products act, the government becomes owner of all butter and cheese produced in New Zealand, it was said, with control of sales there and in foreign markets.

Any profits above minimum prices will go to producers with the state paying any losses, a cable from the American consul general at Wellington reported. The program was said to be aimed at stopping "speculation in New Zealand butter and cheese in British markets" and to control shipments.

New Zealand leads the world in exporting cheese and is second only to Denmark in butter exports. The minimum price for first grade creamery butter was reported to be 21.2 cents a pound.

CAPITAL CHANGE OF CHICAGO MILL TIMBER IS VOTED

Stockholders of Chicago Mill Timber corporation yesterday approved the recapitalization plan and merger with the operating subsidiary, the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, which name the new corporation will assume. Officials reported that the company earned more than $300,000, or more than $10 a share, during the first seven months of this year.

Three classes of stock will be issued by the new company. Holders of present parent company class A stock will receive new "A" stock on a share-for-share basis. Class B stock will be reserved for subscription and class C stock will be issued to minority interests.

Directors are scheduled to meet Sept. 9 to take action on dividends. Previously, R. I. McClelland, president, said the board intended to declare payments of $1 a share on the "A" and "C" stock after the plan is effected.

BUILDING STEEL ORDERS LARGEST SINCE DEPRESSION

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—New business booked by the steel construction industry during July was the heaviest for any month since the beginning of the depression, the American Institute of Steel Construction estimated today.

Estimated new business for the industry in July totaled 188,053 tons and represented 80.4 per cent of normal demand, normal being the average for the years 1928-'31, inclusive. This compares with 128,530 tons in June and 65,957 in July, 1935. For the seven months ended July 31, bookings totaled 938,724 tons, or 57.3 per cent of normal, and compared with 584,947 a year ago.

July shipments of fabricated structural steel were placed at 147,824 tons, against 150,790 in June and 100,758 in July, 1935, and represented 63.2 per cent of normal.

STOCKS BOUND ON LANDON'S BLOW AT TAXES

Volume Rises Above Million Shares.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—Stock market operators echoed Gov. Alf M. Landon's slashing attack on the fiscal policies of the New Deal today with a buying spree that lifted the list out of its depression and carried leading issues 1 to 3 points and more above the previous close. Unlike its gyrations of the immediately preceding sessions, the list practically put in five hours of unbroken strength, with the best prices of the day being registered in the final hour.

Reflecting traders' and investors' agreement with the Republican nominee's views on the surplus tax measure of the Roosevelt régime, volume of trading picked up on the advance and for the first time in over a week the turnover rose above the million share mark, amounting to approximately 1,336,000 shares.

Other News More Cheerful.

Another development that made for better sentiment in the financial district, in the opinion of observers, appeared in the shape of soviet denials that Dictator Stalin had delivered any "warlike" utterances to the Red army, reports of which hastened yesterday's decline.

In addition, the tide of business news continued to sweep along in favor of the constructive element and a long string of favorable dividend announcements were exposed to the view of the bullish contingent.

Steel shares were again in the van as they erased losses of the preceding session and then went on to higher levels. New buying was stimulated as financial circles revealed an indisposition to give much consideration to talk of wage increases in the wake of statements from executives that they knew of no such move.

Higher Steel Prices Rumored.

Rumors of possible higher prices for steel and the high operating rate of the industry also were said to have contributed to the better sentiment.

Bethlehem set the pace for the group, moving along on a wave of popularity to reach a new high price of 67 on an advance of 3¼ points. United States Steel also found a good following and rang up a profit of 2½ points. Crucible, Republic, and Youngstown each gained at least 2 points.

Bullish forecasts by the department of commerce on the volume of August sales and plans for plant expansion received credit for leading the automobile shares out of the shadows in which they had been cooling off for quite a while. Chrysler spurted 3½ points in a more active market and General Motors netted a gain just short of 2 points. Studebaker also was active.

Railway Shares Steam Ahead.

Gains of 1 to 3 points took place in the carrier section, with Atchison steaming ahead 3½ points, New York Central, Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, and Union Pacific were bid up in excellent fashion. Renewed strength in the rails came with reports of good July earnings.

Case Threshing accounted for the largest advance in the list—9 points—closely followed by a runup of 6½ in Westinghouse Electric and a leap of 5¼ in Allied Chemical. Other exceptionally strong spots in the list were found in Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, United Carbon, Eastman Kodak, Spiegel-May-Stern, Mesta Machine, Air Reduction, Sears-Roebuck, American Bank Note, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, Deere, and Ward Baking preferred.

Sugar, utility, oil, and metal shares moved along with the trend. U. S. Industrial Alcohol struck a sour note, breaking 3½ points on omission of the dividend. Other liquor shares were strong on talk of higher prices.

URGE U. S. COURT END DELAY ON TRACTION PLAN

Abbott Group Cites Ample Cash for New System.

Pointing out that nearly 30 million dollars in cash would be available for new street cars and rehabilitation of the present system during the first year's operation of the Chicago Surface Lines, Inc., under the proposed Abbott plan of reorganization, proponents of the plan asked immediate action in a brief filed in the federal district court here yesterday.

The brief was filed in reply to the city's plea for further delay in approving the plan on the grounds that no specific arrangements are included therein for necessary extensions and improvements, with no fund set aside for that purpose. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has had the case under advisement.

Sees 30 Millions Available.

The reply, filed by Attorney Henry F. Tenney, counsel for the Harris Trust and Savings bank, trustee for the first mortgage bondholders, in cooperation with other attorneys representing security holders, says that already about 20 million dollars is available for such purposes from renewal and depreciation funds of the present companies.

It also points out that general cash in excess of working capital requirements, according to the Abbott plan, may be used for extensions and betterments, estimating the new company will have 5 million dollars of such general cash. In addition, the brief says, over a ten year period the Chicago Surface Lines accrued for renewals and depreciation an average of $4,416,991 a year, and it is contemplated the new company will make similar accruals from earnings.

Holds Provisions Adequate.

"The Abbott plan makes adequate provision for additions and extensions, and is sufficiently flexible to be adjusted to the acquisition of other properties when such contingencies occur," the brief says. "It would be impossible to comply further with the requirements set forth.

"Even the corporation counsel and special assistant corporation counsel have not ventured to make a forecast. Such a suggestion serves only to delay further the approval of a plan of reorganization of properties which have been in the custody of the court for almost ten years.

"It is further contended that the Abbott plan forecloses the new company from negotiating freely with the city for a franchise. As a matter of fact, the Abbott plan creates a single corporate entity with a simple capital structure and a centralized authority prepared to carry on franchise negotiations with maximum efficiency. Therefore, action on the Abbott plan should not be delayed."

Rains Help Illinois Pass Iowa as Chief Corn State

Continued rains over the greater part of the Illinois commercial corn producing area are regarded by Chicago crop experts as having definitly determined that the state this season will outrank Iowa as the premier producer of corn for the first time since 1917.

A report received yesterday by James E. Bennett & Co. from their Illinois traveling representative, who has just completed a crop inspection trip over the eastern half of the state, said local showers and some good rains have been of material benefit, and 60 to 65 per cent of a normal crop may be expected.

Soy beans have made good progress and now give promise of a normal or nearly normal yield. In 1935 Illinois was estimated to have harvested 21,834,000 bushels of soy beans out of a total of 39,637,000 bushels for the entire country.

A summary of reports from the Bennett company's Iowa offices stated the corn crop was too far along to make any material improvement and rains had merely prevented further deterioration.

Preliminary threshing returns from the three western Canadian provinces to the Winnipeg Market News, a recognized authority, indicates a yield of 227,000,000 bushels this season, compared with the revised returns of 272,106,000 bushels in 1935. Much to the surprise of the trade the crop in Manitoba exceeds that of the previous season. Indicated production compares as follows:

Saskatchewan	131,000,000	146,020,000
Alberta	74,000,000	100,336,000

Harvesting of the new wheat crop in Europe yesterday was reported to be making rapid progress. Threshing returns are showing disappointing yields in numerous countries. The German wheat crop this year is reported to be below expectations, owing to wet weather in July and August, and a food shortage is feared. The Danubian and Balkan countries have made liberal sales of cash wheat for shipment to both Germany and Italy within the last 10 days.

A maximum corn crop of 1,250,000,000 bushels for the United States this season is estimated by the Cargill Grain company, with the amount of corn secured as grain probably the smallest on record.

Argentine corn was quoted at New York on Wednesday at equal to 91⅛ to 94¾ cents per bushel, duty of 25 cents paid, for September to December shipment. The prices represented offerings for delivery at Montreal, Atlantic Gulf, and Pacific coast ports.

DELAY HEARING ON STOCKYARDS RATES TO MONDAY

Agreement Sought on Property Values.

The hearing instituted by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace on rates charged by the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, which was to have reconvened yesterday, was further postponed until 10 a. m., next Monday, in room 358 of the federal building.

Guy A. Gladson, counsel for the company, which operates 560 acres of stock yard properties for the convenience of the Chicago live stock market, yesterday said both the company and representatives of the department of agriculture seek to agree where possible on points of fact pertaining to valuation and other matters.

Hold Conferences on Valuation.

"We have been having a series of conferences," Gladson said. "The government won't budge from the valuation figures drawn up by its engineers."

Two sets of engineers and auditors, one for the company and the other for the department of agriculture, have been working for months on exhibits designed to establish a "reasonable" rate of return on the company's feed, yardage, and other services.

A reduction of approximately 20 per cent recently was effected in the schedule of rates charged by commission firms on the Chicago market. Stock yard companies at western terminals have observers on the scene here.

Company Faces Another Inquiry.

In addition to the current investigation under the amended packers and stockyards act, the company is faced with the possibility that the interstate commerce commission, which last December ruled the company is "a common carrier" and subject to its jurisdiction, might initiate its own proceedings.

"Our petition for a rehearing was denied," Gladson said yesterday. "So far the commission has kept rather quiet."

SURVEYS SHOW JOB INCREASES, LARGER SALES

July Industrial Output Remains Steady.

Surveys of July business and industry issued yesterday by various agencies, disclosed increased employment in Illinois, higher store sales in Chicago, a steady level of national industrial production, and larger output by packing houses.

Employment in Illinois in July showed an increase of 9.7 per cent over July, 1935, while the total of wages paid increased 16.5 per cent over the total of July, 1935, according to a report issued yesterday by the Illinois department of labor. Compared with June of this year employment in Illinois showed an increase of 0.3 per cent over June, while July wage payments declined 0.9 per cent from June.

For Chicago alone, the industrial groups which reported gains in both employment and total wages paid were: metals and machinery; lether and related goods; paper goods, printing and publishing; textiles and their products; foods, beverage and tobacco; services and miscellaneous nonmanufacturing.

Store Sales Above 1935.

July retail sales of 365 independent Chicago stores showed an increase of 17 per cent in dollar volume compared with the corresponding month last year, according to preliminary estimates by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the United States department of commerce.

This increase was slightly less than that for the state as a whole. Illinois sales increased 18 per cent in July as compared with the same month of 1935. The bureau's report, which covers the larger independent stores of the city, represents twenty-one kinds of business.

Without adjustment for seasonal influences, July sales showed a decline of 10 per cent from June and both months contained the same number of working days, according to the bureau.

The bureau said that the largest increases in sales over a year ago were those of about 48 per cent for furniture stores and about 41 per cent for jewelry stores.

Industry Level Steady.

Contrary to the usual decline in July, industrial production was maintained at the level of the three preceding months while factory pay rolls increased, the federal reserve board announced. Commodity prices continued to advance and money rates remained at extremely low levels.

The report showed that the output of steel continued at about the June rate, although a sharp decrease is usual. Automobile production declined by less than the usual amount. The output of nondurable products was larger in July than in June, reflecting chiefly a sharp rise in activity at cotton mills and larger than seasonal increases in production at shoe factories, silk mills, and flour mills.

"Retail trade was sustained in July at a higher level than is usual in that month," the board said. "The board's adjusted index of department store sales, which allows for a considerable seasonal decline, increased from 88 per cent of the 1923-'25 average in June to 91 per cent in July, and mail order and variety store sales also showed smaller decreases than are usual for the season. Freight car loadings increased in July."

Packer Output Climbs.

Production of packing house commodities in the United States during July showed a contra-seasonal increase of 4 per cent over June and rose 37½ per cent above a year ago and 2½ per cent above the 1926-'35 average for the month, the Chicago Federal Reserve bank announced.

This sharp increase in packing house activity reflected the heavy shipment of live stock by producers avoiding the high costs of feeding brought on by the drouth.

The tonnage sold in July was slightly under current production, but exceeded that of last July by 19 per cent and nearly equaled the ten year average sales for the month.

Prices in general were slightly higher than in June, despite a decline in quotations for veal, lamb, low grade beef, and a few pork cuts.

SLOAN AGAIN WARNS FEDERAL SPENDING MUST BE REDUCED

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors corporation, returned from a short vacation in Europe today, repeating the note of alarm expressed earlier this month in his report to the company's stockholders in which he said that a grave future faced the country unless government spending were curtailed.

While he predicted that General Motors may reach an all-time production peak and turn out 2,000,000 units this year, and that the upward trend of business would continue into 1937, he said that "looking forward from there the future depends on how we manage our affairs." He said the national government could no more expect to "spend more than it makes" than a private concern could safely do so.

Sloan said that this year the countries outside the United States would produce more automobiles than ever before. The United States production figures will be approximately 85 per cent of those of 1929, he said.

Judge Graber Wars on 'Unfit' Autos

"I am going to do all I can to rid the streets of these old cars that should be junked. None of them can pass a safety test. They constitute a real menace." Judge Graber.

In order to assist Judge Graber and Mayor Kelly in their effort to "Make Chicago Safe," we will allow $100 on a 1936 Chevrolet (used), or $25 on a "Safety Lane Tested and Inspected" used car for any of these unfit cars, and will promptly junk them. This until further notice.
